PERSONAL notices of visitors in the city, or of Coos Bay people who visit in other cities, together with notices of social affairs, are gladly received in the social department. Telephone 1331. Notices of club meetings will be published and secretaries are kindly requested to furnish same.

THE SPONERS

Together we sat in a tete-a-tete,
The prettiest girl and I
The light was out and the hour was late,
For the time, you know, will fly!

By Jove,
How rapidly time will fly!

Together we sat in the welcome gloom,
Alone, unheard, unseen,
Though her mother was in the other room
With a thin portiere between

I knew that the mother in ambush lay—
As mothers do, it seems—
To carry the prettiest girl away,
Away to the land of dreams. By Jove!

To the wonderful land of dreams.

But the cherry-like lips of the pretty miss,
Alas, were a tempting sight.
And I ventured to beg for a tiny kiss—
Just one, before "Good night."

But the prettiest girl resented that
In a way I'd never dreamed,
For she airily sprang from where we sat

And, what do you think? She screamed!
By Jove!
She certainly did—she screamed!

I caught the coquette in my arms—
Alack—
For such is the way of men—
And gruffly demanded of her a smack,
And then—and then—and then—

Her mother came cruelly in with a light
And—what do you think she said?
"Oh, come, little lady, kiss daddy good night!"
And carried her off to bed, by Jove!
And carried the babe to bed!

"Honeymoon, honeymoon,
Tell me why you fade so soon."

WHAT joy and bliss this romantic event conjures up in the senses of the lover in this heaven-favored month of weddings and betrothals. And, what is more, the June bride hasn't changed a bit. She's the same girl—just as full of hope and happiness, life and love as she has been in all the Junes that have gone before. She is one of the things under the sun blessed with perennial newness, a being whom age cannot wither or custom stale.

This year she is wearing white satin gowns trimmed with lace, just as if most brides down the ages hadn't done the same thing, but every one of her friends is just as anxious to see that gown as if it were to be the sensation of novelty. She will carry a shower bouquet—a gorgeous cluster of trembling lilies of the valley with a few roses or sweet peas, perhaps.

Has anyone ever lost interest in a bride's bouquet?

June!

Let your fond fancy wander on the word. Sun-streaked meadows, full murmuring streams, flower riots in the dawnlight, moonlight and gossamer shrouds of clouds, dreamlight in the verdant dells and young love strolling amid the tangled gloom.

The shimmering sea is adding its lure to the glorious spectrum of azure sky and deep, scented woodlands. And as the waves ripple their crests into myriads of dancing opals, they murmur ecstatically, O, slush—sh! our unfathomed waters are the big splash after all.

The annual begonia to Coos River will probably be postponed until after the big celebration when there will be an accelerated movement of those who desire to revel in the deep evergreen heart of nature and nowhere are there such welcome and soul-satisfying retreats as around Coos Bay. The birds carol in ecstasy of nestling tenderness, the smoke-haunted woods beckon the world-weary to commune amid their deep silences, while the trout leap in the shady pools, offering alike rare sport and charm to the angler to the ardent child of nature.

The members and friends of the Ladies' Art club, enjoyed an outing last Sunday to the Goodwill home on Coos River. The day was pleasantly spent, and a fine picnic lunch enjoyed.
