The Lamp with Diffused Light

should always be used where several people sit, because it does not strain the eyes of those sitting far from it.

The Rayo Lamp is constructed to give the maximum diffused white light. Every detail that increases its light-giving value has been included.

The Rayo is a low-priced lamp. You may pay $5, $10 or even $20 for other lamps and get a more expensive container—but you cannot get a better light than the Rayo gives.

This season's Rayo has a new and strengthened burner. A strong, durable shade-holder keeps the shade on firm and true. Easy to keep polished, as it is made of solid brass, finished in nickel.

Miss Margaret Ferguson recently wrote for her High School Credits. She may enter the University of Southern California at Los Angeles. Miss Ferguson was a member of the present senior class, when in Marshfield High School.

The courses of study offered to young people of High School age are in great contrast to those offered a decade ago. The following was noted in a recent article on the work of the Carl Shurz High School of Chicago: "The courses comprise accounting, stenography, mechanical drawing, design, advanced carpentry, pattern making, machine shop work, electricity, and household arts. The last includes textiles, household science, practical arithmetic and household accounts, history, with special reference to industrial and economic conditions; music, art, science, business English and physical education." A NEW SCHOOL STUNT.

One day in November is to be labor day in the LeMars high school. Every high school pupil will on that day undertake to secure a job and turn over the proceeds of their day's labor to the fund which is to be used to maintain the expenses of the various high school enterprises. A large number of the boys and girls have already arranged for the day's employment and others are hustling for jobs. If you need an energetic and willing hand on that day, phone Superintendent Palmer or offer employment to the first high school boy or girl you meet.

AVOID THE SALOONS.

You stand on the threshold of youth boys.
Your future lies out in the years, boys,
You're learning your parts for life, boys,
You're planning your future career

You'll have to fill places of trust, boys,
Your fathers will pass away soon,
And if you'd be trustworthy men, boys,
You'll have to avoid the saloon.

If you would be honored in life, boys,
If joy and contentment you'd know,
If you would have plenty of cash, boys,
And bask in prosperity's glow.

If you would enjoy robust health, boys,
That priceless but much abused boon;
If God's benediction you'd have boys,
You'll have to avoid the saloon.

You'll have to avoid the saloon, boys,
Or sorrow and shame you will share,
And poverty's crust you will eat, boys,
And poverty's rags you will wear.

Your future will end in disgrace, boys,
Your life will be cut off at noon;
Both body and soul will be lost, boys,
Unless you avoid the saloon,
Marshfield, Nov. 7.
MRS. S. C. BROWN.
