CRAWFORD IS SENTENCED.

Marshfield Lawyer Goes to Jail For Impersonating Secret Service Man. PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—J. C. Crawford, the automobile sleuth of Marshfield, appeared in the United States Court and pleaded guilty to the charge of impersonating a Secret Service officer of the United States and was sentenced to a term of nine months in the County Jail.

Crawford comes from a good family in the vicinity of Salem and has depended upon a brother to furnish him funds with which to make a defense. When the brother notified the young man that he could not raise the money, Crawford capitulated and begged for mercy.

Crawford appeared in Marshfield last year and hung out his shingle as an attorney. He engaged in prosecuting timber land contests for the most part, and became well known in Coos County. His arrest was brought after he had issued a number of checks on an imaginary bank account, some of them being in payment for the use of an automobile in which he trailed criminals from one saloon to another.

Since the arrest of Crawford, it has been ascertained that a prominent attorney and land agent of Roseburg had paid all the bad checks which Crawford placed in circulation, and when it was shown to the United States Attorney that the young man was a "dope fiend," Assistant McGuire joined in asking for the lightest sentence which the law can impose.
