

SOCIETY AND WOMAN'S WORLD

PERSONAL notices of visitors in the city, or of Coos Bay people who visit in other cities, together with notices of social affairs, are gladly received in the social department. Telephone 1331. Notices of club meetings will be published and secretaries are kindly requested to furnish same.

SWEET INNISCARRA.

In Sweet Inniscarra, on the banks of the Leo,
Where it winds itself gracefully down to the sea,
I plucked a dear flower as alone it grew there,
A sweet little violet, pure and so fair,
Beside it a shamrock, though modest itself,
Good luck brought to all who held this dear elf.
So between the two flowers sure I'd have no debate
When they said, "My boy, stop now, for here lies your fate."

In sweet Inniscarra, in sweet Inniscarra,
Remain here, my boy. There's one who's so true
In sweet Inniscarra; in sweet Inniscarra,
The girl of your heart is waiting for you.

"If you're looking for true love," the violet said,
"Sure this is the spot, lad, where it's born and bred.
Where colleens are true as the bright stars above,
Where the boys they have given their lives for true love."
The shamrock then said: "It is true, ev'ry word,
Although I've been silent, the violet I've heard,
And I'll vouch for their virtue, for which they would die,
In that little green island whose emblem am I."

"A STITCH in time saves nine."
Too true, but a kiss at the real psychological moment patches up many a gap that would be ugly indeed.

Just as soon as the present voting sex learns that the weaker partner in the scheme needs a vote of approval in the form of a kiss, properly planted, now and then, just that soon will they have sowed seeds from which will grow blossoms that stretch out into the sunlight of permanent happiness.

Of course, in the honeymoon stage it goes without saying, says Ellnor Loeb. When Ellnor cuts her finger on the protruding hatpin (that there is no law against) it has to be kissed and loved and made quite well again, for isn't it her little finger and doesn't George love every tenth inch of it?

She just shall not have the least pain about it.

Or the coffee is cold and she must be kissed to make up for it. If he starts for the office without the usual goodby impression he is called back and pays double. Of, if for no other reason, why just because.

But after that stage (oh, they all go through it), when things are moving along in the way they should or should not go, the little kiss somehow gets lost in the shuffle of the deal and only comes to light on rare occasions.

So rare they become that it is difficult to create the atmosphere without going beyond the clouds that cover it.

Now, John, how easy it is when you come home in the evening and find a nice, cheerful fire and the wee woman fixing doughnuts (for the maid may not get them just as brown as you like) to give her a little kiss and a word of approval.

Oh, you needn't make a Romeo and Juliet stage setting out of it or go through a prolonged Olga Nethersole variety, but just the little token as old as Methusalem.

As she may be tired with the day's scheming and planning and sewing, a kiss will revive much more readily than all the scolding to "take things as they come."

We are only children at best and we want things sugar-coated. The bitterest pill may be swallowed if given with a coating of sweetness, no matter how thin it may be spread.

Misses May and Mabel Johnson of Oakland, Cal., are guests of Misses Signa and Selma Holm and other relatives and friends on the Bay. They will leave next Wednesday for their home and will be accompanied by Misses Signa Holm and Besale Coke who will attend the University of California the coming year.

Dr. J. W. Ingram entertained a few friends at an enjoyable smoker at his home on Thursday evening. Bridge whist, caustic current comment and good stories made the hours pass pleasantly. M. C. Horton won first prize for the best story and the consolation went to F. G. Horton because he drew C. R. Peck as a partner. A delicious luncheon was served, Mrs. Ingram being assisted by Mrs. C. R. Peck and Mrs. G. W. Kaufman. Those present were F. G. Horton, W. R. Jennings, Dr. W. A. Toye, M. C. Horton, G. W. Kaufman, C. R. Peck and M. C. Maloney.

Mrs. F. M. Friedberg entertained a number of friends at cards at their summer home on South Coos River Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Eugene O'Connell won first prize and Mrs. C. E. Nicholson second prize. Mrs. Friedberg was assisted in serving by Misses Frances Williams, Madge Barry and Rita Keane. Among her guests were Mrs. Eugene O'Connell, Mrs. E. K. Jones, Mrs. C. E. Nicholson, Mrs. Arthur McKeown, Mrs. J. W. Flanagan, Mrs. R. F. Williams, Mrs. T. H. Barry, Mrs. Louis Gorr, Mrs. J. T. McCormac, Mrs. M. C. Maloney, Mrs. M. Tower, Mrs. Lumb, Mrs. Hatch, Miss Tower, Mrs. J. T. Harrigan and Mrs. Wm. Dungan.

Mrs. F. E. Hague left yesterday for Victoria, where she will visit some of Mr. Hague's relatives and also meet Miss Mary Hague of New York City who will return to Coos Bay with Mrs. F. E. Hague for a visit with relatives and friends here.

Miss Ellen Anderson was hostess at an N. C. G. party at her home in North Bend Thursday evening. Games were played and several musical numbers were given after which luncheon was served. A good time was enjoyed by all. Among those present were Miss Helen Mende, Miss Ellen Anderson, Miss Mildred Rood, Miss Amy Reynolds, Miss Nora Hage and Edith Allger.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Crosthwait entertained at a dinner party in honor of Mrs. J. C. Roberts, Thursday evening. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Haines, Mr. and Mrs. Chas Van Duyn.

Miss Jessie Chase, who was a member of the Marshfield high school faculty last year, has written friends that she will take a course at Simmons Institute in Boston next year. She will visit at Astoria and Cottage Grove before going east and plans to reach Boston about September 20.

Mrs. Eugene O'Connell will leave shortly for Portland where she will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Ford, for a while. Mrs. E. K. Jones and Master Eugene may also accompany her north. The O'Connells returned to town from their summer home at The Maze this week.

Miss Lillian McCann of North Bend returned yesterday from a two months' stay with her sister, Mrs. Hodson, on Coos River.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Birch entertained Friday night in honor of Mrs. Birch's sisters, Misses Lillian and Hazel Merryman who are spending their vacation on the Bay. Various games were played until late in the evening when delicious refreshments were served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Chase, Mrs. Torrey, Miss Mary Jameson, Miss Ruth Allen, Miss Hazel Merryman, Miss Irene Preuss, Miss Clara Rehfeld, Miss Mary Hanson, Miss Lillian Merryman, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Eric Bolt, Mr. Clyde Dindinger, Mr. Chester Wolcott, Mr. Frank Howe and Mr. G. L. Dindinger.

Miss Flossie Hayes of North Bend entertained the Sunbeam club at her home Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Elmer Jones of North Bend entertained yesterday in honor of Mrs. R. G. Gale. The ladies brought their sewing and a delightful afternoon was spent. Delicious refreshments were served. Among those present were: Mrs. John Greves, Mrs. Warren Painter, Mrs. J. W. Gardner, Mrs. H. E. Burmeister, Mrs. W. E. Best, Mrs. R. G. Gale and Mrs. T. W. Renale. Mrs. Jones also invited a number of little folks to meet CONTRIBUTIONS concerning social happenings, intended for publication in the society department of The Times, must be submitted to the editor not later than 6 o'clock p. m. Friday of each week. Exceptions will be allowed only in cases where events occur later than the time mentioned.

Master Warren Gale and among them were Miss Marguerite Best, Miss Jane Burmeister, Miss Ethel Gardner, Warren Painter Jr., John Greves Jr., and Frederic Hollister Jr.

Mrs. J. W. Ingram will entertain the Bridge club at her home next Wednesday afternoon at a luncheon and cards.

The moonlight picnic held at Jordan's cove last Monday evening by the Marshfield Alumni society, proved to be a most delightful outing. Singing, interrupted by "Symphony of twisted discords", games, roasting of marshmallows, strolls, and a delicious picnic supper, plentifully mixed with sand, added greatly to the evening's pleasure. The outing brought together all the graduates of the four-year high school course except Alice Curtis, and the reunion was all the more enjoyable in that Prof. Golden was present to make the coffee. After running into huge perpendicular sand dunes which appeared level to the approaching victims, the party embarked on the Buffalo Bill for town in the wee sma' hours of the morning, while the moon still shone bright. Those going were Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Golden, Ruth Golden, Marjorie Cowan, Beasle Coke, Signa Holm, Mabel Johnson (Miss Holm's guest), Nellie Tribbey, Mary Hansen, Belva Flanagan, John Ferguson, Joe Bennett and Eric Bolt.

Mrs. R. G. Gale of Medford has been the guest of Mrs. T. W. Renale of North Bend the past week.

Misses Mildred and Margaret Colahan, who have been spending their vacation at the home of their sister, Mrs. Robert Sartor, in South Marshfield, will leave tomorrow for Portland where they will resume their positions in St. Vincent's hospital.

Mrs. J. T. Harrigan has been spending the week as the guest of Mrs. W. E. Dungan at the A. P. Owens' summer home on South Coos River.

The South Coos River Summer Colony has practically broken up, nearly all returning to their homes on the Bay or arranging to do so next week. A few are planning to maintain their summer homes until September.

The following from the Bandon Recorder concerning the marriage of a former Marshfield school teacher will be of interest to her many friends on the Bay: "A very pleasant but quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Waldvogel, Sunday evening when their daughter, Annie M., was united in marriage to George Erdman, Rev. A. Haberly officiating. The bride is a young lady of accomplishment and one of Coos county's successful
