RENAMING MARSHFIELD

(From Eugene Register)

Marshfield has been agitating the question of a change in the name for a number of years and has at last decided to combine that city with North Bend, Eastside and Empire, all now nearly grown together, as one city under the name of Coosbay. The name Marshfield can hardly be said to appeal to people who are seeking a location. The title suggests a marshy field and surrounding conditions that are unhealthy. Of course, Marshfield is ideal as far as health is concerned, but the stranger is not aware of that fact and the name tends to mislead. While the proposed name "Coosbay" does not appeal to us as the best name, it would be an improvement over Marshfield. Why not call it Bendfield?

REAL ESTATE MARKET GOOD

LIVELY SALE OF PROPERTY IN FIRST ADDITION TO MARSHFIELD REPORTED BY PARTIES INTERESTED WHO PREDICT RECORD-BREAKING SALES.

The Reynolds Development company has been enjoying a good market for their property in First Addition to Marshfield during the week. Manager A. Y. Meyers expressed himself as well pleased with the results to date and predicts a record-breaking sale as soon as actual construction on the railroad commences. He said that the company had been obliged to commence the reservation of lots a little sooner than was at first contemplated because of the demand for certain of the company's lands by local parties. However the work is now well in hand, streets are now clearly marked, lots are being rapidly staked off, and the plat is ready to file. When this last is done, the company will have about twenty deeds to draw up for sales already agreed upon.

TO THE PUBLIC

IN THIS short article it is impossible to do more than touch upon the great subjects that are of vital importance to humanity in general. Let us at all times remember that ("God") has given us reasoning powers and "He" expects us to use them, therefore, please do not misconstrue the following to mean that "My Method" and "Treatments" are perfection and that all else have no merit. I am striving with all the power within me to employ the best for each particular case and must have your co-operation.

HOW TO SWEEP A ROOM.

Work Can Be Made Easy by Proper Methods.

In the first place, supply yourself with sweeping sheets. Many times the soiled sheets from the bed are used for this purpose, but that is not exactly a clean method. If you do not have them already buy the coarse, unbleached cotton cloth, double width, and bind with turkey red. Make the sheets big enough to cover the largest piece of furniture you wish to protect. The next thing is to dress properly for the work. Have a cotton frock which fits easily in the waist and sleeves so that your arms may move unimpeded, easy shoes, a sweeping cap and a pair of loose old gloves. Carry from the room all small objects which you cannot lay on couches or chairs that can be covered. Dust them before you lay them aside. Then move out of the room all small furniture which can be taken from the room easily, dusting it carefully also. Now cover with the dusting sheets all the remaining pieces of furniture, using the smaller sheets for the pictures. Remove rugs and the like. Have ready the damp tea leaves or shreds of paper, for it is not wise to do dry sweeping. The dust will fly no matter what you may do. The damp tea leaves prevent it flying about and settling down again in the crevices and corners. Sweep from the corners toward the center of the room.

Boys and Girls Meeting.

A meeting for boys and girls will be held at the church at 3 p. m. Sunday. Mrs. G. L. Hall will have charge of the service.

NAVAL MILITIA IS PRAISED

Inspector Davis of U. S. Navy Department Tells of Trip to Coos Bay.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 9. — The Oregonian prints the following: "Oregon's Naval Militia is composed of an admirable body of men. Its officers, I have found, are willing to do more than their share in getting the organization properly under way. While a little feeling may have been exhibited recently, that must be disregarded an dall should pull together for the good of the service. I am here to get acquainted, not to criticize, inspect or condemn. There is increasing interest by the public in naval militia affairs, and a decidedly increased concern in its growth by the Navy Department." Such was the trend of remarks made a few days ago by Commander Archibald H. Davis, U.S.N., head of the Naval Militia branch of the Navy Department, who returned on the steamer Breakwater from Coos Bay after having inspected the cruiser Boston at Marshfield and kept in touch with her movements by wireless until she crossed the Coos Bay bar at 1:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, bound for Portland. Commander Davis was accompanied by Mrs. Davis. The trip was a tour of inspection of naval militia organizations, on which Commander Davis departed from Washington June 15. He has participated in the important cruises this season on the Atlantic Coast and the Great Lakes. "The growth of the naval militia body in the United States and the interest evinced in it by all concerned is surprising. The government recognizes in it the same possibilities that are developed through the militia land forces, and in the branch of the Navy Department that has to do with militia matters it is the intention to assist every organization. I began this trip to get into closer touch with officers and men. I am impressed with those of the Oregon divisions.

"I visited and inspected the cruiser Boston at Marshfield and now I feel that when writing to Oregon again about militia matters I know the officers and they know me, which is a great help." Commander and Mrs. Davis were entertained by Major Knapp, quartermaster of the state militia forces, and Mrs. Knapp, and they left Portland last night for San Francisco, where the California divisions will be inspected.

How to Drink Milk.

The proper way of drinking milk is little understood. Thousands of people drink a glass of milk without removing the receptacle from their lips. No sooner does this mass of milk reach the stomach than the gastric juices curdle it and form masses of hard, tough and impenetrable curd. If the digestion is sufficiently vigorous it may be taken care of, but few have such digestion. If the milk were drunk slowly, at the same time a piece of bread being taken, it would be finely divided and the curd would be broken up and the processes of digestion would proceed readily. However, it is an evident rule that milk should never be taken rapidly in any considerable quantity, but should be slowly sipped or taken with a spoon or in connection with bread or some dry cereal.
