LIFE.

When all is done, human life is, at the greatest and the best, but like a forward child that must be played with and humored a little to keep it quiet till it falls asleep, and then the care is over.—Sir William Temple.

It matters not how many miles, but how he lives.—Samuel Johnson.

Does man love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of.—Benjamin Franklin.

The winds and waves are always on the side of the ablest navigators.—Edward Gibbon.

When her child is in danger a woman will risk her life to protect it. No great act of heroism or risk of life is necessary to protect a child from croup. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and all danger is avoided. For sale by all dealers.

STAY HOME AND HELP YOUR TOWN

It Is the Duty of All to Do What We Can.

CITY NO PLACE TO LIVE.

Overcrowded, Unhealthful Metropolitan Centers Have Little Room For Country Youth—Your Own Town Has Larger Prospects.

By JAMES SCHREIBER, Jr. As one who long in populous city pent, Where houses thick and sewers annoy the air.

—From "Paradise Lost." It was ever thus and will no doubt ever be so—the city, where houses thick and sewers annoy the air; where the sun's rising and setting are seen by few unless by chance; where the moon is forgotten, being undistinguished from the dull glare of the electric lamps swinging above the street; where people are confined in tenements and small roomed apartments; where souls are huddled together, all striving to beat their neighbors to a phantom goal—riches; where guileless wanderers come from afar and become lost in the mire of failure.

Or any success is attained—that is, a moderate success, for one in a hundred reaches the topmost rung. Is it worth striving for? Doesn't your own town show more advantages? The city is a fascinating place.

The height of ambition of most of the people living outside the big centers of population seems to be to visit New York, Chicago or other large places. Visit them all to your heart's content, but don't make your home in one of them.

A great city is no place for the ambitious youth who wishes to become a power where he lives. A clerk in a country store can do more with his salary than a manager of some of the stores in the city.

The small town has advantages which you can see if you will, but take your eyes off that mirage, the city. The duty of the average youth lies in the town of his birth or adoption. Instead of wanting to quit it yourself, you should try to induce city people to come and live with you. Show them where they can benefit by so doing. Help increase the population of your town in this way. Tell them that you are a big family, not a lot of strangers to one another, as they are. Speak of the good times you indulge in that the city people never enjoy.

There are thousands of people cooped up in the cities who if they are brought face to face with the beauties of the small town will come to you and help you grow.

By the recent census it was proved that in Missouri wherever a town showed a decrease in population it was due to the lack of good roads. This neglect will have a demoralizing effect on any community. People who otherwise would reach your town will avoid it if the roads are in poor condition. Some of your own people will pack up after awhile and leave in disgust.

The same might be said if the town itself presents a slovenly appearance or if it shows a lack of civic pride.

But the place that shines out in civic improvement, whose streets and roads show that the people are up and doing, will be the gainer by its neighbor's neglect.

To Build Beautiful Market.

In Glen Ridge, N. J., a village market, a unique and pretty feature of modern suburban improvement, is to be erected at the corner of Bloomfield avenue and Herman street. It is part of a general plan for the beautification of the borough and protection against the erection of unsightly structures. The main building will have six stores, each 24 by 40 feet, with offices on the second floor, a suit having already been reserved for borough officials and the borough council chamber. The buildings will be of light brick and have a red tile roof. The stores will be in an arcade. The borough of Glen Ridge is now without a single store, not even a drug store being located within the limits of the municipality of over 3,000 inhabitants.

Cities Destroy.

Cities always destroy; they never produce. The city sits like a parasite on the face of the country absorbing its best. The country always contributes to the city, the city never to the country. The cities could not exist but for the country. We have developed the city civilization beyond that of the country.—Professor Bailey.

A Quick Thinking Advertiser.

It happened in Topeka. Three clothing stores are on the same block. One morning the middle proprietor saw to the right of him a big sign, "Bankrupt Sale," and to the left, "Closing Out at Cost." Twenty minutes later there appeared over his own door in large letters, "Main Entrance."—Everybody's Magazine.

One Way to Keep Trade.

There is none who has greater opportunity to make friends than the clerk in the store, and to him friends are valuable. Never consider any one a bore who is a customer of the place. It is quite as easy to be good natured and smiling as to be short, crisp and frowning.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength in building up the constitution and restorative nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The One Dish Diet. A food specialist said of dieting: "The simplest, easiest and most efficacious diet to bring down the weight is the one dish diet. At no meal, that is, should more than one dish be eaten.

"The dish may be what you will—Irish stew, macaroni and cheese, roast beef, vegetable soup, bacon and eggs—but no courses are to precede or follow it. You may eat as much as you choose of the dish, and yet for all that you will lose weight steadily.

"It's the variety of dishes—the oysters, soup, fish, turkey, mince pie, ice cream—it's the variety of dishes, creating an artificial appetite when the body has really had all it requires, that causes corpulence. If we confine ourselves to one dish we know when we've had enough—we don't know otherwise—and the result is that we soon drop down to the slimmest natural to children, animals and temperate and healthy men and women."

He Started the Trouble. Mrs. Johnson had begun to learn French and was gleefully informing her husband of the rapid progress she was making in her studies.

"I'm afraid," remarked Johnson, "that you'll soon grow tired. I've known people tackle a foreign tongue, expecting to know all about it in a few weeks, but before they have mastered even the rudiments their enthusiasm has evaporated and they have given up the task as hopeless."

"Oh, that's not the case with me," declared Mrs. Johnson confidently. "I am getting on splendidly, and Professor Dubois says I shall soon begin to think in French."

"Well," the husband murmured, "I won't interpose any further objection, and I shall be glad when you are able to think in French. It will be something you have been unable to do in any other language."

Twain's Most Quoted Witticism. Of all the witty things said or written by Mark Twain no phrase has been quoted oftener than his reply to an alarmist report, "Rumor of my death greatly exaggerated." I think the history of this bonnet, says a correspondent, may interest. Mark Twain was on a visit to London some years ago and had been secured as the chief guest of a dinner to be given by a literary club. On the morning of the day when the dinner was to take place the secretary was shocked to hear a rumor that Mark Twain had died suddenly. At his wife's end, he sought to verify it by a diplomatic note to Mrs. Clemens, in which he mentioned the rumor. Mark Twain got hold of the note and telegraphed the now famous reply, "Rumor of my death greatly exaggerated."

The Fleur-de-lis. The fleur-de-lis, the well known emblem of France, is said to have been brought from heaven by an angel to King Clovis, he having made a vow that if he proved victorious in an impending battle with the Alemanni near Cologne he would embrace Christianity. It was the national emblem until the revolution of 1790, when the tricolor (white, red and blue) was adopted. The royalists in 1871 tried to restore the old emblem to the flag, but without success.—New York American.
