

LET CONTRACT FOR HIGHWAY

At the meeting of the North Bend city council this week the final steps were taken for the completion of the water front roadway to connect the business districts of North Bend and Marshfield. The North Bend city council awarded the contract to J. G. Horn for the construction of the roadway from the Simpson property to connect with the county road section of the thoroughfare. The contract price is $15,642.30 and Mr. Horn is allowed four months in which to complete it.

The other link in the highway is through the Coos Bay Gas and Electric company's property and through the Simpson Lumber company's property. L. J. Simpson and Manager Jennings have both expressed themselves as willing to build their section of the road just as soon as the city of North Bend would build its part, so it is expected that they will get busy at once and not later than next spring will the thoroughfare be open to traffic.

The contract for improving Montana from Broadway to Maple, a distance of three blocks, which includes 225 feet of trestle, was awarded to C. J. Van Zile for $725.25. Anderson Brothers bid $1168 and C. R. Flanagan $943.63 on the work. It is to be completed in ninety days.

At the next meeting of the North Bend council the question of accepting the improvement of Sherman avenue will come up.

City Recorder Derbyshire was instructed to ask for bids to be opened at the next meeting of the council for the following work:

Grading McPherson street from Washington to a point 100 feet south of the center of Lincoln Square.

Grading Monroe street from Washington to California.

Grading Virginia street from Pendleton to Jackson.

Grading Sheridan street from California to Virginia.

An ordinance designating the business streets was also enacted. The object of this was to determine which streets should be paved or planked the full width and which should have the sidewalks. On the residence streets, parking will be followed, narrow sidewalks and narrow planking or paving being put in.

The sale of the improvement bonds on Sherman avenue was authorized.

Virginia avenue was ordered planked from Sherman avenue to Pony Slough at an estimated cost of $5000. The contract will be let for the work at the first meeting of the council in November.

City Attorney Mullen was instructed to take steps to force the collection of all assessments for street improvements.

MUST SUPPORT TEN CHILDREN

Judge Coke Requires This of Guilty Man in Suspending Sentence.

Judge John S. Coke of this city, who is presiding in the circuit court at Roseburg, showed an inclination to give a light sentence to a man who appeared before him and pleaded guilty, and who had a wife and ten children dependent on him for support. Instead of sending the man to jail the judge suspended sentence during good behavior and as long as the man looked after his family. The proceedings in the circuit court there are told in the following press telegram.

Thomas Hart of Wilbur pleaded guilty in the circuit court here to the charge of having held a loaded rifle within two inches of his wife's head in an effort to force her to deed away a certain tract of land to which she claims title. Hart was arraigned immediately following his indictment by the grand jury.

Judge Coke suspended sentence pending Hart's future good behavior and his promise to abstain from the use of liquor and to provide for the support of his wife and ten children. The assault was committed while Hart was intoxicated.

The grand jury for Douglas county made its final report late tonight, and was excused for the term. Besides the indictment against Hart, four true bills were returned. They are: Samuel Smith, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon; S. M. Reynolds, colored, statutory offense; Ralph Casey and Chick Wright, larceny; Max Weiss, selling intoxicating liquors to a minor, and also with allowing a minor to frequent a resort where intoxicants are kept for sale. Weiss has another similar charge against him.

Another grand jury will be summoned Monday morning, and it is expected that fully two weeks will be consumed in disposing of the criminal cases at hand.

FIGHT IS A DRAW.

Jess Day and Otto Berg Battle at Astoria.

ASTORIA, Ore., Oct. 13.—Otto Berg of Fort Stevens fought a draw of ten rounds with Jess Day of Marshfield for the championship of the northwest here in the presence of a packed house.

From first to last the battle was a hard and strenuous one, neither asking for a let up. Day was the stronger of the two, but Berg, by inside tactics, evened up the points, and at one time looked like finishing his man. Day revived and went after the other, who stalled for breath.

GOLD BUTTER GOLD MONEY

A DAIRYMAN WHO SAYS THE CREAMERY COINS CREAM INTO COIN OF THE REALM—SOME COMPARISONS.

(Communicated.) The question as to whether cheese or butter is the most profitable product to manufacture from milk is one which is attracting a good deal of attention. A well known Coos Bay dairyman gives some interesting facts on this subject. In this connection he says:

"Many dairymen in this locality seem to have jumped at the conclusion that at the present prices cheese is more profitable to manufacture than butter. But in arriving at this conclusion I question if they have taken everything into account. How about the young stock to replace the cows as they die off or are otherwise disposed of? Where are they to come from? You cannot buy them for a song, as can be seen in any of the dairy journals. Yet the dairyman who sends all his milk to a cheese factory or a condenser can not raise calves or pigs, as he has no skim milk to feed them. Who are raising the great dairy products? Not the man who is sending his milk to the cheese factory. He knows he cannot raise a good calf and sell all his milk. With veal and pork at the present price skim milk at home is worth 40 and 50 cents a hundred pounds. The dairyman separating at home saves that much clear profit and at the same time gets as much for his butter fat as does his neighbor who is sending to a cheese factory all of his milk.

"Prof. Decker claims that 13 pounds is all the solids in 100 pounds of milk, and it only requires the butter fat, which is about four pounds of the 13 pounds, to make butter, while cheese takes all of the 13 pounds of solids, and of that about one-half is lost in the making. According to the statement of this professor, who is one of the best authorities in the country, only 6.32 pounds of solids are recovered from the 13 pounds of solids in the 100 pounds of milk. The dairyman, who separates his milk at home sells his four pounds of butter fat, representing the 100 pounds of milk, to the creamery, where it is converted into about 4.6 pounds of butter, which, at 36 cents a pound, equals $1.656. Add to this the skim milk kept at home, valued at 40 cents, and his 100 pounds of milk, gives him $2.05. Take the same 100 pounds of milk to the cheese factory and it should yield ten pounds of cheese, which at the present price of 16 1/2 cents brings $1.65. Besides the farmer is selling the rest of the solids, which, kept on the ranch, is worth 40 cents, and will feed and raise a good calf which at maturity will bring an income of $125 a year.

"The dairyman who saves his milk at home has at the end of three years matured stock with which to replace the old stock that dies or becomes useless. Whereas, the dairyman who sells his milk to a condenser or cheese factory has to go outside of his own ranch and pay from $75 to $100 for cows with which to replace his herd.

"Give me the creamery every day in the year as the means for the dairyman to build up his ranch and his herds with greater producing capacity and eventually secure a larger net gain in dollars."
