C. A. SMITH CO. LOSES.

The Roseburg Review says: According to a decision reached by the board of equalization, the C. A. Smith Timber Company, will be compelled to pay the assessment as levied by the county assessor. The latter was sustained by a unanimous vote of the board. The company protested against paying the assessment on their timber, plus $2 on the land. They contended that the land was worthless other than for its timber and therefore should not be taxed.
