HOPS VALUED BY LOOKS AND AROMA.

Best Are Raised in Bohemia, Bavaria and Parts of England.

According to the prevailing opinions, which, according to some American growers, are mere prejudices, the best hops are raised in Bohemia, Bavaria and some parts of England, notably Kent. Most American brewers as well as their European brothers value hops largely by their appearance and their aroma. This matter is being thrashed out thoroughly in connection with the barley and-hop exhibition which will be held in Chicago Oct. 12-22. As in the case of other aromatic plants, the sources of the aroma are not well understood. Aroma usually depends upon such minute particles of substance that even the delicate reactions in the chemical laboratory are frequently inadequate to discover them. The high prices which are paid, for instance, for certain wines are based upon their flavor or aroma, and yet this flavor or aroma cannot be discovered by chemical analysis. It is not surprising, therefore, that the substances which contain the flavor or aroma of hops have never been ascertained with certainty. There is a theory that they are closely associated with the soft resins contained in the lupulin, or the hop flour, which is found between the bracts of the cone and which is really the essential part of the hop plant. As for the color of the hops, various preferences prevail, some preferring the varieties which are entirely green, while others think the yellowish green is preferable. In this country the yellow kinds are usually preferred, while in Germany the green ones have the call. Inasmuch as the brewing value of hops depends largely upon the lupulinic acid and the soft resins and the American hops are unusually rich in soft resins, American hop growers need have no fear of entering the prize competition at Chicago under the rules which have been adopted for the jury which is to judge the hops.

AWARDS OF PRIZES FOR HOP EXHIBITS.

Conditions That Will Govern in This Class.

Awards of prizes will be made according to the following rules for hops entered in the second international barley and hop prize exhibition to be held at Chicago, Oct. 12-22, 1911: The awards will consist of twenty-one prizes, the highest amounting to $150. For the purpose of prize distribution each distinct hop growing section (foreign or domestic) will constitute a class by itself. The following American sections are recognized as distinct for this purpose: (1) New York state, (2) California, (3) Oregon, (4) Washington, (5) British Columbia. Hops grown outside of these sections will be considered as belonging to that section which conforms most closely to their districts geographically and climatically, in the discretion of the committee on awards. All samples of hops must be certified to have been grown by the exhibitor. The amount of hops offered for exhibit must be at least ten pounds, with six clusters of about twelve cones each.

BUSY TIMES AT INSTITUTE

Coos County Teachers Become Pupils Again—News of the Gathering.

The Coos county institute work for Wednesday forenoon began with instruction in Arithmetic, 5th grade language, 5th grade composition by Prof. Ball, and A reading and number work by Miss Smith.

Prof. Ball gives printed outlines of each subject to all the teachers and explains same from beginning to end.

Miss Smith outlines the course of study on the board and demonstrates the work in phonic reading and numbers by means of the model class.

The afternoon's work consisted in discussing methods of teaching geography, history and 1B reading. The topics discussed in geography were British-America and Canada and South America—in history, New York.

Miss Smith gave instruction in 1B reading and questioned the teachers on work previously presented.

Among the teachers who enrolled today were Miss Berdina Hickey of North Bend.

A. Huenergardt of Marshfield. Mrs. Minnie Herman of Myrtle Point, who will teach at Dist. No. 5 the coming term.

Mr. S. C. Sherrill, a recent arrival on the Bay, will be principal of the Bunker Hill school the coming term. Superintendent Raab of North Bend has been a visitor nearly every day.

Through an error the names of Mrs. Ellen Kelley and Miss Frances Franse, both of Marshfield, were omitted yesterday from the list of teachers attending the teachers' institute.

Good Instructors. The institute work is being conducted by Prof. Ball and Miss Smith of the Arlita school, Portland. Both are very capable instructors, and their work will be of much profit to the teachers.

Monday afternoon Prof. Ball devoted two periods to work in history and geography, beginning with 4th grade work, and Miss Smith gave a discussion on methods of teaching reading in the primary grade.

On Tuesday, Prof. Ball discussed methods of teaching arithmetic, 4th grade composition, 4th grade language and history.

Miss Smith presented work in the primary grade in reading, using a model class of young boys and girls from the city. Object lessons on the black board were used and the children were taught to spell the names by using the phonic method.

Supervisor J. T. McCormac was present and gave a short talk on the study of arithmetic, would advise that more mental work be used, and gave as a reason that formerly pupils were more proficient in arithmetic when more mental work was given.

A new feature in regard to the institute this year is that instead of a short session of three or four days as in former years, a two weeks' course in regular normal school work is given by normal instructors to the teachers in their home county.
