David Nelson and Wife and Child Have Narrow Escape While Fishing.

David Nelson, cashier at the C. A. Smith mill, and wife and 4-year-old baby had a narrow escape from drowning Saturday evening while fishing on South Coos River near the Goodwill place. In trying to land a big treut, their row boat was upset Hub Clothing & Shoe Co. and the three precipitated into the water. They managed to get hold

It was about 8 o'clock Saturday evening. They had just reached there for a couple of days outing. Mr. Nelson was rowing the boat and Mrs. Nelson was handling the line and the baby was sitting in the boat between them. Mrs. Nelson got a big trout on the line and asked Mr. Nelson got a big trout on the line and asked Mr. Nelson to help her land it. He stood up, leaned over her shoulder to get the line free and was pulling the fish in. Just as the trout was lifted out of the water, it flopped off the line onto the edge of the boat. Mr. Nelson attempted to catch it and the boat tipped over.
