

AT THE SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES

SCHOOL NOTES

Marshfield Schools will begin Monday, September 11, 1911.

The compulsory school law applies to all children eight years old and under fourteen and in some conditions sixteen. New pupils are coming into our schools for the first time should be provided with their report cards and promotion blanks from the school where they last attended so that they may be classified properly.

The superintendent will be in his office at the High school building every afternoon from two o'clock until five from August 29 to September 9. New pupils are asked to come there and receive their classification before school begins.

All high school pupils as far as possible are asked to call at the office and get their classification before September 11th. It can be done more deliberately now than during the rush of the first days of school. Parents and high school students are urged to talk over this matter of classification and selection of studies before school actually begins. It is a matter for consultation. We have printed copies of the courses of study which will be gladly furnished.

Persons wishing to take pupils to board and room will confer a favor if they will let the superintendent know by card.

ENJOY STAY IN PORT ORFORD

GOV. WEST AND PARTY OF STATE OFFICIALS SHOWN MANY COURTESIES BY CURRY COUNTY PEOPLE.

Special to The Times
PORT ORFORD, Ore., Aug. 26.—Governor West's day in Port Orford will go down in the history of Curry county. It was the first time a real live governor had ever visited the historic town, and all day long, from the mountains and the valleys, the ranchers and their families drove into town to see the governor and hear his address at the evening session of the Curry County Teachers' Institute, so that when the time arrived for Supt. Guerin to call the session to order, every seat in the large hall was filled, standing room was all taken up, and many stood outside the doors who could not get in. Fully five hundred people heard the governor's speech.

As Dr. Calvin S. White of the State Board of Health, State Game Warden Finley, and State Superintendent of Public Instruction Alderman were all present, and compelled to leave in the morning, the governor insisted that they be called first, and each in turn captured the audience by an address entertaining and interesting in their separate lines of work; and when Dr. White stated that Oregon's young governor would go down in history with Governor Folk of Missouri, the applause that greeted the statement testified the concurrence of the audience. Governor West then spoke for nearly an hour on "Oregon State Institutions and what I am trying to do for them." His plain and simple statement of his "honor system" in the penitentiary was greeted with applause. He spoke also on the good roads legislation past and prospective. He said that if there were a good road for autos into Curry county, Portland and Willamette Valley citizens would flock this way to spend their outings along the beautiful agate beaches and in the nearby mountains filled with game. The governor also spoke of his veto of the Rogue River Fishing bill, and showed clearly how a monopoly had been prevented and how Curry county would be greatly benefited, and again the audience cheered him heartily.

After the evening session of the Institute adjourned, the Battle of

TO DEDICATE CHURCH GIFTS

BISHOP SCADDING TO CONDUCT SPECIAL SERVICES FOR MEMORIALS PRESENTED MARSHFIELD EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

In Emmanuel Episcopal church on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock several memorial gifts will be dedicated. Bishop Scadding officiating. The memorials are handsome brasses for the Altar, a cross given by Mrs. H. H. McPherson in memory of her husband, two vases by Mr. F. P. Norton in memory of his wife, and two candlesticks given by Mrs. J. H. Flanagan in memory of her father, St. Agnes' Guild, composed of young girls of the church, has also given a handsome brass Alm basin.

Battle Rock was reproduced under the auspices of the agate carnival in charge of Frank B. Tichenor, the distinguished visitors seemed much pleased with the Indian fight, though the preparations for it this year were necessarily hurried. While Governor West did not lead the Indians in their charge on Battle Rock, he did climb the rock amid the blaze of bon-fires along the beach, and inspect the Fort on the Rock before the sham battle commenced, and evidently his cheering words enabled the old timers in charge to hold the fort. Immediately after the battle was over, the distinguished visitors and the members of the Port Orford Commercial club and their wives adjourned to the Masterson hotel where a banquet was given the honored guests, and Port Orford citizens enjoyed more wit, repartee, stories and song, from Governor West, Superintendent Alderman, Dr. White, Warden Finley, and Messrs. Traver, Embree and Holmes than has ever been heard here before. J. D. Loucks acted as toastmaster and W. H. Meredith welcomed the governor and party to Port Orford and Curry county, and each of them declared his intention to return again next year and bring his family along to spend an outing of greater length at the most picturesque spot on the whole Pacific. On the deer hunt, it seems that it is up to the governor to buy Superintendent Alderman the new hat, but he says Alderman's hat looked so badly that he hated to see him wear it back to Salem. Messrs. Oakes and Gallier will take the governor to Bandon to crown the Queen of the Carnival at that place.

Superintendent Alderman, L. R. Traver of Seattle, Mr. Jones of the Oregon Teachers' Journal, and Superintendent Raab of the North Bend schools, have made this session of the Teachers' Institute the most interesting one ever held in Curry county.

GO TO LOS ANGELES.

G. A. R. Will Hold Next Encampment There.

By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Judge Tribble's election as G. A. R. Commander followed the withdrawal of General John E. McElroy, after a bitter contest. On the recommendation of the committee on resolutions, the Encampment endorsed the Sherwood pension bill which Democratic Leader Underwood has promised Congress will pass at the forthcoming session, but the indorsement carries a proviso that the bill will be made to conform as closely as possible to the Sulloway bill which was pigeon-holed in Congress.

Col. Nicholas Day of New York City was elected senior vice-commander.

The installation of officers and the selection of Los Angeles for the next encampment closed the encampment.
