HUNTERS ARE ARRESTED.

Party From Linn County Get Into Trouble In Curry.
GOLD BEACH, Ore., Oct. 31.—A party of Linn county hunters, one of whom is said to be part owner of the Brownsville glove factory, were arrested by Deputy Game Warden Charley Wilson last Friday at Wedderburn. They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace, Kruegar, Saturday morning and gave the following names as they plead not guilty: Geo. Fischer, Wm. Holcombe, Floyd Putman, Lewis Walker, Robert Higgins and Frank Watson. They were defended by J. Huntley and a change of venue was asked for, which was granted and the case was taken to Geo. B. Miller's court. Attorney Wood represented the state and he, with several witnesses, together with 32 mutilated hides and a pair of dried fawn hams as evidence were taken, yesterday morning, to Mr. Miller's place where the trial was held. The parties were fined $100 apiece. They took an appeal to the Circuit Court.

November.
Mr. Taft, who rules the nation. Offers this, his proclamation:

Whereas, Providence continues Blessing us from day to day, And the boom of Independence Has, we take it, come to stay;

And whereas, Indulgent Nature Lavishes upon us still Bounty in excess of what the Weather and the bugs can kill;

And whereas, The old republic Couldn't be improved upon, Notwithstanding everybody Gets to run it off and on;

Therefore, I, as delegated Now and for a short time hence President, decree that turkey Shall go up to 30 cents.

That's about all there is to it. Once the country raised its own, and the White House proclamation was not greeted with a groan. Father simply grabbed the hatchet, mother got the water hot, father read the proclamation to the turkeys in the lot, all the young and female turkeys promptly fainted from the shock, and after due farewells the gobbler laid his head upon the block.

No one telephoned the butcher, asking what a turkey cost. No one in his deep resentment wished the Pilgrims had been lost. No one, while the feast proceeded, knew the torment of the rack figuring upon his napkin what the day had set him back.

Everybody was provided, as the founders pre-supposed. No one can be very thankful, if the truth should be disclosed, paying what we pay for turkey, and, for all of Heaven's gifts, feeling that the day was founded for the Armours and the Swifts.

November gets its name from the Latin novem (nine), and was originally the ninth month of the year. This brought Thanksgiving around two months earlier than we have it now, and it became very unpopular. The insurgents, who constituted a majority in the agricultural districts, were bitterly opposed to it. They made two contentions: First, that young turkeys were not old enough to market; second, that crops had not progressed to the point where it was possible to make out whether there was anything to be thankful for or not. In 713 B. C. the storm broke. The insurgents carried Gaul, Britannia and 17 other doubtful states, and the Forum immediately assembled and made November the eleventh month of the year.

The festive coil will sniff the air and don his heavy underhair, and the frenzied candidate will jump and hop around upon the stump. He'll point with pride and view with fear, and suck and blow the atmosphere, and then, together with his cult, await with prayer the result.

Does reason haply hold its sway, or is it madness for a day will tell the people what to think and put the country on the blink? One cannot tell, but must abide the count that sees him justified in courage, confidence or doubt, according as it may turn out.

One thing alone is sure, it seems, and that is this: No one esteems a patriot in politics. We only trust him while he sticks to war, with all its thrill and throb. The moment that he wants a job somewhat conspicuous for pay, by Jove! we don't know what to say.

But whether we do ill or well, election day alone can tell, or whether love for us and fear did any good, will then appear. We have to judge men as we may, and where the candidates all say about the same thing in the end, one scarcely knows who is a friend.

At any rate, the snow will fly, and the wild duck spin across the sky with both eyes focused on the ground, and his tail-piece going round and round. The eager hunter will deploy and supplement the live decoy, and the pneumococcus, while he toots, will perforate his rubber boots.

A little shooting now and then is relished by a lot of men. They like to gallivant about and let the farmers run them out. It does them good to feel, by Jing, that Morgan don't own everything, and if he came in consequence, and also tried to climb the fence, together with his dog and gun, he, too, would also get the run.

November will be unusual this year for the reason that there will be no full moon. This is because there will be a total eclipse of the moon on the night of the 16th, when it would otherwise be full. This eclipse will be visible in the United States and in Wall street, and it will send bacon down a couple of points.

The breath of Winter will distill upon the outer windowsill, and the chilling calf will hump his back and burrow deeper in the stack. The hired man, with wintry spurts, will put on both his undershirts, and the plutocrat who sells us coals will pry our bodies from our souls.

Then let us all embrace the chance and be as merry as we may, for whether we desist or dance, the fiddler is for all to pay. The gentle autumntime will pass, the countryman will kill his hogs, the cotton-tail will weave the grass around the obfuscated dogs, the honking goose will ride the heights with that weird hollering of his, and the wolf will sit around o' nights and tell the moon how thin he is.

O woe is us that could enjoy the autumntime for aye and aye, and what with growing soul employ its witchery from day to day. The phosphorescence in the sky, the quail soft-piping on the hill, the blackbirds ever bobbing by, and the wind soft-sighing where it will.

But happiness can never last, as Antony could apprehend, and holding Cleo to him fast, destroyed himself before the end. The summer cometh after spring, and winter, merciless wthal, as truly must succeed the sweet and gentle blandishments of fall.

At any rate, upon a day Deciphered in the almanacs, December, desolate and gray, Will come to whistle through the cracks.

IS SOLD TO JAPS.

Vessel Built In Marshfield Will Carry Mikado's Flag.
PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 3.—Hereafter the schooner Da'ld Evans, known from one coast to the other, will be sailed under the instructions of Japanese, for she has been sold to interests at Kobe, by the Pacific Shipping Company. The vessel is to be transferred to the British registry. She is at Eagle Harbor and is to load lumber at Port Blakely for the Far East. The craft is a four-master of 748 tons, net register, and was built at Marshfield, Ore., in 1901.

WILL STAND BY CANDIDATES.

(From Corvallis Republican.)
Register B. F. Jones of the United States Land Office at Roseburg is the proper man for one of the two district judges to be voted for in this district and Mr. Coke is another. They are the republican candidates and if you are a republican there is no reason why you should not vote for them. Today we have interviewed several men who have known Mr. Jones for many years and we have never heard a man spoken of in higher terms. He is a self-made man and is constantly doing things for the benefit of the public, and this he has been at most of his entire life. He has the confidence of every man with whom he does business, and in his friendship he considers not whether you are rich or poor. He was brought up in Lincoln county, where the people almost to a man endorse him as shown by the recent primary election, and where no one has sought against him. He has been a member of the state senate and held important offices for years, and is now register of the U. S. land office at Roseburg. Republicans, stay by him first, last and all time.

If you want good results from your Port organization, do not tie the hands of your Commissioners by voting for the Bennett amendment. Vote it down and let it be recorded by putting a X before No. 367.—C. R. Peck (Paid advertisement.)

THE CORRUPT PRACTICE LAW

Provisions of Election Law That Must Be Observed On Next Tuesday.

- As the general election is near at hand, and as many persons are not familiar with the provisions of the corrupt practices act, the following is a brief outline of the principal features:
- The corrupt practices act, known, as the "Huntley Bill," makes it unlawful for a candidate to give clothing, meals, liquors, cigars or tobacco, with intent or hope to influence a vote.
- Makes it unlawful for any religious, political or charitable organization to solicit any payment or contributions from a person seeking a nomination or office.
- Makes it unlawful for any person to make use of force, coercion, threats, etc., influencing the vote of another, and for ministers, preachers, etc., otherwise than by public speech or print to urge, persuade or command any voter for or against any man or measure on account of his religious duty.
- Any person may do as much writing, speaking, publishing or other work and spend as much time as he wishes, without pay, for any candidate, political party or measure, except on the day of the primary election or the day of the general election, and except as above noted.
- Hired workers at the polls are prohibited except as challengers and to watch the count.
- On election day no badges or buttons are to be given out or are to be worn, and on that day the voter is allowed to go to the polls and vote as his own judgment dictates, absolutely free from solicitation, question or argument for votes, either for men, measures or parties.
- Makes it unlawful to bet or wage anything of pecuniary value on the result of his election.
- Makes it unlawful for any person to pay another any loss or damage due to attendance at the polls, or for the expense of transportation to or from the polls.
