ARRIVE TODAY ON REDONDO

Steamship In Early This Morning From San Francisco and San Pedro.

The Redondo arrived in this morning from San Francisco and San Pedro after a fast trip up the coast. She had a good passenger list and about four hundred tons of freight.

The Redondo will sail at 9 o'clock Saturday morning for San Francisco. Among those arriving on her were the following:

W. E. Dungan, W. A. Morris, J. J. Morris, Geo. H. Rotnor, Mrs. F. E. Hague, F. E. Hague, A. E. Neff, W. P. Murphy, I. C. Faller, Mary J. Elrod, C. K. Perry, J. F. Strong, M. E. Brownell, J. N. Warren, R. A. Jones, Mrs. R. A. Jones, Thomas Jones, Ray Jones, Annie Jones, Jim Jones, Margaret Jones, Burdee Jones, W. C. Guerin, B. B. Taylor, A. C. Richart, and ten steerage.

WHOLE COAST WILL BENEFIT

Panama Exposition and Panama Canal Expected to Help Greatly.

"The opening of the Panama canal and the Panama exposition and the great benefits the entire Pacific coast will derive from both of them are about the only topics of conversation in San Francisco now," remarked Colby Perry of Perry-Montgomery company who returned today on the Redondo from the south.

"All San Francisco is still elated over the victory in the House. "No, I didn't hear any definite railroad news about Coos Bay at San Francisco. The best railroad news I heard was that the Panama canal would take away so much of the bulky freight from the railroads that the railroads will be glad to extend to every nook and corner to get business of any kind. One San Francisco manufacturer who now receives over two hundred carloads of freight from New York and other Atlantic points told me that he would not have a pound come by the railroads when the canal is finished because he can get it by water for one-fourth what the railroad rate now is. He estimated that fully one hundred thousand carloads a year of San Francisco freight would be diverted from the railroads to the Panama canal route.

"Business prospects are mighty good because every one appears to have emerged from the waiting stage and are now going ahead with all their energies.

LOCAL GLEANINGS

THE WEATHER.

(By Associated Press.) OREGON, Feb. 8.—Fair to night and Thursday.

BORN.

GREVES—To Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Greves of North Bend, Wednesday morning, February 8, a nine-pound boy. Mother and child are doing well and the father, who is cashier of the First National Bank of North Bend, says the financial situation never looked brighter than today. He says the youngster is all gold and 24 carats fine.

Meet Tonight.—Marshfield lodge of Elks will meet tonight to initiate a candidate or two and transact other business.

Due Tonight.—The Breakwater will reach here tonight at 10 o'clock from Astoria, according to word received by Agent Miller today.

Bar Traffic.—According to Hank Diers, the traffic across the Coos Bay bar during the year 1910 was 338,000 tons. In 1896, the traffic amounted to 144,935 tons and in 1906 to 184,445 tons.

Leases Storage.—F. S. Dow has leased a portion of the Cold Storage company's cold rooms and is planning to add several new lines to his commission business including oysters and other cold storage products.

Children Ill.—The three-year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Will Chapman of West Marshfield who has been very ill, was taken to Mercy hospital at North Bend yesterday. Their son, Ignatius, who has been sick is improving.

No Official Advice.—Postmaster W. B. Curtis has not been officially advised that the postoffice department has discontinued printing envelopes. However, newspaper reports announce that Postmaster General Hitchcock has so decided.

Figure on Site.—The projectors of the new milk condensary are now figuring on a site. Whether to locate it in Marshfield or on Coos River near the creamery is being debated. Some want it in the city so that it will be better located to get milk from the various inlets and also from the Coquille valley by train. It will be decided soon, probably.

Visit at Eugene.—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Conners of the Cottage Grove Leader, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Lundy, of Myrtle Point, spent Friday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Cochran, returning to Cottage Grove yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Lundy was formerly Miss Laura Jones and was the first lady editor in the state, being connected with the Nonpareil at Drain for a long time.—Eugene Register.

Mill Decaying.—The Courtney mill, one of the most complete little mills ever built in this section and one that is unique because it was closed down by creditors before it ever cut a log, is now going to pieces. It has been in litigation since just prior to its litigation and now a case involving it is being heard in the Oregon Supreme Court. Part of the roof is reported to have fallen in, leaving the machinery to the mercy of the elements.

BIG SHIPMENT FOR HAINES.

Flour and Feed Dealer Gets Most of Freight On Redondo. A. T. Haines, the well-known Marshfield flour and feed man, today received a big cargo of hay, flour and feed on the Redondo. In fact, his shipments is said to have constituted a large share of the incoming freight on the Redondo. The demand for his hay, flour and feed is growing as rapidly that he has to receive shipments nearly every week to supply the local demand.

BIG BANQUET LINCOLN DAY

Initial Observation in Coos County Promises to Be Big Success.

The Lincoln banquet to be held at Hotel Chandler Saturday evening gives promise of being one of the most successful events ever given in the city. The committee on arrangements have been busy this week with elaborate preparations. There will be addresses by a number of the leading professional and business men of the city and some from out of town. Good delegations are expected from Bandon, Myrtle Point and Coquille to attend what will be the first Lincoln day celebration ever held in Coos county.

The program committee has not completed its work but already has assurance of a sufficient number of speakers to insure an interesting list of after dinner addresses.

Tickets will be placed on sale at the Chandler tomorrow morning and as the number of tickets are limited those desiring seats should make their reservations as promptly as possible to avoid disappointment. The dinner is limited to gentlemen only.
