THE OLD-TIME FRIEND.

I.
The singing' fire is a friend to you.
When the wind blows keen and high;
It brings the dreams and the sunset gleams
Of the sweetheart-days gone by.
It ever sings in the same sweet way
Of love that made winter wear smiles of May.

II.

So, the world's all right, like a ghost
In white.
When the wild storm-fiddles play,
For the fire sings of a thousand things
And you live again Love's day.
Still to the heart does the fire sing,
And the Winter world feels the joy of Spring.
Frank L. Stanton.

THE HEN IS A BIRD.

AFTER calling in the learned experts and worthy scientists, the United States court of customs appeals has decided that the hen is not a bird.

Evidently the court and the experts and the scientists at Washington do not know the hen as well as we do but here on Coos Bay, where we know its song and appreciate its lay. Here there isn't any doubt about the hen's being a bird. Any feathered thing, or unfeathered, as far as that is concerned, that can produce thousands of dollars of wealth a year in a single county like this is surely a bird.

If the judgment of the court of customs appeals is not final, we move an appeal from its findings.

AN EXPERT ON ADVERTISING.

L. B. ELLIOTT, an advertising specialist recently delivered an address on advertising from the retailer's standpoint in which he said:

"Every act that a business man does advertises him and his business—because a man cannot separate himself from his business in the public mind—either favorably or unfavorably. Whether he will or not, he must and does advertise in that way.

Where to Advertise.

"When you advertise you want to reach the people, all the people, the oldest inhabitant, the man who moved to town yesterday, the young couple just married, the young man or woman who has just earned the first dollar and is itching to spend it. You want them all, the rich, the poor, the door, from the cradle to the grave, and the only advertising medium that reaches them all the time is the newspaper.

"The newspaper has come to be a part of the life of the people. Every one of you wants to know what has been happening in your home town today, what has been happening in America, in Europe, in Asia. Newspapers cost so little and contain so much that every person who is alive and has a purchasing power worth considering reads the newspaper to get the news and to learn what to buy and where to buy it.

"Advertising has become so much a part of daily paper that the public has come to accept it as a source of valuable information—in other words, to consult the advertisements for information about buying. For these reasons the daily newspaper is the one place to advertise at a profit. "A newspaper advertisement has just two uses for the retail merchant—it is a source of information to the buying public, and it is a reminder. "These are the only things you need ever think of when preparing retail advertising for your newspaper space.

"If you can make your advertisement a real and interesting source of information the public will read and then will come and buy.

"Never advertise 'just to fill my space.' See that you offer goods that are reasonable and reasonable."

PLANT MAKES ANOTHER TRIP

Steamship Will Discontinue Coos Bay Run After Next Week.

Unless present plans are changed, the M. F. Plant will make only one more trip between San Francisco and Coos Bay. Word to this effect was brought by Agent F. S. Dow who returned from San Francisco today. She will be tied up at San Francisco for the present.

With the closing down of the Libby mine, the coal business which has been a big factor in the M. F. Plant's freight business ceases. The mine was owned and operated by the owners of the Plant. While there has not been much doing at Libby for over a year, the owners were until the present figuring on opening a new shaft.

The Plant will sail at 9:30 Friday morning for San Francisco.

She had a good trip up, making good time. She arrived off the bar at 5 o'clock this morning and the squall bothered her but little. Among those arriving on her were:

F. Older, E. Muedia, Mrs. Muedia, Miss Muedia, J. Wassen, E. D. Peck, W. C. Harris and daughter, Miss Burton, Miss Ryar, Miss E. Anderson, Mrs. A. Tully, J. M. Bains, L. W. Estes, H. Nasburg, Mrs. Nasburg, F. S. Dow, E. Lauterbach, W. Butler, E. Sandecker, J. Potter, J. Benner, V. Nicholson, J. Druedge, E. Olsen, E. Young, J. Johnson, A. Jackson, J. Galon and A. S. Sousa.

AT THE THEATRE.

"The Battle," which will be the bill at the Masonic Opera House Saturday, January 28, bids fair to join the brief list of plays whose success is perennial.

It is now in its sixth season, a remarkable record for any play, and indications are that before the public tires of it, it will have played as many times as "The Old Homestead" or "In Old Kentucky."

The Battle is no novelty. It is merely a strong, clean interesting play of American life with no problem, no suggestive lines, no false sentiment, no "Smart Set" and no women with a past. It is a play fit for the youngest theatre-goer, and the oldest theatre-goer will enjoy taking that same youngster to see it. One of the features of the play is the great railroad scene.

A new scenic outfit has been prepared for the presentation of this delightful comedy drama of American life.

Owing to the objections, Manager Bernell has decided not to play the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures in Marshfield.
