FISHING AT GARDINER.

Best Season Umpqua Has Known In Long Time,

GARDINER, Ore., Nov. 14 .- The greatest run in silverside salmon of many years in the Umpqua River is just closing. Thousands of fish have by day and many thousands placed in cold storage until the receipts of fish slackened, and they could be handled. The Umpqua Canning Company and the Co-operative Canning Company have increased their force to the limit and in spite of working overtime are unable to care for the fish brought in. The fishermen are receiving 20 cents per fish, the highest price ever paid on this river, and several have already upwards of $2,000 to their Low water credit for this season's catch. It is estimated that the season's pack on the Umpqua River will reach 25,000

LOST SUNDAY

From Independents By Score of 6 to 0.

By a score of six to nothing, the Coquille Independents took the second game of the series with the Marshfield Independents at Coquille were pretty evenly matched, Marshfield had the best of the play the first half and Coguille the best of it the last two quarters. The touchdown was made in the last few mirutes of play by Collier who also

The game was a very rough onemuch rougher than the "debrutall"ed" rules are supposed to allow. There was apparently no intentional slugging but the players went to it with a flerceness that made them forget the new rules of play.

Once during the game, it looked as though there might be a general mixup, Chisholm of Coquille "starting something" with Cowan of Marshfield, However, followers of the two teams stopped it before it went very far,

About seventy-five rooters accompanied the Marshfield team on the special train.

The lineups of the two teams was as follows:
