

Let Us Talk It Over

You know how differently the strong, vigorous person looks upon life and its opportunities from the weak and anemic one who, because of that weakness, is susceptible to discouragement and despondency. The vigorous person laughs at obstacles before which the weak one hesitates and shrinks. And the dividing line between these two conditions is often the blood. The bad blood was good blood once and can be made so again by the use of ARCH SARSAPARILLA, OREGON GRAPE AND CASCARA COMPOUND. This remedy possesses great curative qualities in cases arising from an impure condition of the blood.

POSTOFFICE HAS TROUBLES

If You Are Disappointed About Delayed Mails Read Postmasters' Worries.

People who are disappointed at the non-arrival of the mail these days may fancy that the postoffice force is enjoying a vacation with nothing to do. Postmaster Curtis and Deputy Frank Sumner and the General Delivery clerks could quickly convince them of the error. A half day behind the different windows would be proof that all is not one radiant smile and life a grand sweet song for Uncle Sam's postal employes.

Here are a few of the kicks and kuteness, cross questions and certified answers:

"No mail again today! What's the matter with you fellows anyhow?"

"Guess we'll have to get a new postmaster."

"I think if we had competition it would improve the service."

"When will the mail arrive? Don't know? Well, that's funny. What are you here for?"

"Wonder if the mail will reach here before the next boat leaves for Portland? I am expecting a letter but must leave on that boat."

Even when the mail is regular and on time there are a few questions to be answered. Here are a few:

"Is it all distributed?" Yes."

"Well, there is nothing in my box."

The next one in line merely stands there, says nothing, does nothing, and upon inquiry, says "I want our mail," which of course is a very definite request when there are 5,000 people in the town and the inquirer is unknown to the clerk.

"Hey, Postmaster, gimme the cash for this. I want gold, too, no paper money for me."

"Can't cash it? Well, why in—won't you?"

"Wells, Fargo Express order."

"Of course it is, but aren't they good in a post office as well as anywhere else?"

"Say, I just dropped in a post card without a stamp. Here's a penny, stick it on for me, my wife's waiting supper."

"How do you get from here to the County road? Speak louder, I am a little deaf."

"What was this notice, 'Postage Due,' put in my box for? Letter arrived for me overweight? Well, why didn't they pay for it at the other end?"

"What was this paper in my box for? Notice of a registered letter for my husband? Well, I'll take it right along? Can't without his signature? Well, I never heard of such a thing!"

"Say, my weekly paper from Enid, Oklahoma, has the wrapper torn and is soaking wet and you have stamped on it 'Received in bad order.' How did it get torn, anyway?"

"Postmaster, day before yesterday I sent a letter to Chicago ordering some things and they have not got here yet."

"Three thousand miles away, may take several days."

"Yes, sure, I know that, but aren't they running fast mail trains now, when the mail leaves Portland?"

"Please stick this stamp on my letter. You know I am so nervous about microbes now that I do not like to lick stamps any more myself."

"Mr. Postmaster, Mr. Postmaster, please give me my mail. I am in such a hurry that I do not want to stop and open the box."

She is handed her mail. Then she says:

"Oh well, guess you can put it back in the box and I will call for it tonight."

"I want a one-cent stamp and won't you put it on this card, I have on my gloves and a veil?"

"Thank you so much!"

Then she passes in a $20 gold piece.

"You can't change it?"

"Have given out $50 of silver since the bank closed."

"Why, I thought post offices always kept lots of change. Oh, well, if you simply can not change it, here is a penny, but you know I thought banks kept open until five o'clock and when I came down at 32 minutes after three and read on the door 'Bank closes at 3 p. m. sharp' I rattled the door and the mean old thing would not let me in. So I thought perhaps you would change my $20 gold piece if I bought some stamps. Of course, I know that a one-cent stamp is not many, but it is all I need."

"Say, Mr. Postmaster, please let me see my mail again. I thought I saw a letter from my cousin in there. She is not my real cousin, either, only we call each other 'cousin' and it is so funny because we do not look alike either," etc.

When a Postmaster has put in twelve hours' work in a post office he certainly has done a day's work.

DAIRYMEN TO UNITE.

Coquille Valley Men form Stock Company for Creamery.

COQUILLE, Ore., Jan. 28. — A meeting of the dairymen of this part of the valley was held at the W.O.W. hall Wednesday forenoon for the purpose of incorporating a company to operate the O. K. creamery plant. It was decided to incorporate for $5,000 and sell shares of stock to raise the required amount of cash to perfect the organization of the company.

Articles of incorporation have been drawn up and J. D. Graham, C. E. McCurdy, W. H. Hull, W. S. Jess and W. G. Mehl were appointed to circulate the subscription blanks.

The dairymen propose to buy Mr. People's interest in the supplies, etc., in the O. K. and lease the plant for one year.

Makes Statement.

Manager Geo. E. Peoples, of the O. K. Cooperative Creamery, has just compiled a report of the total business transacted by that company during the year 1910, and an itemized statement of the business since March 1, 1910, and ending December 31, 1910.

According to the books of the company there was a total of 154,937 pounds of butter manufactured during the year, with a value of $48,192.10. The cheese made amounted to 72,342 pounds and was worth $11,126.04, a total value of $59,317.14 for butter and cheese.

The total amount paid for butter fat was $42,127.64, averaging 34.97 cents per pound.

CURRY COUNTY NEWS.

Events There As Told By the Gold Beach Globe.

It is reported that the steamer Bandon will place Port Orford on her schedule from Bandon to San Francisco, making that port twice a month.

Owing to the inclement weather and the condition of the school-room, the primary department of this school was dismissed last week.

Jas. S. Kennedy started yesterday for a visit to his Grandmother, who lives near San Francisco. Mr. Kennedy says his grandmother is almost 100 years old, but is enjoying good health and is able to do her own work.

Austin Ralph started, from his home on Pistol river a few days ago with a wagon load of fresh pork and had the misfortune to break his wagon. This was a great disappointment to the town folks, as the pork had been previously engaged.

Reuben Ralph and C. R. Snyder came in from their Hunters creek homesteads last week. They report a small band of elk has taken up quarters on their places, ranging with their horses. They are very proud of their newly made friends, and treat them with the greatest of courtesy, and will protect them to the limit of the law, should any one attempt to harm any of them.

MAKES PROMPT SETTLEMENT.

Insurance On North Bend Hotel Is Quickly and Satisfactorily Adjusted.

J. J. Richardson of Portland, adjuster for the Northern Insurance Co., of London, yesterday completed the work of adjustment of the insurance on the Hotel North Bend with Robert Marsden Sr. Mr. Richardson paid Mr. Marsden $3,000 the full amount of the policy. Mr. Marsden expressed himself highly pleased at the prompt and courteous manner in which the settlement was made and is enthusiastic in his praise of the company and the local agent of the company Mr. Arthur McKeown through whom the insurance was placed and the business transacted.
