TWO NOTABLE DEATHS.

TWO notable deaths within the past three days removes two distinguished Americans, one at the end of a useful and eventful life with all life's duties ably performed; the other in the prime of life and with a great career just opening before him.

The passing of Senator Dolliver of Iowa, removes one of the nation's really great and useful citizens. A statesman of the advanced type, he embodied the progressive sentiment and broad sympathies of his countrymen.

Senator Dolliver held the reputation of being one of the greatest orators in the Republican party. His wonderful grasp of public questions, together with his native eloquence, made him one of the big dominating figures in the party with which he was associated for the last 20 years.

In speaking of his death, Senator Chamberlain gives expression to a regret that is universal when he says:

"His death at this time is a most serious loss, not only to his party, but to the people of the whole country."

The death of Julia Ward Howe removes a woman no less distinguished in her sphere than Senator Dolliver in his. She was one of America's most notable women, a great, and grand character whose work will live while the republic endures. "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" was her most widely known contribution to literature but she has many other works to her credit, among which may be mentioned "From the Oak to Olive," "Later Lyrics," "Modern Society," "Is Politics Society Politic?"

She was a forceful worker for woman suffrage, prison reform and the peace movement. She achieved distinction as a preacher and lecturer as well as a writer. Born on May 27, 1819, she has witnessed the world's most wonderful advancement in civilization and through it all has been an active and forceful factor.

THE CAMPAIGN

THE meeting of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night to perfect the organization of the Marshfield Republican Club should be largely attended.

It is high time the republicans of Coos Bay and Coos county were asserting themselves. For the next three weeks to come the campaign will be on in earnest.

Not that the people need any campaigning, nor any enlightenment; they may be said to have very clear and definite understanding of conditions and men and policies, especially the republicans, who are steadily uniting on the one ground of securing victory at the polls as a predicate for sealing their new compact with all the power that restoration shall give.

This is the vital phase of their work this year. Nothing can equal it in significance or advantage; it is the primary requisite and must be attained to before anything else can be wrought.

The Bourne-Chamberlain-West political syndicate is the last of the combines to array itself against this consummation and the Republicans of Oregon must either come together mightily and solidly, once for all, or give up the state and abandon individual and party status. There is no choice left between these two finalities, and the decision is due on Tuesday the 8th day of November.

The temper of the majority is manifesting itself all over Oregon in favor of the resumption of Republican control and the farther that notion progresses the less chance is there for the B. C. W. conspiracy. We have had all we want of the rule of the minority and, upon the sheer contention of numbers alone, rests our future avoidance of the false and fatuous domination.

When one seeks to find anything that the Democrats have done for this state in Congress, or in office at home, that may be construed as justifying their claim to recognition he must admit himself baffled; the record is barren, and baseless of any dependence whatever. They have simply plucked the situation clean of every advantage that belongs to us and taken advantage of the confusion in which the Republican party finds itself. This year there is a very different state of affairs; we know the actual conditions and our own responsibility therein and the paramount duty of the hour.

We have all to gain this year upon the single and simple act of voting the Republican ticket straight from top to bottom, without reference to another plea or dictum of any sort: This is the last and only requirement at our hands if we would save Oregon to the party to which, by right of voting strength, inherent dominance and high purpose, possesses the first voice of selection, service and success.

Coos county should do her share in the restoration and the Marshfield Republican Club should be no small factor in the achievement.

BANDON NEWS.

E. Lewin, who has been laid up for five weeks with a sore toe, has so far recovered that he can walk around some now and says he will be back to his place of business Monday morning.

A. S. Manassa has bought the A. E. White residence property south of the school house, and will move his family into it for the winter. He expects to build a house in the spring on a lot which he has purchased in East Bandon.

Gus Buckingham and family, of Corvallis, arrived in this city late Thursday evening, having come from Portland on the Breakwater. They will spend the winter in Bandon and may decide to remain permanently. Mrs. Buckingham is a daughter of Mrs. F. E. Dyer.

The Coos Bay Home Telephone Co. has just received a new power plant and storage battery which will be installed at once, and will thus make the Bandon telephone service much better than it has been in the past. This is an improvement that will be greatly appreciated by the customers here.

Thursday was a big day for the fishermen on the Coquille, and over 4,000 were hauled in by the various fishermen along the river. Holman & Bingaman pulled in 1256; Gus Barre, we understand hauled in over 1000; the Barrows boys made a big haul as did also Mr. Bullard of Bullards. We did not learn how many other fishermen caught, but it is safe to say that the entire haul amounted to between 4,000 and 5,000, which is probably the best catch that has been made in any one day for about four years.

ALL LIKE COKE.

At the recent Marshfield primaries in one of the three precincts, Judge Coke had two votes more than that of the next highest candidate of any kind on the ticket, while in each of the other precincts he was a close second, being an average of three votes only behind the leader of all candidates in these two precincts—so on the whole he lacked just four votes of being even with each one of the highest of all candidates. We understand the candidates who were leaders in these different precincts were different in each. This is a surprising showing, as even a strong candidate usually runs behind in some one of the several precincts of the city; and the strongest candidate is frequently beaten by some one of the candidates for some other office in most if not in each of the precincts. As Judge Coke has been well-known at Marshfield for a great many years if he were a factional candidate, or in favor of anyone except the people as a whole, this would surely have shown up in some one of the three precincts.—Roseburg Review.

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleansed by a Simple Wash. "I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago." D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities. The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no waza for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble. D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25 cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy. Text: 'Flour made from selected, Northwestern grown, Blue Stem wheat—that's what the Olympic Flour is made of—is the best flour imaginable. It is always the same. There is the point—it is always the same. When you use Olympic you can bank on your bread, biscuit and pastry. You know that they are bound to be the best ever. You know how to make good things and often you wonder why it is that one baking is different than another. It's because the flour varies, probably. That's about the only reason there can be. Try Olympic.'
