LOCAL GLEANINGS

THE WEATHER

(By Associated Press.)
OREGON, July 21.—Fair to night and Saturday.

Communion Services—There will be communion services at the Lutheran church next Sunday at 11 a. m.

Father Dies—G. S. Capps, foreman of the Times office, who was called to Portland recently by the serious illness of his father, received a message this morning conveying the sad intelligence of his death in the Portland hospital last evening. The body will be taken to Tacoma for burial.

Married in Portland—News has reached Marshfield friends of the marriage in Portland last Friday of Miss Edith Holmes and Ross C. Smith, two well known and popular young people of Marshfield. The event was forecasted in The Times but they succeeded in keeping the exact day and date a secret from all their friends. They will receive many congratulations and be warmly welcomed on their return.

Wants to Come Back—W. F. Heimon is in receipt of a letter from his father-in-law, J. F. Ziegler, who will be remembered by many Coos Bay friends, having spent several months here two years ago. Mr. Ziegler is now located at The Dalles where he has a fruit farm. He says it has been 110 and 112 there several days, the hottest and driest summer he has ever experienced. If he could sell his property he says he would be glad to get back to Coos Bay.
