BEEF TRUST CASE CHANGE

JUDGE LANDIS WILL NOT HEAR SUIT AGAINST CHICAGO PACKERS ON ACCOUNT OF HIS PREVIOUS CONNECTIONS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Judge Kene-saw M. Landis in the United States District Court announced to attorneys appearing before him seeking a change of venue in the case against Chicago meat packers that he would be unable to hear the case. Irrespective of argument for or against such a course...

The packers are charged with a conspiracy in restraint of trade, and with having formed a so-called beef trust, in the shape of the National Packing Company. In announcing his inability to sit on the case, Landis gave no hint of his possible action on the venue argument.

It lies within his power to refuse certification to the circuit court and instead transfer it as dean of district court to another district court. Shortly after the announcement, Judge Landis put off until November 23 further arguments. Judge Landis later explained his refusal to sit on the case as follows: "Considering the character and nature of the defendants' averment and the proximity in point of time of my employment as a member of this bar as the agent of the Department of Justice, at least at the beginning of the period respecting which the grand jury heard evidence, regardless of the technical proposition involved, it becomes obvious I cannot hear the case. I will send the case to my colleague in the district court, Judge Carpenter."

TRUNK MURDER CASE MYSTERY THOUSANDS OF SUFFRAGETTES IN ATTACK ON PARLIAMENT TODAY

Discover Body In New York That Had Been Hidden Away For More Than Five Years.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Pending the inquest planned for today, the body found in a hermetically sealed trunk in a cellar at a West 5th street apartment house, the authorities are not inclined to theorize. The body is known to have reposed in the hiding place five years or more and is reduced to almost a skeleton, making it difficult in fixing the sex, though the smallness of frame indicates it was a woman. The body was discovered by Phillip Meagher when he was preparing to move. He opened the trunk and found the body jammed in the trunk surrounded by quantities of plaster of paris and paper. The only clue is the name of "W. Lewis" on the outside of the trunk. Lewis boarded with the Meagher family up to six years ago. He told Meagher then he was going away and would leave the trunk and call for it later. A saine tank inside the trunk fits perfectly. Newspapers found in the trunk are dated February 18 to April 17, 1902. Later—Coroner's physician Lehane with Prof. John McAllister of Bellevue, made an examination of the body and found it to be a man's. The surgeons declared when the victim was placed in the trunk he was still alive and that death resulted from asphyxiation.

BETTER WORK IN DREDGING

Government Will Have Dredgings Pumped Back of Bay Hereafter.

PROMISE REMEDY. Henry Songstacken, secretary of the Port Commission, wired the government engineering department relative to the situation of the dredge Oregon's work here and asked them that the additional pipe needed to throw the dredgings back out of the bay be sent at once. Major McIndoe replied that 600 feet more of pipe would be shipped on the next Breakwater.

The dredge Oregon which has started work on the Lone Tree shoal between the mouths of Pony Inlet and North Inlet is again pumping the dredgings into the bay as it did there a year ago and is causing much criticism from local men. It is likely that steps will be taken today or tomorrow to see if the dredge cannot be required to pump the dredgings out on one side of the bay so that it will not merely lodge on another shoal and impede navigation as bad as ever.

"They are making an awful botch of it," said T. H. Barry of Empire. "Yesterday I noticed that they were merely pumping it a few hundred feet down the channel. If the tide was running out all the time, this would probably be all right but when the tide is flooding the dredgings are merely swept back or on low tide settle on other shoals. Unless something is done, it will mean that a sand bar will be created across the channel."

Why the dredge Oregon is not pumping the dredgings off to one side of the channel is not known. Some said that it was because they were lacking pontoons to carry the pipe, many of the pontoons built here a year or so ago having been broken up during the dredge's trip north and not being replaced yet.

ASSISTANT CITY ATTORNEY OF PORTLAND DECLARES NEW LIQUOR LAW IS VOID.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 18.—The Journal prints the following: "The Home Rule constitutional amendment is invalid, in conflict with the constitution of the United States, and in conflict with the constitution of the state, in that the people have no right irrevocably to delegate the sovereign power of the state to any municipal corporation. It has no more force than so much blank paper. The word 'exclusive' used in the text of the law invalidates the law. The city attorney's office will advise the city council not to grant any licenses for the sale of liquor under the new law. The old law will stand as before. The repealing clause in the Home Rule law will have no effect."

This opinion was given out today by Assistant City Attorney W. C. Benbow, Mr. Benbow has looked up the law in the matter at request of members of council and others concerned with the enforcement of the home rule bill.

City Attorney Grant said that the opinion given by Deputy City Attorney W. C. Benbow concerning the invalidity and unconstitutionality of the Home Rule amendment had not been approved nor authorized by him. "It is Mr. Benbow's personal opinion, not mine. The matter has not been brought to the attention of the city attorney," said Mr. Grant.

MAKE SERIES OF FUTILE ASSAULTS ON CORDON OF POLICE GUARDING IT.

LARGE NUMBER IS ARRESTED AND JAILED.

Mrs. Pankhurst Leads Mob and Finally Gets Premier Asquith's "No."

SUFFRAGE LOSES. (By Associated Press.) LONDON, Nov. 18.—Later three leaders of the demonstration headed by Mrs. Pankhurst were allowed to enter the Lobby chamber where they were informed by Premier Asquith's secretary that the premier refused to see them and that there was no chance for the suffrage bill to be presented at the present session.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) LONDON, Nov. 18.—Suffragettes under the leadership of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst made an attack on the Parliament soon after the session opened today. Twelve women and one man were arrested. The suffragettes marched one thousand strong on the Parliament buildings and gave the police a lively fight. The suffragettes had determined on forcing the police cordon and reaching Premier Asquith to insist on the introduction of the woman's suffrage bill. The police, however, were too strongly entrenched and the women were thrown back. Repeatedly they reiterated breathless and disheveled only to have their places in the fighting line taken by reserves. The arrests were continued this afternoon and at three o'clock twenty-one women and two men were in the cells. The total number of arrests made before the House of Lords adjourned was 150.

HOME RULE IS NOW IN DANGER
