LOCAL GLEANINGS

THE WEATHER.

(By Associated Press.)
OREGON, Mar. 29.—Fair to night and Thursday.

A WEATHER NOTE.

First a drizzle
Then a sizzle
Then a lot of raining
Then so foggy
'Twould chill a doggy
And makes loud complaining.

Comes some sunlight
Which makes one bright
For a day or two, so;
Public fooling
Hopes all pooling
That a week 'twill do so

Then a sudden
Roads deep mud in,
Shows a night's mean working
Proves declivity
Past believing
In the dark clouds lurking.

Month uncertain
With its curtain
Now gray, now white as starch
Sudden crises
Quick surprises
Oh, you Coos Bay March!

Enjoy Picnic.—A number of Marshfield women are enjoying a picnic today at the home of Mrs. C. A. Schibrede.

Concert Sunday.—The Coos Bay Concert Band will give a concert in the Marshfield city park next Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Picnic Saturday.—The Eighth Grade pupils of the Marshfield schools will hold their annual picnic next Saturday at Charleston.

Services Thursday.—The Lenten Services at the Episcopal church will be held tomorrow (Thursday) night instead of this evening as was erroneously announced yesterday.

Hearing Today.—Today, one of the first hearings in the bankruptcy proceedings of the North Bend Mercantile company is in progress before Judge Schibrede, referee in bankruptcy.

Electric Power.—Krusse & Banks have just installed some new machinery with electric power drive in their North Bend plant. The Marshfield Hand and Steam Laundry have also closed a contract substituting electricity for steam throughout their establishment.

Cows do Damage.—South Marshfield resident are righteously up in arms over the depredations of cows running loose in that section. Gardens and lawns are trampled, generally during the night and residents who try to save their spring labors and beauty of their yards are compelled to do a "night shirt" parade every once in a while. E. S. Bargelt has been the latest sufferer. A city ordinance provides a severe penalty for allowing cows to run at large and people who are advocating a "City Beautiful" by tearing down yard fences and beautifying lawns are urging that the city take steps to rigidly enforce the ordinance.
