One Man Can't

Know Everything

This is true in the complex art of electrical production and application.

One kind of expert knowledge is demanded of the dynamo manufacturer; another kind is required of the man who keeps the machines running. Illumination has developed a science of its own. Electric power, in its larger uses calls for years of study and training.

When we advertise that we have experts competent to investigate power needs of any size and variety, and to give authoritative advice, we mean just what we say.

The Byllesby organization includes engineers capable of grappling with the biggest kinds of electrical installations. There are men for all phases and angles of the electrical industry.

The entire staff is at the call of every operating company. Although the man wanted in a particular emergency may be a thousand miles away, his services are to be obtained as soon as the railroads can bring him.
