STEAMER HAZEL DOLLAR IS FAST AGROUND IN PUGET SOUND

Big Lumber Carrier Which Took Part of Cargo Here Runs Ashore In Fog.

POSITION TODAY IS REPORTED PERILOUS

Was Departing From Everett For Hong Kong With Full Cargo at Time.

(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times.)

SEATTLE, Wash., May 3. — The steamer Hazel Dollar which sailed from Everett for Hankow, China, with lumber went ashore at Possession Point, Whidby Island, last night and is in a dangerous position. The Hazel Dollar went ashore in thick weather and a high tide and the ebb tide left her hard and fast on a sandy bottom. The vessel is in still water and the owners are sending barges to take off her cargo. It is now believed she can be floated without trouble when the cargo is moved, an operation which may take a week or more. The boat is not leaking.

PARTLY LOADED HERE.

Hazel Dollar Took on Major Portion of Cargo on Coos Bay.

The Hazel Dollar, which is ashore at Puget Sound, is the big lumber carrier which took on 2,250,000 of lumber at the Smith mill here two weeks ago. She went to Puget Sound to complete her cargo for China. She was the biggest vessel that ever entered Coos Bay. Capt. B. W. Olson piloted her in and out and she did not encounter the slightest trouble here.

The news of her bad luck at Puget Sound will be regretted by the many friends that Melville Dollar, one of the owners, and Capt. Penoyne and the other officers made during her stay here.

She was to take part of her next cargo from here, also.

LICENSE NOW $800 A YEAR

Marshfield City Council Reduces Special Tax On Saloons.

The Marshfield city council last evening after a lengthy discussion of the matter, voted to fix the saloon licenses here at $800 per annum. The present saloon license is $600 per annum but an ordinance enacted some time ago provided that after July 1, the license should be $1,000 per year.

C. F. McKnight appeared in behalf of the saloon men and urged that the new ordinance be amended so that the license would be left the same as at present. He presented figures showing that the aggregate expenses of the fifteen saloons in Marshfield per year, exclusive of interest on the investment or pay for the owners unless the latter tended bar, was $46,785. He said that to increase the license would drive some of the places out of business, or compel them to raise the prices of liquor or supply an inferior quality of goods. He said that business conditions here now did not warrant the increase and he feared the increase would have the opposite effect to that intended by the council. He cited the fact that most of the Oregon towns regulate the number of saloons permitted, generally one for each 500, 750 or 1,000 inhabitants and under these conditions the licenses run from $400 to $1,000 per annum. He said that Portland has 492 saloons but the plan there is to reduce the number to 418 and not to permit any increase until the ratio is one saloon for each 1,000 inhabitants. The Portland license is $1,000 per annum. Councilman Powers said that he had voted for increasing the license to $1,000 and hadn't changed his mind since.

Councilman Albrecht said that he thought the increase was too much and said that although he had voted for the new ordinance he was not aware that the license had been increased to $1,000. Intimating it had been so fixed after the ordinance had been passed. Councilmen Coke and Powers said he was wrong in this. Albrecht said that times were not prosperous enough to warrant it and that the saloonmen were entitled to a fair shake. He said that in the end the increase would work a hardship on the laboring man because the saloons would either increase the price of liquor or supply a poorer quality. He made an extended defense of the liquor men and said he favored the $600 per license as high enough.

Councilman Ferguson said that he opposed the proposed increase as he had been informed that it would drive some of the more reputable saloon men out of business.

R. A. Cople said that he thought the increase was too great and suggested that a compromise be effected on $800 per year.

Councilman Savage favored the $1,000 per year license. So did Councilman Coke who said that he had notified an officer of the liquor dealers association when the ordinance was first up and that no objection had been made then to the increase. He said he did not see any reason for changing it and said he didn't think the saloons could furnish any worse booze than some of them are now dispensing or working any harder to get a man's money.

Finally Councilman Ferguson moved to reduce the license to $600 per annum and Albrecht seconded it. Cople moved to amend this to fix the license at $800 per year and Mr. Powers seconded the amendment. The amended motion finally carried.

M'MANIGAL MAKES LONG STATEMENT

Suspect Who is Reported to Have Confessed Dynamiting Outrages In Conference With District Attorney.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 3. — An incident denoting the complete understanding between Ortie McManigal, who is alleged to have made a confession of the dynamiting with the district attorney's office, occurred today when District Attorney Fredericks held an interview for three quarters of an hour with McManigal in his cell. A stenographer from the district attorney's office took down McManigal's statements. Fredericks declined to reveal the subject of his interview but it is believed to have had to do with the arraignment of the prisoners which is expected to occur now in two or three days.

Fredericks was also accompanied by Detectives Jones and Boyd of the local department. Jones and Boyd carried packages containing clothing and it was said the object was to have McManigal identify the shoes, hat and suit worn by James McNameara when he is alleged to have set the bomb that destroyed The Times newspaper plant October first.

LORIMER CASE TO BE RENEWED

Senate Committee Agrees For Expense of Investigation of Bribery.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3. — A renewal of the Lorimer investigation was provided for today by the Senate Committee on Contingent Expenses which approved a resolution covering the expenses of such inquiry. The report will come up in the Senate tomorrow and a fight is expected.

The report is unanimous but there is a specific understanding that it should not be construed as an indication of the committee's views on the merits of the case. So particular were some members on these points in that they insisted on a written statement that the action indicated only that if another investigation should be undertaken, provision would be made for the expense.

Albrecht and Ferguson being the only ones to vote for the $600 license.

Frank Denning of the Pullman bar and secretary and treasurer of the local liquor dealer's association said that he had not been notified of any intention to increase the licenses when the ordinance was first up. He said that business was poor and that the liquor men could not stand the raise. He said that he and his partner would have made more the past two years if they had been working in Powers' logging camp at $2.50 per day than they had in the liquor business in which they had $3,000 invested.

SHOE "TRUST" IS THE LATEST

Revelations Made Before Congressional Bodies at Hearings.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3. — The declaration that the "Trust" grips the entire shoe manufacturing industry in the United States was made today in the Senate Committee on Finance which began its hearings on the Canadian reciprocity bill. Manufacturers of the middle west told the committee they practically were merely the servants of the United Shoe Machinery Company of Boston.

While the shoe manufacturers were complaining to the Senate Committee on Finance of the shoe machinery "trust", Representative Weeks of Massachusetts was declaring in the House that a "beneficial monopoly" by one corporation of such machinery enabled it to lease the machines at a very low rate to the American manufacturers. Weeks offered his statement in the House in opposition to the "free list" bill. He had an array of shoes, brogans, boots, slippers, and sandals, to illustrate his argument against the democratic measure. Weeks asserted that the United Shoe Machinery Company by its cheap leasing of machines had prevented a general combination among the manufacturers of shoes.

To the Senate committee, Milton S. Florsheim of Chicago confessed that it sometimes is necessary for the shoe manufacturers in protecting himself, his trade name and his customers, to refuse to sell to a retailer who tried to undersell his neighbors. This he said accounted for the uniformity of prices.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS OPENED IN OLD MEXICO THIS AFTERNOON

MARKET AVE. WORK ORDERED

After Lengthy Discussion, Council Orders Notices of Intention to Improve.

After a dozen or so property owners had been heard and petitions for and against the improvement of Market avenue and intersecting streets had been read, the Marshfield city council last evening ordered notices of intention to improve the thoroughfares posted. The opponents were not exactly opposed to improving, the difference being as to whether Nab Hill should be cut down and the dirt hauled by team to fill the low section or whether the low section should be filled by the dredge Oregon.

The matter was brought up by Dr. J. T. McCormac who said that for twenty-seven years he had appeared before the council many times to have something done about improving the street. He said that while he was posing as a booster and doing what he could for progress, the fact remained that the worst looking street in town was right in front of his residence property. He said that street improvements were a good thing and that although there had been more or less kicking about them, no one would be willing to go back to the condition of a few years ago. He said that during all his travels the past year, he had not seen any place of the size that had done so much towards improving its streets as Marshfield has and that even in larger places he had not seen any better improved streets than Marshfield has. He said that on this proposition, the school board, of which he is a member was divided about it, he favoring the improvement along the Central school property while M. C. Horton opposed it. However, he said that although the school board had differences, they were good natured and did not receive the "airing" that the council differences do.

M. C. Horton argued for a dredge fill. He said that the improvement would be better and could be made much more cheaply, especially the fill. Besides the street improvement, Mr. Horton said that the lots should be filled at the same time or the district would likely become unhealthy.

C. F. McKnight made an extended argument in behalf of the team fill, saying it was uncertain whether the dredge Oregon could or would fill it. At the best, he said it would be several months before it came back. He presented a petition showing that a majority of the Market avenue property owners had signed in favor of the team haul fill at a rate of thirty cents per yard, fifteen cents for the excavating and fifteen cents for the fill. Leaving out the church property, which pays no taxes, and the school property, on which the directors are divided, Mr. McKnight said that three-fourths of the property owners was in favor of the immediate improvement. He pointed out that to allow Market avenue to remain as it is would be to build up another section of the town, enhancing property values there and allowing Market avenue values to depreciate.

M. C. Horton contended otherwise, saying there had been appreciable increase in values on improved streets and cited instances to show it.

Peter Johnson argued in favor of the dredge fill.

Carl Albrecht favored the team haul fill. He said that he and other property owners would enjoin any attempt to fill the section with a dredge because the overflow of water would damage their property.

James Ellerby wanted the dirt fill.
