project opposite the city and then would arrange bulkheads to hold it, they would be glad to pump it when the dredge returns from the Coquille next fall.

Councilman Albrecht thought that the government should furnish the estimate of the amount of dirt to be removed from the channel opposite the city and then he said it would be easy to arrange for the rest of it.

Dr. E. Mings thought the same, saying the government had the figures which it would be expensive for the city to obtain.

Mr. Albrecht suggested that the Chamber of Commerce be asked to assist in getting the property owners on the lowlands to unite and have the dredge fill as much of it as possible, saying that it would help the whole city to have the swamps between the business district and West Marshfield and South Marshfield filled.

Councilman Coke said that he and City Physician Mings had gone over the matter a year ago and decided that the best thing to do would be to put a bulkhead along Hall avenue and have all of Railroad addition north of it filled. He said if there was enough dredgings to fill all of it, it should be spread out and thus improve the sanitary condition of the marsh.

Finally the matter was referred to the street committee to take up with Mr. Leefe.

Little Talks on Advertising

TALK No. 6

The unawake merchant often wonders how some rival "can afford to spend so much money for advertising." He is sure that he could not—that it would bankrupt him in short order to "plunge" into publicity on the scale that the other fellow does.

"The other fellow is not worrying about the cost" of his advertising, for the simple reason that he doesn't have to pay it. The competitor who cannot "afford" to advertise, really, in effect, pays the bills of the man who can "afford" it.

He pays them in the loss of business caused by his failure to advertise. The business he ought to have—his "share" of the trade in his line—goes in large part, to the competitor who seeks it, who can afford to advertise for it. The profits on the trade drawn away from the timid advertiser by the aggressive one pays the latter's advertising bills—and leaves a comfortable surplus.

This is a fact which progressive merchants are proving all the time—so it ought to have some personal significance to the overcautious business men who are waiting to get rich before "risking" adequate advertising campaigns.

committee has time to investigate the streets.

Notice of intention to improve the part of Fourth street between Donnelly and Elrod by planking the new fill was given. The Merchant & Preuss estates which own all the abutting property will be given the opportunity to do it by private contract.

Routine Business.

The acceptance by W. S. Chandler of the franchise granted him a short time ago for installing a Central heating plant at Fourth and Central avenue was ordered filed.

Hugh McLain was ordered paid $343 on his Eleventh street contract, the street having been accepted sometime ago.

City Recorder Butler was authorized to secure such additional help as he needed for recording all the old ordinances of the city in a permanent record. The ordinances have not been recorded since 1889.

Hugh McLain was ordered to re-fill the low places on Donnelly avenue where the grade had sunken under the winter rains, the same to be done in April. He is to be allowed pay for the extra fill. The fill was not planked last fall, it being realized that it would settle considerably.

The report of G. W. Kaufman who audited the city's records for the past year was ordered received and placed on file.

The council adjourned to meet March 7 when the current bills will be allowed. After that another meeting will probably not be held for three or four weeks.

Tom Howard was given permission to erect a large clock on an iron post on the curb line in front of his North Front street jewelry store. The clock will have two dials and will weigh about 900 pounds.

City Attorney Goss was instructed to prepare an ordinance prohibiting the showing of moving pictures of prize fights or obscene views. In this connection Councilman Coppel said he had been informed that the jewd women were now scattered around the city and were becoming very bold in their operations. Nothing was done about the latter.

Remodel Engine House.

Chief Traver of the Marshfield Fire Department asked that the council authorize improvements in the city hall building to provide for the new fire engine. He said that some of the work could be done by Engineer Stutman. He suggested that the entire front be torn out, the present stairway leading to the second floor taken out and two entrances be made—one for the old engine and one for the new. A stairway leading to the second floor could be put along the side of the building, he said. Furthermore, he said he would like to see the city get a team to haul the new engine. He said that a team and driver could also be used for cleaning the city streets.

Councilman Powers said that his understanding was when the new engine was bought that there was room for it without remodeling.

Councilman Savage favored remodeling the building as suggested by Mr. Traver.

It was referred to the fire and water committee.

Want Sewer.

City Physician Mings was present and said that something ought to be done to improve the sanitary condition of Lapp's addition which is very bad. This tract lies north of Alder and east of Broadway and is below the present sewer system. He suggested that a new sewer system be built for it. The matter was referred to the health committee.

To Improve Streets.

Councilman Savage reported that Curtiss avenue from South Broadway to Fourth street and Fourth street south of Central avenue needed improving. He said that Commissioner Lawhorne stated the old planking was nearly worn out and the expense of repairs was considerable. It was suggested that the two streets be repaired by merely putting new planking on top of the present ones, the cost of same to be assessed to the abutting property owners by giving them five days notice. However, no action was taken until Chairman Powers of the street thought the new grade which is between two and three feet above the planking was the proper one because the high tides come almost up to the present planking. He said that it had been intended to raise the grade of all of Front street, but owing to the permanent buildings on some of it, nothing could be done. However, on North Front street, there are no permanent buildings and he thought it could be raised now to advantage. He said that if it could be filled by the dredge, the cost of raising it would be slight, but that if they had to pay for hauling in the dirt by team, he thought that perhaps an eleven-foot grade instead of a twelve foot grade would do.

Henry Sengstacken favored the eleven-foot grade.

Finally the matter was referred to the street committee to look up, it being found that there was no rush about the grade as the bulkhead can be put in without having this grade established.
