BANDON MARSHFIELD

WHERE SAIL MEETS RAIL

WHISPERS FROM THE WATERFRONT ABOUT SHIPS AND SAILORS; THEIR CARES AND CONCERNS.

There has been no more interesting announcement for some time than the intimation that the Hamburg-American company are to build a large cargo liner whose twin propellers will be driven by oil engines. It suggests that longstanding contest between the gas engine and the oil engine as a means of marine propulsion is pretty well concluded. The new vessel, which is to be 400 feet long, 52 feet 6 inches wide and 25 feet 6 inches deep, with tonnage of 8,000 tons, will be fitted with two Diesel engines, each of 500 horse power.

I wonder if you noticed that press dispatch in The Times the other day telling of the speed of 49 knots per hour made by the motor-boat Mapie Leaf in London. This is claimed as the world's record. When it is remembered that a knot is about 80 feet more than a statute mile it will be seen that this is certainly "going some."

Germany has a continuing ship-building policy, authorized by the Reichstag and extending to the year 1917. For 1911 there are authorized 3 battleships, 1 armored cruiser, 2 cruisers, 2 destroyers. Eventually strength to consist of 35 battleships, 20 armored cruisers, 33 cruisers, 144 destroyers.

There used to be a master of a schooner on this coast who had so much Puritan blood in his veins that his parents named him "Repent-or-be-damned Smith" and quite frequently some called him for short "Repent Smith," and quite frequently some called him the other thing. There was an old time salt who went by the name of "Preserved Fish," what his other name was no one seemed to know.

Speaking of names reminds me of the fact that there are many masters of vessels by the name of "Johnson" running along this coast and occasionally they are in here to the number of four or five. In order to designate them they are individually nicknamed by the other sailor men: "Slabwood," "Cordwood," "Single Reef," "Double Reef," "Roughie," "Jinglebell," and "Whiskers" Johnson.

Steamship companies carrying via the Panama railroad have been bucking the government's traffic rates over that line, but Uncle Sam has made them come through by threatening to deprive them of the right to use the road, the Panama railroad company having given notice of its termination in April of the present arrangement by which 70 per cent of the through rate has been allowed to steamers in the coastwise trade.

"Old Dan" Webster, a character well known to the mariners coming to this port from California and whose life was spent along the bay city's waterfront, died suddenly at Callao, recently. He had so many escapes from death that some thought he possessed the proverbial nine lives of a cat; others said he couldn't be killed, and some thought he'd never die, but he did.

BOON.

FITZGERALD.—To Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fitzgerald of South Marshfield, a son, at Mercy hospital in North Bend, Friday, April 7. This is their first son and Mr. Fitzgerald is the proudest papa Coos Bay has known in a long time.

Was Insured.—The house of Ed. Hansen at Empire which was destroyed by fire was insured for $1,000 in the Royal Insurance company.

Meet Monday.—The Port of Coos Bay Commission will meet Monday to take up the matter of dredging Kentuck Inlet and other business.

Circuit Court.—The adjourned term of court will be convened at Coquille a week from Monday. Judge J. S. Coke expects to return from Portland where he has been assisting the circuit judges, the middle of next week.

May Come Here.—August Frizeen has received a letter from I. N. Thompson of Kelso, Wash., in which he states there is great interest here in this section. A large number want to come here and locate on small farms, ten acre tracts especially. He has asked for literature about this section.

Gets Results.—"Take out that want ad. I have all the chickens I want," said Emerson Ferry to The Times this morning. After trying in vain for some time to get some setting hens, Mr. Ferry thought of The Times want column. He placed an adv. in the other day and quickly supplied his wants. That's the usual experience. The Times want ads get the results.

To Visit China.—Mrs. Gow Why and a cousin of her husband will leave on the Redondo tomorrow for San Francisco where she will visit the most of the summer. Le Poi, the cousin who recently came to the Bay, will return soon and be associated with Gow Why in business. When his wife returns, Gow Why plans to leave his business here in charge of her and Le Poi while he visits his old home in China. His first trip back to the Celestial Kingdom in over twenty years.

Have Typhoid.—Mrs. Grace Gould-Woodruff, matron of the Home hospital who was taken sick of typhoid fever a couple of days ago, was this afternoon taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. Richmond at Coquille, where there will be no noise to endanger her condition. It is feared that she is in for a severe siege of the fever. Mr. Morris, a brother of the Kansas youth who died here a couple of weeks ago from typhoid fever, is now ill of typhoid at the Home hospital. He has been resting a little easier the last day or two but his condition is still rather critical.

Is Improving.—Telegrams from Portland state that Dr. Houseworth who underwent an operation there a few days ago for appendicitis continues to improve rapidly.

Has Appendicitis.—Mayor L. D. Kinney is suffering from an attack of chronic appendicitis. He had a bad day of it yesterday but was reported somewhat better today. He is at his home at Plat B.

Wants Reward.—It is stated that R. J. Huggard, the complaining witness again Geo. W. King, in the meat case, is now endeavoring to bring action to collect the $1,000 reward that King offered to anyone proving he had sold bad meat for human food.

Promotes Mine.—J. H. Somers, formerly a Coos Bay railroad promoter, but who recently has been interested in the Gage mine operations on the Coquille is expected here tonight from Coquille. It is stated that they have straightened out the financial complications over the mine and will resume operations on a larger scale than ever.

Gets Diploma.—Geo. Beale is in receipt of a diploma awarded him at the twenty-fifth annual fruit exposition of the Oregon Horticultural society in Portland last fall for the best exhibit of Coos county apples. Mr. Beale is justly proud of it which is a little token in appreciation of the efforts put forth by Mr. Beale to advance the Coos Bay country.

Some Fine Calves.—Stephen Rogers has a bunch of the finest thoroughbred calves at his Coos River ranch that were ever seen in Coos County. They are all full blood or near full blood Holsteins and are pronounced by cattlemen who have seen them to be prize winners in appearance. A limited number of them are for sale.

WILL GIVE CANTATA.

Baptist Church Choir Plans Entertainment for Monday Night. On Monday evening at the Baptist church the large chorus choir, which has been slightly augmented for the occasion will present the sacred cantata entitled "The Galilean". The chorus is in charge of C. J. Mills which assures the success of the concert.

It is not a concert in the common use of the term. It is the intention of the service to simply present the life of Jesus as it must have appeared to those among whom he walked and talked from day to day.

The price of admission will be the good will of the public plus a generous offering at the close. It is desired that children will be accompanied by their parents.

The singers who have so faithfully given their service and interest to prepare this helpful evening, the theme of which is the greatest gift to the world—Jesus—, have decided that the most fitting manner to show an appreciation of such an evening will be also by a gift from the people.

WILL LECTURE SUNDAY.

"Social Settlement, Slum and Rescue Work and Midnight Missions," will be the subject of Miss Michener's talk on Sunday, April 9, at 3 p. m., at the Presbyterian church. All are invited to attend.

Framed pictures at reduced prices.—Walker Studio.
