COOS BAY'S CLIMATE.

ONCE MORE The Times is constrained to comment on the Coos Bay climate. Nowhere in the world can it be equalled during these glorious golden autumn days. There is much said about the rains of Coos Bay, but how about the sunshine. We get that in showers as well as the wet. We should display our appreciation by thinking and talking sunshine. The rains are quite as welcome when they come from elsewhere in the world as the rains so soft and soothing, balmy and beautiful as on Coos Bay. The year 1910 has been, thus far abnormally deficient in the fall of moisture but even during the midsummer months Old Sol's blazing shafts are tempered by the ocean's cooling breezes.

Hundreds of cities in Europe and America advertise their climate as one of their chief assets. Southern California has grown and prospered on this one feature. Coos Bay has them all "beaten to a frazzle" when it comes to genial weather the whole year round.

Medical authorities have agreed upon the beneficial influence of the sun upon the body and pure air to breathe. Today there is sweeping to the country a growing concourse of patients who firmly believe in the doctrines of open air and sunshine. While Coos Bay has never been advertised as a summer resort or a health resort there exists in this section of the Northwest a great territory wherein people can be assured of the very best climate conditions respecting the advancement of the present day civilization and the all-important subject of the general conditions making for their health and growth, both physically and mentally.

In the words of the poet:
You may talk of fair France in the Summer
Of California's glorious clime
But for an all around hummer
I'll take Coos Bay every time.

ENGLISH JUSTICE.

THE Crippen case, which terminated in a London court the other day, is a timely illustration of English criminal procedure as compared with the interminable and intricate delays of American criminal practice. The facts in the Crippen case were few and simple, and known the world over. The case went to trial only a few days ago. Prosecutor Muir presented the evidence for the Crown in an unbroken chain of circumstances which, in the judgment of any disinterested observer, pointed plainly to the guilt of the defendant. While Dr. Crippen had the advantage of the best legal talent in his defense, all technicalities were excluded and the case was held down to the material facts of the issue, with the result that in a single week—world-famous trial was concluded. The jury found a verdict in twenty-nine minutes; there is no appeal from the decision, and only the King himself can modify the sentence imposed upon Dr. Crippen by the trial judge, Lord Alverstone.

Contrasted with this is the well-known procedure usual to celebrated cases in this country, involving months of delay before the case comes to trial at all; then there is the well nigh interminable procedure, distinguished throughout by every possible recourse to all the technicalities of our own intricate court processes. Finally, when a verdict is reached, there follows almost endless appeals to higher courts.

It is small wonder that a brilliant and capable criminal lawyer can almost guarantee a client with sufficient money immunity from the just penalty of his crimes, and small wonder is it also that our criminal courts are regarded with indifference and unconcern by the shrewd, skillful criminal classes of this country. Sooner or later the criminal procedure in this country will have to be simplified, or crime in America will come to be a profession which will daintily match its cleverness and skill against the ponderous, involved legal delays of the courts.

AN APPEAL TO CITIZENSHIP.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE of Indiana, recently said in a speech: "The coming battle is not so much between political parties, as such, as between the rights of the people and the powers of pillage. In this struggle the Republicans of Indiana stand for the people. Our appeal is not to partisans because of partisanship, but to citizens because of citizenship.

"It is another phase of the conflict as old as the republic. It was so when Washington fought to lift from the people's necks the yoke of British oppression; and the people who were patriots supported him and won.

"It was so when Jackson defied secession and broke the power of arrogant and unwise wealth; and while men of his own party left him, other men of all parties in overwhelming majorities held up Andrew Jackson's hands.

"It was so when Abraham Lincoln fought to save the nation and end slavery; and loyal men of all parties forgot ancient party lines and gladly marched to death for the republic and human rights.

"It was so in the last ten years, when another president attacked the country's organized greed, which was fattening on the labor and lives of the masses; and again the masses forgot their partisanship and in overpowering numbers rallied around Theodore Roosevelt.

"The people were for these men because these men were for the people.

"A political party is not a group of politicians, each with his following, combining to win the spoils of place and power. Such an organization is not a party—it is a band of brigands, and its appeals in the name of party are mere attempts to beguile and defraud the voter for its selfish purposes. Such organizations and men are the tools and agents of lawless interests which know no party, attempt to use all parties, and practice only the politics of profit."

What is true in Indiana is equally true in New York, in California, and in Oregon. It is a nation-wide struggle of the people against mis-government for the benefit of special interests.

GOOD EVENING.

In seeking to apply the Golden Rule (Matt. vii. 12) to our daily life it were well to realize that it implies not only the act of doing unto others as we would have them do unto us, but above all to think unto others and speak of them as we would have them think and speak of us.—E. J. H.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—The complete re-enumeration of Tacoma was today ordered by Secretary Nagle as a result of the protests of the people of that city, who were given a hearing yesterday and today.

AFTER LUMBER TRUST.

Federal Authorities Get Busy About Line Yards.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 27.—Federal Secret Service agents, by direction of United States Attorney-General George W. Wickersham, have obtained in Seattle and elsewhere in Western Washington positive evidence of the existence of a lumber trust or a combination "in restraint of trade."

Federal prosecutions of a criminal character against the men and corporations of the alleged unlawful combinations are expected within the next 60 days. Indictments, if brought, will be obtained in the Federal Court in St. Paul.

The Federal inquisitors definitely learned that of the 809 lumber yards in South Dakota, 526 are "line yards" controlled by a half-dozen men or firms with headquarters in Minneapolis. These yards are alleged to have been operated by the lumber trust on a scale to absolutely ruin all competitors in that state and to fix prices on Washington lumber which net the trust annually a profit of 25 per cent or more than double the profit made by the Coast manufacturers.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is a purely internal remedy, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, the only destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength in building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietor has so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
