THE APPLE'S ANCESTRAL TREE.

The most valuable fruit tree in the temperate zones is the apple. Pyrus malus, the parent tree of the thousands of varieties that are known in orchards, was probably a native of the northwestern Himalayas, and the genus is represented in North America by five small trees and two shrubs. The first of the species is the familiar wild crab apple, a tree of elegant habit, with large and fragrant flowers which do not appear until after the blossoms of other apples have fallen. The fruit is still more fragrant, and it hangs on long stems and remains on the branches until after the leaves have dropped. The southern crab (pyrus angustifolia) is still more beautiful, indeed it is not surpassed in beauty by any of the smaller North America trees when in early spring it lights up the gloom of the pine forests with its bright flowers. The Oregon crab (pyrus rivularis) resembles the first named, and its fruit has a pleasant sub-acid flavor. Pyrus Americanus is the American mountain ash, a tree which reaches its best development on the northern shores of lakes Huron and Superior. It is often planted for its ornamental fruit, but it is not so handsome as pyrus sambucifolia, another species, which is distinguished among all the race for its large and brilliant fruit. It develops its beauties to the full in northern Vermont and New Hampshire, in Wisconsin and Minnesota, its glittering fruit making it a most conspicuous and beautiful object in autumn and early winter.—Green's Home Companion.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By all applications as they do not reach the affected portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by our special treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the middle ear, and our treatment is to destroy the inflammation. When this is done, you will hear again. This is not a theory, but a fact. We have cured thousands of cases. Write for our special treatment. Dr. J. H. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists.

WRITERS ABOUT LOTS.

J. P. Morris Wants to Know About Plat B Values.

SAN JOSE, Cal., April 18.—Editor Coos Bay Times—I wish to write a few lines for publication, in your paper in regard to the general confused state of affairs at Plat B. My tax records show that my property at Plat B is assessed at ($75) seventy-five dollars per lot, and according to information sent me, the man that assessed my property swore under oath it was only worth thirteen dollars ($13) per lot. After giving this evidence on the stand, it is stated he assessed it at seventy-five dollars per lot, as before. What is the matter with him; he looked all right when I last saw him, has he like the water system gone to the bow wow's? In regard to the witness that put the value of the property at one hundred dollars per acre, it puts me as well as himself in anything but a favorable light to Mr. Isaacs, my former partner, as agents of Plat B property, we sold it like hot cakes at two hundred and fifty, three hundred and fifty and five hundred dollars per lot. I believed it was worth it, otherwise I should not have sold it. I believed it them, I have believed it every day since, and I believe it now, more than ever. If Mr. Isaacs believed it was worth only one hundred dollars per acre, and sold it, jointly with me, at the prices I have quoted, then I feel very sorry for him indeed.

J. P. MORRIS, 349 S. Fifth street San Jose, Cal.
