NEW FLOWER HOLDERS AND GLASS AND CHINA CANDELABRA

SUMMER TABLE DECORATIONS.

FLOWERS and fruits are now so plentiful that they are easily procurable for the decoration of the summer table. When a luncheon, dinner or tea is to be given the use of pretty candelas with dainty shades gives an additional touch of beauty to the table. Silver candelabra are expensive, but handsome ones of glass may be purchased at a very moderate price. Some of these glass candelabra have receptacles for flowers just beneath the shades where the light falls upon the flowers to most effect. Fancy candelabra also come in fine china. In houses where electric light is available tiny electric bulbs may be substituted for candles.

THE TOILET TABLE.

Try walking briskly in the rain without an umbrella as a tonic for the complexion.

A cupful of hot water in which has been dissolved half a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda will sometimes relieve a hot weather headache.

Make a bag of cheesecloth and drop in all bits of toilet soap too small to use. You will soon have a delicious little bath bag of soap that otherwise would have been wasted.

The best results in bathing are obtained by the use of tepid water. Cold water is not cleansing, and hot water is weakening. A rinse of colder temperature should never be omitted.

Let your hair hang loose or braid it without confining the ends at night or when resting. The hair requires rest as well as the body and should never be braided tight to the head or confined with pins.

A delicious toilet water is made by putting half a pint of rectified spirits with half an ounce of oil of pink, shaking the mixture for several minutes, corking well and putting away for several weeks to bring out the scent.

Epsom salts dissolved in rain water, used as a face wash and then rubbed dry with the hands, is an excellent cure for skin blemishes, including blackheads. It is also a substitute for powder when dried on the face in this way.

Skinning a Pineapple.

Be it known to all good housewives who this season are struggling with dull knives and patent scissors that by plunging a pineapple into boiling water as one does peaches, etc., the skin and eyes can be removed easily, the length of time left in water being dependent on ripeness of the fruit. A few experiments will make one expert. Then shred your pineapple, and it is ready for the table or canning. Shared with silver fork.

Keeping Hair in Curl.

In the hot weather it is so difficult to keep the hair from hanging straight and stringy that many women use a curling fluid. To make a good one take gum arabic, one ounce; carbonate of potash, one ounce; glycerin, one ounce; rosewater, one and one-half pints; Portugal extract, four ounces.

Dissolve the potash in the rosewater, add the glycerin, then the gum arabic. Stir in the Portugal extract, mix thoroughly and allow to stand for a week before using. Half quantity may be made.

Peeling Oranges.

It is said that in peeling oranges you may entirely free them from pulp by dropping the whole fruit into boiling water and allowing it to remain for five minutes. When the pee. is removed the pulp will not accompany it.

DR. WILSON AS ORATOR.

Governor of New Jersey in a Characteristic Attitude.

TRIBUTE TO THE TOILERS.

Humble Men Who Labor Are America's Might, Says Wilson.

In one of his recent addresses Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey paid an eloquent tribute to the tolling millions whose labor has given America its place among the nations. He said:

"You know how it thrills our blood sometimes to see how all the nations of the earth wait to see what America is going to do with her power—her physical power—her enormous resources, her enormous wealth, her power to levy innumerable armies and build up armaments which might conquer the world.

"But what has made us strong? The toll of millions of men, the toll of men who do not boast, who are inconspicuous, but who live their lives humbly from day to day, and this great body of workers, this great body of toilers, constitutes the might of America.

"What is the manifest duty of all statesmanship, therefore? It is to see that this great body of men who constitute the strength of America are properly dealt with by the laws and properly nurtured and taken care of by the policy of the country.

"Well, what hinders, what stands in the way? Why, you know that everything really worth discussing comes to the question of the corporations. Now, I do not want you to expect from me any invective against the corporations. I was bred a lawyer, but I do not know how to draw up an indictment against a whole nation. If you will give me the facts I can indict one man at a time."

LABOR MUST ORGANIZE

If It Is to Secure Justice From Organized Capital, Says Woodrow Wilson.

Few public men have taken such definite ground on the question of the rights and duties of organized labor as has Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. In a letter written to one of the labor leaders of his home state recently the governor said:

"I have always been the warm friend of organized labor. It is, in my opinion, not only perfectly legitimate, but absolutely necessary, that labor should organize if it is to secure justice from organized capital, and everything that it does to improve the condition of workingmen, to obtain legislation that will impose full legal responsibility upon the employer for his treatment of his employees and for their protection against accident, to secure just and adequate wages and to put reasonable limits upon the working day and upon all the exactions of those who employ labor ought to have the hearty support of all fair minded and public spirited men, for there is a sense in which the condition of labor is the condition of the nation itself. The laboring man cannot benefit himself by injuring the industries of the country. I am much more afraid that the great corporations, combinations and trusts will do the country deep harm than I am that the labor organizations will harm it, and yet I believe the corporations to be necessary instruments of modern business."

DISCARDING THE LABELS.

Woodrow Wilson Comments on the Breaking Down of Party Lines.

"The country is awakening to a degree of civic consciousness known before only in the period when the country was born," said Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey in a recent address. "We are scrutinizing the men who are conducting the government. We know we are living in an age of complicated conditions. From all our cities man after man tells me that never before have the citizens been so awakened to public questions—to the question of public degeneration.

"The interesting thing of our politics now is that men are not labeled. You cannot tell from the way a man voted last time how he will vote the next time. Men are beginning to find out that the safe line is the right line. "The mere moral impulse in me is of no force unless it can be translated into action. It is immoral to propose for the United States something that is not of benefit to the whole United States. It is immoral to promote legislation for your business unless it is also for the interest of the rest of the country. Our government is not a paternal institution."

A FAIR SOCIETY MOTORIST

MISS MARION HOLLINS.

THERE are very few more popular girls in New York society than Miss Marion Hollins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Hollins. In her outdoor accomplishments she rivals Miss Eleanor Sears of Boston, who is an expert in all outdoor sports. Miss Hollins can ride and drive, row and swim, play tennis and golf better than most girls of her set. She can tool a coach in a manner to make the average male coaching expert pale with envy. As to motors, when she manages the wheel of her smart car Towser and Tabby, Dobbin and Moolie, are quite safe as to life and limb, although Miss Hollins preserves a rate of speed that does not encourage moss to grow upon the tires of her vehicle. An accomplished and sensible young woman, Miss Hollins is a type of large class of society girls in striking contrast to the helpless, affected maidens pictured in the average society novel as characteristic of that class.
