

REPUBLICANS URGED TO COME

Republicans of Marshfield, Requested to Attend Wednesday Night Meeting

Editor Times:—
The committee in charge of the work of soliciting names for the Marshfield Republican Club to be formed in the Chamber of Commerce building tomorrow, Wednesday night is having but little difficulty in securing names, and all Republicans sign without hesitation, however, a great number claim that business and previous engagements will prevent their attendance and the presence of real Republicans is what we want and what we are trying to get. Now this "putting off" and "can't be present" is just what is causing this plea. The reason the Marshfield Republicans Club is to be formed is to get Republican advice and Republican ideas as to what we should do in the coming campaign and we can't get it unless every Republican makes a special effort to be present at the meeting Wednesday night in the Chamber of Commerce building at 8 o'clock. If you are a Democrat, don't come. We don't want you and we don't want your advice. We don't think much of your judgment anyway. The Republicans of Oregon have had such a copious, interminable, voluminous, conglomerate, infamous, mendacious, inconsistent, nefarious, odious, onerous, virulent, pernicious, vociferous, damnable, diabolical quantity of Democratic advice during the last few years, that what we want is just a trifle of Republican advice uncontaminated by Democratic presence. If you are a Republican you are wanted at that meeting. We want to know your ideas on the coming election. We want to know what you think ought to be done. Of course we realize that any effort on the part of the Republicans to control the destiny of the Republican Party in this vicinity will bring forth a storm of venomous dissension from the former disciples of William Jennings Bryan. But nevertheless such a meeting of Republicans only is the ineffable ideal toward which we are at present striving, and there is an effort on foot to have all good Republicans present and if you are a Republican we want you. Come on out. Now really, a Republican Club controlled only by Republicans, considering the patient interest the Democrats have taken in our welfare is indeed a novel idea in Oregon, but such nevertheless is what we want, so Mr. Republican, come on out, the sight of such a bunch really ought to do all of us much good.

(Signed)
ONE OF THE MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE.

Poor, Tired Father.
Father came home sour and surly from his labors in the mart, came home from the hurly-burly with some wormwood in his heart; for the luck had been against him in the war of bonds and stocks, and the other brokers fended him up and pelted him with rocks. So his heart was sad and bitter, mangled by misfortune's pokes; like a wild and savage critter he kept ranting at his folks. And his wife was scared and worried by the smoking things he said, and the children, hurried pale and trembling off to bed. And poor father roared and ranted, and he kicked at this and that, and he pawed the air and panted and he threw things at the cat. He was awful in his dudgeon, and his wife sat weeping there, when she should have got a bludgeon, or have slugged him with a chair. Oh the wrathful man who raises in his home, at close of day, fifty kinds of brimstone blazes in a chicken-hearted jay; and his wife is weak and dollish if she beads before the storm; she should get a club and polish off his wild, rambunctious form.—WALT MASON in Eugene Guard.

A Mysterious Official.
John Paget Mellor, king's proctor, is said to be the most mysterious official in England. He gets a salary of $10,000 a year and has an assistant proctor at $5,000 and a staff of clerks to help him. The king's proctor is supposed to inquire into every undefended divorce suit, and for this purpose he can call on the detective staff of Scotland Yard. His activities add much to the difficulties of divorce in the kingdom, though the great expense of securing a decree is perhaps even a greater obstacle.

How to Draw Threads Easily.
To draw threads easily in articles for hemstitching first soap the goods where threads are to be drawn. Make a lather and apply with a shaving brush. When the linen is dry the threads will then pull out easily.

FORT DODGE, Ia., Oct. 18.—The funeral of Senator J. P. Dolliver will be held here, interment to be beside his father, the Rev. Dolliver, and a younger brother, Victor Dolliver.

The death of Senator Dolliver which occurred late Saturday evening was due to heart trouble and came as a great shock. While he had been ill for a few weeks, he was thought to be getting along nicely and when death came, Mr. Dolliver was joking with his physician who was making an examination of him. Senator Dolliver was one of the recognized leaders of the United States Senate, being one of the greatest authorities in the country on tariff and railroad legislation.

How to Launder Irish Lace.
Irish crochet lace may be laundered easily at home. Wash soap and water, rinse thoroughly, then dip in thin cold starch, putting a drop of bluing in the starch, as the lace is apt to turn yellow if none is used. Have several thicknesses of blanket covered by an ironing sheet on the table. Lay the lace right side down on it, cover with a cloth and iron until dry, pressing down hard. Then take your crochet hook and carefully pull out each little picot, raise all the petals of the flowers, then press the balls into shape with your fingers. Even a large piece like a coat or waist can be done at home just as well as the at cleaner's by following these directions.

How to Renew Color of Bricks.
When red bricks of a fireplace get discolored with soot or have white spots on them rub with a brick polish, the paste for which can be obtained at a brickyard or paint shop. If this paste cannot be found rub the bricks well with linseed oil, giving them all they will absorb. This treatment may be repeated several times if the bricks are much discolored. Where brick pavements are discolored with moss or green mold scrub with a strong solution of household ammonia and water or with washing soda and hot water.
