

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

PERSONAL notices of visitors in the city, or of Coos Bay people who visit in other cities, together with notices of social affairs, are gladly received in the social department. Telephone 133. Notices of club meetings will be published and secretaries are kindly requested to furnish same.

A DISAPPOINTING STUDENT.

HAROLD'S through with college. Harold's disappointed. Harold's filled with knowledge. Harold's double jointed. Harold's the oddest. Harold's feature of our Harold; He is very modest. Harold's quietly appeared. Harold's vexed completely. Harold's was fairly yearning. Harold's to deliver sweetly. Harold's some remarks on learning. Harold's He expected Harold. Harold's To come home with bringing. Harold's Books of songs he'd carried. Harold's Thinking he was stinging. Harold's He expected also. Harold's Harold would be yelling. Harold's Things the students saw so. Harold's Which defy all spelling. Harold's Harold's his diploma. Harold's Simply threw his father. Harold's In a state of coma. Harold's Causing lots of bother. Harold's Father had some roasting. Harold's Ready to deliver. Harold's To stop Harold's boasting. Harold's And to make him answer. Harold's Sentences sarcastic. Harold's Would his thoughts be taken. Harold's In a manner drastic. Harold's They remained unspoken. Harold's Harold's through with college. Harold's House is in a partner. Harold's He's come back with knowledge. Harold's More than that of father. Harold's Still, he's very modest. Harold's You would scarcely know it. Harold's For, you see, the oddest. Harold's Thing is he doesn't show it. —Chicago Post.

In the late fall or early winter. Pink roses and carnations predominated in the decorations while a large bouquet of bridal roses at the place of the bride-to-be and heart-shaped place cards was a feature of the table decorations. Among the guests were Miss Millis, Mrs. Millis, Mrs. W. F. Miller, Mrs. M. C. Horton, Miss Lucy Horton, Miss Nellie Tower, Mrs. I. S. Kaufman, Mrs. D. Y. Stafford, Mrs. M. C. Maloney, Mrs. E. Mingsus, Mrs. J. T. M. Knox, Mrs. T. C. Russell, Mrs. J. M. Upton, Mrs. A. H. Powers.

W. S. Nicholson and family arrived here this week from Spokane, Wash., to make their future home. They are occupying the Noble house on First street.

Mrs. W. W. Greenwood will leave the first of the coming week for her home in Spokane after a few weeks' visit at the home of her niece, Mrs. G. W. Kaufman.

Mrs. L. M. Noble and Miss Maude Bowron leave today for Portland where Miss Bowron will re-enter St. Mary's school. Mrs. Noble will visit there and other northern points for a short time.

On Thursday, Mrs. R. T. Street was hostess at a bridge luncheon which was a most pleasant affair. Mrs. H. S. Tower had the high score. Among those invited were the following: Mrs. G. K. Kaufman, Mrs. Geo. F. Murch, Mrs. Eugene Crosthwaite, Mrs. S. D. Harper, Mrs. J. M. Upton, Mrs. P. A. Sandberg, Mrs. A. H. Haines, Mrs. E. D. Brownlee, Mrs. Nels Rasmussen, Mrs. W. H. Small, Mrs. Kammerer and Mrs. Chas. S. Hoffman.

The Chaminade club will resume its regular meetings after the summer vacation next Thursday when they will be entertained by the director, Mrs. Horsfall. The club this year will take up the study of German composers. Plans for their concerts will be made later.

Mrs. J. T. McCormac and Mrs. I. S. Kaufman expect to leave early next week for Portland from where Mrs. Kaufman will go to Helena, Mont., to visit at the home of her son. Mrs. McCormac will also visit at Corvallis where her son, Fred, will enter the Oregon State Agricultural college this year.

Mrs. E. D. Brownlee and children plan to leave Sunday for their home in Kingfisher, Okla., after a very pleasant visit at the home of Mrs. A. T. Haines, a sister of Mrs. Brownlee.

Mrs. Wm. Horsfall, Jr., was hostess at one of the most delightful social events of the season on Coos Bay last Wednesday afternoon when she entertained at Bridge. The beautiful Horsfall home was converted into a veritable bower, madrones, cat-tails, huckleberries and autumn leaves making an effective background for dahlias, white geraniums, scarlet flowers, sweet peas and other autumn blooms. At the door, the guests were met by Miss Marion Horsfall.

The afternoon's play resulted in Mrs. J. J. Reynolds winning first prize, Mrs. Effie Farringer second prize and Mrs. Henry Sengstacken receiving the consolation. Refreshments were served, those serving being Misses Frances Golden, Frances Williams, Grace Kruse and Nora Tower. Music also added to the afternoon's pleasure. Among those invited were Mrs. J. A. Luse, Mrs. D. Vaughan, Mrs. Chas. Stauff, Mrs. R. G. Gale, Miss Evelyn Anderson, Mrs. J. W. Bennett, Mrs. E. S. Downing, Mrs. M. C. Horton, Mrs. Nels Rasmussen, Mrs. F. P. Horton, Mrs. A. McKeown, Mrs. Henry Sengstacken, Mrs. Colby K. Perry and Mrs. H. S. Tower.

Mrs. P. J. Peralto left this week for her home in California after a short visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Langworthy.

Mrs. E. Ryan, mother of Mrs. W. S. Chandler, and Miss Mary Cox, a niece of Mrs. Chandler, left this week for Portland after spending several weeks at the Chandler summer home on South Coos River.

John A. Blatt and wife and Miss Blatt returned to their Marshfield home this week after spending the several months at their South Coos River summer home.

Louis Gorr and wife returned this week from a visit with relatives in Klamath Falls and other Central Oregon points.

Mrs. O. O. Lund and the children left this week for Oakland, Cal., where they will spend the next nine months, the children taking commercial courses there.

Miss Myrtle Downer arrived here this week from Condon, Ore., to visit relatives and friends. Her parents may come later and the family make their home on the Bay.

The Eastside Sunday school gave a delightful picnic, September 7, at Enegreen's grove. About sixteen left Marshfield at 11 o'clock and arrived in time for lunch. A campfire was soon blazing and coffee brewing while the ladies prepared delicious refreshments. After luncheon, the young folks played games and had a real picnic. During the game of "blackman" G. LeRoy Hall collided with a planet, but escaped with only the loss of the lower part of his sweater. Mr. Cooke thought he was trying to swim across the pond but discovered it was only a dry irrigation ditch. The music in their souls would not allow their feet to keep still so the young folks adjourned to the dance platform,—but not to dance—only skate a little bit. Clarence Moore received favorable mention being the most graceful of the awkward squad. At about 5 o'clock the roll was called and all started for home.

Mrs. W. F. Miller has issued invitations for next Thursday afternoon complimentary to Mrs. C. J. Millis and Miss Mable Clare Millis, who will leave shortly to make their home in San Francisco, Mr. Mills having been transferred there to a new position by the Southern Pacific.

J. Lee Brown and wife returned yesterday from a delightful two weeks' outing at Bastendorf's beach. They camped near the J. T. Merchant summer home and enjoyed all the pleasures of the simple life. Mr. and Mrs. Merchant will return from there Sunday.

Mrs. Harry Hunter of Portland is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. H. Kennedy, and other relatives and friends on the Bay.

Mrs. W. S. Chandler will entertain the Bridge club at her summer home on South Coos River next Wednesday afternoon.

The regular meeting of the American Woman's league was held at Mrs. William M. Homme's home in Cooston and was well attended. After the usual business meeting, a social hour was passed. Mrs. Homme served refreshments. The pleasant trip across the Bay added to the afternoon's enjoyment.

Thursday, August 31, was the fourth birthday of Arnold Robertson, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Robertson of Eastside. He invited a member of his little friends and the afternoon was spent in playing games. Refreshments were served by four of the young ladies that were present. The following were invited: Otto Olson, Wilber Humbert, Elmer Peterson, Pricla Olson, Willie Kittson, Elvera Olson, Tommy Leaton, Farris Swanson, Ralph Humbert, Arche Show, Robert Hackland, Leville Clinkinbeard, Carl Peterson, Thelo Steckel, Medard La Palme, Anna Hackland, Chester McClagan, Bertha Vineyard, Donald McClagan, Mary Whitty, Clarence Leaton, Mendel Cavanagh, Clarence Peterson, Robert Cavanagh, John Whetty, Georgia Thrush, Gladys Major, James Humbert, Edeth Steckel, Edna Vineyard, Lillian Humbert, Alice Mathison, Charley Magary, Clyde Magary, Ethel Cavanagh, Miss Cora Mathison, Irene Humbert, Ruth Magary and Maggie Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pike of Cincinnati have been spending the week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Simpson of North Bend. Mrs. Pike was formerly Miss Edith Simpson of San Francisco, a sister of L. J. Simpson.

Mrs. R. G. Gale, who has been visiting friends in North Bend will be the guest of Mrs. R. A. Wernich the coming week. She will leave shortly to visit in Medford before Dr. Gale, who is now located in San Francisco.

In a recent write-up of the Woman Christian Temperance Union's Department of labor in the Portland Journal, Mrs. Sarah A. Evans, president of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs, says: "Here in Oregon the state department this year was fortunate in securing for its superintendent Mrs. Maude Baker Watkins of Marshfield, who brings to the work a zeal and enthusiasm that insures success. Her circular letters sent out to every quarter of the state should inspire the workers and set in motion such activity that will be telling in good results. Mrs. Watkins is a new woman in the work and is an acquisition that the cause of womanhood may well be proud of"

The A. N. W. club held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. W. P. Murphy Thursday afternoon. It being the initial meeting, the attendance was small. No business of importance came up. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. W. F. Squire at Bunker Hill.

Mrs. H. H. McPherson, Friday afternoon entertained the Bridge club at The Chandler. It was rather in the nature of a farewell as Mrs. McPherson leaves soon for San Francisco to make her home. Nasturtiums predominated in the decorations and the color scheme was yellow. At cards, Mrs. E. G. Flanagan won first prize and Mrs. E. K. Jones second. Those present were Mrs. J. S. Coke, Mrs. E. G. Flanagan, Mrs. J. H. Flanagan, Mrs. E. K. Jones, Mrs. W. S. Chandler, Mrs. W. A. Toye, Mrs. W. S. Turpen, Mrs. J. Albert Matson, Mrs. H. S. Tower, Mrs. Wm. Horsfall, and Mrs. J. W. Bennett.

Mrs. L. W. Jacobs and little son expect to leave today for their home in Portland after a pleasant visit at the Jas Ferry home. Last Sunday, Master Jacobs was christened by Rev. R. E. Browning at the Marshfield

LAST ECHOES OF RECALL

Movement Against Judge Coke Dropped as Interest in It Lags

A Roseburg dispatch to a Portland paper says: "The movement for the recall of Judge Coke, which was instigated shortly after the McClellan murder trial last May, seems to have lost interest. Although shortly after the movement was started it was the sole topic of discussion in this part of the state, it is now seldom mentioned and is probably discussed more in Portland than here."

"Judson King, who was here recently investigating the recall, found that, while many believed Judge Coke erred, it was considered a conscientious blunder without ulterior motive, therefore not a case that would justify a recall. A large percentage of the citizens of the district have taken this attitude."

"The work of circulating the petitions has been temporarily suspended because of the illness of Attorney E. L. Cannon, who is managing the campaign. Mr. Cannon has been confined to his bed for some time with typhoid fever."

"It is said the petitions contain about 3,000 signatures at present. Over 4,000 signatures are required before an election can be called. Lack of funds with which to circulate the petitions, it is said, is not the cause of the present inactivity, but the movement seems just to have lost interest."

"The excitement from the McClellan trial having died down, the people have had time to think the matter over thoroughly, and have apparently decided that the recall is not justified in this case."

DUTY OF NEWSPAPER.

Editor Otis of the Los Angeles Times in a recent talk on a newspaper's duty said in part:

"The contract which a newspaper makes with its reader is to give him the news. Not merely such news as is agreeable—but 'all the news all the time.' That such news should be couched in proper language, goes without saying. But it should not be suppressed because its publication might offend the manufactured taste of dilettante readers."

"The fact that Manuel lost the crown of Portugal because of a liaison with a dancer ought to no more be cut out of the cable dispatches than the orgies of Nero should be excluded from the history of the Roman empire. The particulars of a revolting murder should no more be withheld from a daily newspaper than the story of the crucifixion of the Savior should be eliminated from the New Testament."

"Considered on ethical grounds," Otis concluded, "it is the experience of mankind that publicity is a deterrent of crime rather than an incentive to its perpetration. The lesson taught by publicity is that the way of the transgressor is hard; that detection is always imminent, and that punishment follows perpetration."

FEAR NOT—ALL WILL BE WELL

Editor Times: I send this piece of philosophy for the poet's corner, merely remarking, by the way, that the last verse is entirely new, and written on Saturday, the first inst.

Respectfully, Robert Starkey.

I roam amid the meadows green,
Or wander in the wood;
I seek and find in each bright scene
A lesson that is good.
In Nature's work—instructive school—
But study and 'twill tell
Of real progress; obey the rule—
Be true—all will be well.

I stray along the sandy shore
And gaze upon the sea;
With solemn thoughts I hear the roar
Of breakers running free.
I ponder on the work and stand
Enchanted by the spell.
I hear a voice as in command:
"Be just—all will be well."

I travel on amid the throng
That battle here for life;
The selfish, vain, the weak and strong;
A constant scene of strife.
And still that voice I hear when'er
Oppression seems to quell
The wiser thought: "Be firm, be fair,
Fear not—all will be well."

I search amid the planets and
The stars that onward glide,
That bright array reveals the hand
Of an eternal guide.
Harmonious law, no conflict there—
Mankind may mark it well.
To do the right let they who dare,
Fear not—all will be well.

L'ENVOI.
We are nothing more, they tell us,
Than an animated clod;
A transient atom in the plan
Ordained by a just God!
That gives us strength to shun despair,
If with this text we dwell:
"Be true, be just, be firm, be fair;
Fear not—all will be well."
