JUDGE HALL WILL ISSUE "DRY" ORDER NOVEMBER 21

Fixes Date For Issuing Proclamation Unless Proposed Contest Delays.

SALOONS MUST CLOSE HERE JANUARY 1, 1911

Official Canvass Shows 'Wets' Lost by Twenty-Seven Votes Instead of 23.

County Judge John F. Hall has fixed November 21 as the date on which he will officially declare Coos county "dry" by issuing the proclamation declaring the result of the election last week.

Judge Hall has heard reports that the liquor men will seek to enjoin him from issuing the said proclamation but he has not had any legal advice of it. He is simply arranging to carry out the law as is provided by the statutes but of course if he is enjoined, the issuance of the proclamation will have to be delayed.

The state law provides that the saloons operating under the local option law, in view of the county "dry" last Tuesday, shall cease to do business January 1, 1911. If the proclamation is not issued until December 30, the saloons must close January 1, unless the liquor men through their proposed contest secure an order from the court providing otherwise.

In this connection, there is a peculiar thing. Unless the courts intervene, the saloons will have to close and remain closed until the "Home Rule" law becomes effective and special elections are held under it. Then, in the municipalities that vote "wet," the saloons can reopen. However as the chances are that there will be much litigation, it is hard to surmise what the outcome will be.

Canvass Done.

The official canvass of the "wet" and "dry" election has been completed and County Clerk Watson this morning furnished Judge Hall with the official result for him to prepare the order or proclamation declaring the outcome. This shows the county is "dry" by twenty-seven votes instead of twenty-three as was first shown. The official wet and dry vote by precincts was as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Precinct Name, Dry, Wet. Total: 1,630 Dry, 1,613 Wet.

WILL SEEK AN INJUNCTION

Wet Forces Claim Petition Did Not Contain Sufficient Legal Names.

A. S. Hammond of Coquille, who with E. D. Sperry has been retained as attorney to contest the result of the Coos county election on the wet or dry proposition states that it is their purpose to seek an injunction restraining the issuance of an order declaring the result of the election on this particular feature, claiming that it was illegal.

"We find on investigation," Mr. Hammond stated, "that the petition asking for the submission of the county prohibition measure as filed with the county clerk contained only one name more than the legal requirement and many of the names thereon are not legal voters, several being unregistered. The law requires that all signatures attached to such petitions shall be those of registered voters. Many of the names to the petition were those of voters not registered when they signed the petition and therefore not legal. That being the case it is our claim that this measure was submitted illegally and therefore had no proper place on the ballot. We shall ask for an injunction on this showing."

In reference to a recount, Mr. Hammond refused to declare himself saying that the first action would be to stop the issuance of an order declaring the result. He admitted that they were preparing to carry the contest farther and admitted that the next move would probably be a recount but claiming the whole election on county prohibition was illegal the recount was only a secondary consideration.

LOCAL WAGERS ON ELECTION

H. J. McKeown and A. J. Mendel the Winners of Two— Betting in Portland.

Not a great deal of money changed hands locally on the recent election. The wagers were not numerous and most of them were small. The few ones of importance were made on the "wet" and "dry" question. H. J. McKeown and A. J. Mendel are said to have won $40 each from Theo Bradley, the San Francisco drummer, who wagered $40 with them against $100 and $90, respectively, that state wide prohibition would carry. O. O. Lund had three hats wagered on the "wet" and "dry" election and won two and lost one. He lost to H. J. McKeown, betting the county would go "wet." He won from August Frizeen who took the "wet" end of the bet.

FOOTBALL DEATH IS INVESTIGATED

Ohio Man Alleged to Have Killed Member of Opposing Team at Wheeling and Faces Serious Charge.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 14.—The inquest over the death of Rudolph Munk, the West Virginia football player who died Saturday night as a result of an alleged blow struck by Thos. W. McCoy, a Bethany college player, will be completed tonight.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

CANTON, Ohio, Nov. 14.—Attorneys Day and Ammerman, counsel for Thomas McCoy, left for Wheeling today to attend the coroner's inquest into the death of Rudolph Munk. McCoy prepared to go with them but just before the train started, it was decided that he should remain in Canton pending developments. Probably his counsel will fight extradition if definite charges are filed against him. McCoy said today he did not strike Munk.

MARSHFIELD 1910 CHAMPS

High School Team Wins Coos County Laurels By Victory at North Bend.

When at the end of the game Saturday between Marshfield and North Bend High Schools the referee announced the score of Marshfield 6, North Bend 5, the spectators breathed a sigh of relief for never has a closer game of football been played on the Bay than was this game between the two contenders for the Coos County Championship. The teams were fairly well matched although North Bend perhaps outweighed Marshfield 5 or 6 pounds to the man.

In the beginning of the game Marshfield kicked to North Bend who returned the ball 15 yards. By a determined and fierce attack North Bend carried the ball to Marshfield 42-yard line where Marshfield held and then rushed to North Bend's 35-yard line only to lose it on a bad and uncalled for fumble.

From then on through the entire first half of the game North Bend had Marshfield constantly on the defensive with a fierceness of attack which Marshfield met in a half-hearted and listless way.—the ball moving back and forth across Marshfield territory, neither team had scored. During the intermission, Messrs. Helwt and Graves held a rather heated discussion with the Marshfield players at the south end of the field which resulted in Marshfield taking a decided brace at the beginning of the second half.

At this stage Marshfield changed his style of play and soon had North Bend very much on the defensive. Luck favored North Bend, however, and after a fumble of a return punt they secured the ball on Marshfield's 8-yard line. Here they made the first touch down of the game by two consecutive plays at left tackle. The goal was missed.

Score at end of 3rd quarter North Bend 5, Marshfield 0. At the beginning of the last quarter Marshfield began playing in their usual form and fairly over-whelmed North Bend with a fierce, rapid and varied attack which soon resulted in a touch down, with Curly Larson carrying the ball. Here occurred the most exciting point in the game for with a tied score and only 3 minutes to play Chauncey Clarke was called upon to kick the goal from a difficult angle on the 25-yard line. With extreme care and coolness, Clarke directed the playing of the ball and then without an indication of the strain under which he must have labored and which held the crowd breathless he kicked the ball squarely between the posts and the game was won. Final score, Marshfield 6, North Bend 5.

The game was clean throughout and the rivals never once forgot that modern football is a gentleman's game.

The whole story of the close score may be told in these few words—Since the first game which Marshfield won by a score of 13 to 5, North Bend has improved while Marshfield has had a bad slump.

After a severe lecturing by the coaches and after they had been scored on by North Bend, the Marshfield boys played extremely well and the credit for their touch-down belongs to the team and not to any individual.

This victory gives Marshfield the undisputed championship of Coos county although by the terms of the inter-school agreement North Bend will play another game here on Thanksgiving Day.

John Knapp, Former Convict, Is Held For Brutal Crime There Today.

IS CAUGHT WHILE WATCHING THE BODY

Victim Identified As Offender In Number of Petty Cases There.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Battered beyond recognition the body of a woman was found today near the Savoy theatre in this city. H. John Knapp, an ex-convict, was arrested. When the body was discovered he was noticed wearing blood-stained clothes standing in the outskirts of the crowd watching the removal of the body. He was followed to his room and arrested. The woman was evidently killed in the stable where Knapp was employed. The officers are inclined to believe the dead woman is Knapp's mother. Knapp is 57 years of age and served a term in the penitentiary for a murder committed in 1875. He was released after thirteen years confinement.

James Stevens, a fellow employe of Knapp, is in custody but no charge has been placed against him.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Julia Carey, aged 85 years. She was identified by Mrs. Love, matron of the city prison, who said Mrs. Carey was in prison a number of times for petty offences. The police, however, are not satisfied that the dead woman is Knapp's mother.

HARD BATTLE WITH PANTHER

"Tip" Cordes With His Dog, "Cub" Has Exciting Experience On Claim.

"Tip" Cordes who returned a few days ago from a short stay at his homestead in the Fall Creek country had an exciting experience that for a few seconds gave him the fright of his life and had it not been for his faithful dog "Cub", might have resulted disastrously for him. Mr. Cordes was busy clearing a trail from his claim and the dog had been playing around. All of a sudden he heard some sharp yelps and racket in the brush that indicated a battle royal was on. With his ax, he rushed through the brush a few feet where he found "Cub" and a big panther locked in a life and death struggle. "Tip" knew that the panther was likely to tear "Cub" to shreds with his claws unless he helped and did so quickly. He struck at the panther but had to be careful lest he hit the dog. Consequently the blow he landed was not a heavy one and the dog and panther rolled over. Although "Cub" had a strong hold on the big panther, the latter apparently turned its attention to "Tip" whom they had rolled against and with its claws caught his trousers legs. It was decidedly close quarters and "Cub" apparently realized it for he tightened his hold on the panther's throat.

This made the big beast turn its attention to the dog again and "Tip" was able to get a good swing with his ax, almost cutting the varmint's head in two. This ended the battle but "Tip" does not care for any more battles with the panther's at close range.

IS HELD FOR WIFE MURDER

J. W. McDowell Arrested In Spokane For Crime In Idaho A Week Ago.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 14.—Charged with the murder of his wife at Springston, Ida., a week ago J. W. McDowell, a salesman in the employ of the Minneapolis Threshing Machine Company, was placed under arrest here today. When the body was found, an inverted tumbled with the odor of laudanum was nearby and a letter that indicated suicide, but the coroner's jury stated the woman's death was due to "unnatural causes but whether by her own hand or those of another it was unable to determine."
