Estimates of the number killed vary from 100 to 170. The revolutionary movement which began when the police attempted to break up a meeting of anti-re-electionists appears to have ended with the escape of the home of Jose Gerden credited with having headed the rebels. Gerden is said to have escaped. Forty-two alleged plotters were arrested. They include the sister and sister of Gerden. Gerden's sister shot and killed chief of police Cabrera and in turn was shot. European Papers Claim American Heiress and Duke D'Abuzzi Will Be Married In Few Weeks — Now In Washington.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Despite the fact that Miss Katherine Elkins has returned to America arriving in New York October 4, and according to cable advices is now in Washington, some of the continental papers continue to print stories that she is stopping at Lugano, Switzerland, intimating the Elkins family with the exception of the Senator recently returned to Europe incognito. A dispatch from Lugano says Miss Elkins was there arranging with Bishop Tlino for her conversion to Catholicism and that she was visited last Monday by Duke D'Abuzzi. A dispatch from Milan, Italy, says the marriage of Miss Elkins and Duke D'Abuzzi will likely occur late in December or early in January and that King Victor Emmanuel has given his consent to the match and that all difficulties with the senator are removed.

WILL ENLARGE CONDENSARY GARRISON IS NEAR FINISH

Stockholders of North Bend Institution Decide to Double Its Capacity.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the North Bend Milk Condensary yesterday, arrangements were made for doubling the capacity of the plant. The business has grown rapidly and the demand for its products the past season has been far in excess of its capacity. Owing to some of the details not being worked out, full announcement of the company's plans cannot be made for a while.

When the plans are carried out, the condensary will be turning out in excess of two hundred cases of condensed milk a day. Other milk products may also be handled.

In order to handle the enlarged business, it was decided to build another launch to haul milk to the creamery from Coos River and the inlets in addition to the launch Sunrise. The new launch will be larger and faster.

The company has received assurances from the ranchers that they will be able to furnish the additional supply of milk needed. The condensary pays out thousands of dollars annually on the Bay and is one of the factors that have contributed greatly to the phenomenal success dairying has attained in this section. The success of the condensary has in a large degree been due to the able management of J. H. Keating.

Besides the local stockholders in attendance, E. B. Duffy of Portland and T. R. Sheridan of Roseburg were here. Both are enthusiastic over the business and of the future of Coos Bay.

Case of Roy Perkins' Slayer Maybe Submitted to Jury Late Tonight.

(Special to The Times.)

COQUILLE, Ore., Nov. 19.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon, it appeared doubtful if the case of Frank Garrison, charged with the murder of Roy Perkins, would be submitted to the jury tonight. Attorneys Graves and Liljeqvist took several hours apiece in their pleas to the jury. Judge Schibredre has taken several hours and is still talking and prosecuting Attorney Brown who is to finish for the prosecution hasn't been given a chance. It is expected that Judge Coke will hold an evening session tonight to try and get the case to the jury. Otherwise it may go over until Monday.

Garrison's chances of getting off on the insanity plea are considered slim by people who have been close attendants at the trial. The fact that an alienist from the State Asylum at Salem and that Garrison's aunt, also from near Salem, refused to testify that he was insane weakened this plea. The Salem expert testified that Garrison was a moral degenerate but knew right from wrong. His aunt testified he was the "black sheep" of the family and after numerous failures to reform him, his family had tried to forget him.

HARVARD AND YALE ARE TIE

Neither Score But "Rooters" Give Yale Decidedly Best of Contest.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 19.—Neither Yale or Harvard was able to score in the great annual football game between the two university teams here today, the final score being nothing to nothing.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

YALE FIELD, NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 19.—Yale came back today sufficiently to hold a stronger team to a scoreless tie for the first time in the history of the Yale field. The Harvard team was not quite aggressive enough to get to Yale's goal line, although in the last period the crimson had a good opportunity for a field goal from Yale's fifteen yard line. Harvard chose to rush and lost the ball immediately after on a fumble. This was the nearest Harvard came to scoring a few minutes later Yale by good kicking got the ball on Harvard's 35-yard line and in the last two minutes play Captain Daly failed at a field goal by twenty feet. Yale played a wonderful defensive game, but could make few gains in succession through the Harvard line. Close following of the game gave Yale the contest while Harvard followers were bitterly disappointed.

A man always feels as though he had been cheated out of some legitimate excitement when a girl's first kiss comes easy.

A good reputation is like a Paris hat; you have to sacrifice so much real comfort in order to live up to it.

In love, as in gambling, those who come to play remain to pray.

Many a man mistakes a girl's willingness to let him kiss her just once for love when it is merely curiosity.
