PRISONER REVEALS CLUE TO MURDERER OF PORTLAND FAMILY

Theft at Roseburg May Harry Smith Arrested Here For Solve Mystery.

SAYS HE KNOWS MAN WHO KILLED HILLS

Marshal Carter Sends Details With U. S. Marshal Hammersley.

Unless Harry Smith, the man arrested here by Marshal Carter while trying to sell a horse, buggy and harness, part of which he admits having stolen at Roseburg, is an awful prevaricator the mysterious slaying of the Hill family in Portland June 5, will be solved. Smith has given the officers the name of the man whom he alleges killed the entire family and who is still at liberty. Smith was taken to Roseburg this morning by Sheriff Quine, who came over last night and will be held there on the minor charge while the Portland police are investigating the clue that Marshal Carter secured from him.

Marshal Carter saw that something was worrying Smith, or Higgsge as his name appears to be from books found on him, and proceeded to learn what it was. Smith told the story of the slaying of the Hill family and how a friend of his did it, killing Mrs. Hill, her little daughter and Mr. Hill. He broke down and cried as he related the particulars. Then Marshal Carter got hold of Sheriff Gage and Deputy United States Marshal Hammersley and had Smith repeat the story before them.

Mr. Hammersley left today on the Breakwater for Portland and will lay the whole matter before the Portland authorities.

Smith admitted the theft of the harness and buggy in Roseburg, which belonged to Dr. R. M. Brumfield. He claimed to have got the horse near Salem but refused to identify the stray animal picked up near Libby as the one which he drove here. Bill Centers found the animal near Libby. It is a bay mare about nine years old, weighs about 1,050, has a white spot on forehead and has four black feet.

Sheriff Quine thought the horse might belong to a Roseburg man named Jackson. Jackson is now away on a camping trip and this could not be confirmed.

TAFT TO VETO TARIFF BILLS

Republican Leader Mann Calls For Party's Support of President's Plan.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—Republican Leader Mann gave formal notice in the House that the republican members would ask for a cancellation of all pairs so far as votes on the vetoed measures are concerned. Mann explained he expected the President to veto whatever tariff bills are sent him and that every republican in the House would be needed.

Cotton Tariff Vote.
LaFollette today asked the Senate for unanimous consent to vote on the cotton tariff revision August 16. Senator Overman objected and LaFollette announced he would repeat the motion tomorrow, saying he was willing to stay here as long as necessary to consider in addition to cotton the steel and chemical revision bills.

Wool Tariff Bill.
The full House and Senate conference Committee on the Wool Tariff Revision Bill today agreed on a flat rate of 29 per cent on raw wool. The committee also agreed on the House classification of wool. The agreement on these two points seems to remove the greatest obstacles in the way of the final agreements, which is said, might be reached.

SHIP IS SAVED BY REDONDO

Coos Bay Steamer Picks Up Johan Poulsen, Near San Francisco.

Agent McGeorge of the Redondo received a wire this morning from San Francisco stating that the Redondo which left San Francisco late yesterday for Coos Bay last night picked up the lumber schooner Johan Poulsen from Portland and had to tow her to the Golden Gate harbor. The Johan Poulsen, which is carrying lumber south from Portland was badly disabled but the Redondo got her safely into port. The Redondo sailed this morning for Coos Bay and is expected in here some time Sunday.

PERKINS WILL TELL STORY

New York Financier Finally Testifies at Hearing — Denies Story of 1907 Panic.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 10.—George W. Perkins, a director of the United States Steel Company, testifying before the House Steel Investigation committee today, created a stir when he jumped to his feet and branded as false the assertion that the panic of 1907 was started to ruin certain banks.

Representative Bartlett asked Perkins whether such was not the case and the New York financier was on his feet in a second saying "such a charge is absolutely false. There is not a scintilla of truth in it."

Cure Commercial Ills.
"I am advised," Mr. Littleton said, "that there is to be a thorough inquiry into the commercial ills of the nation and that a conference will be called to determine the problem of how to best deal with the industrial situation in America. It is a project that will involve a most drastic investigation and bring together capital and labor in an effort, without bias, to find out just what could be done."
"That is the best news I have heard," said Perkins.

PLAN COURSE IN FORESTRY

Coos Bay Steamer Picks Up Johan Poulsen, Near San Francisco.

Word has been received here that the Biltmore Forestry school of Biltmore, N. C., has decided to establish a permanent forestry camp on Coos Bay for the purpose of giving its students part of their course of instruction here every year. The fifty or more students of the school with their instructors are expected here soon on their first trip.

The Biltmore school was established by C. W. Vanderbilt on his great holdings in North Carolina and Gifford Pinchot, of international fame as a forestry expert and conservationist, was at the head of it once. He was succeeded by Dr. C. A. Schenk who remains at the head of it.

In its course of instruction, the students are taken to the great forests and given practical work. Nearly every winter is spent in the forests of Germany. The past summer they have spent in the timbered sections of the Great Lakes and are now en route to Coos Bay.

John Lafon, head of the reforestation department of the C. A. Smith company, and Cornell Lagerstrom of the same department are both Biltmore graduates, and it was probably due to Mr. Lafon's efforts that the school became interested here.

"ALL WELL" ON BOARD BOSTON

United States Cruiser With Naval Militia Will Reach Here Tuesday.

"All the Coos Bay boys on the United States training ship Boston are well and having a fine time," was the gist of a message received today from Dr. E. Mingus who joined the vessel at Astoria this morning. The news was most gratifying to the relatives and friends of the members of the Naval Militia.

According to present plans, the Boston will leave Astoria tomorrow and cruise slowly down the coast. It is planned to have her cross in over the bar at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and come to anchor off Marshfield at 5 o'clock.

Plans for the reception are being perfected today. Besides the turnout of the launches and vessels to meet her in the lower bay, a smoker will be tendered the officers at the Millicoma club Tuesday night. Tuesday afternoon immediately after she comes to anchor, a public reception will probably be held on board the Boston. Tuesday evening, a naval ball will be given at the Eagles hall.

Capt. Reynolds Wires.
Chairman Jennings of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce today received the following telegram from Capt. Reynolds of the Boston:

"Your wire received. Complement of officers eighteen. No ladies will be present. Number of men inclusive of Marshfield, 125. Present arrangements are to leave here Saturday afternoon for Coos Bay and expect to reach there Monday or Tuesday, weather governing. Entire complement well and announcement of our procedure to Coos Bay is causing stir in local circles but we will be on our way as stated above"
