

CLOTHCRAFT All-Wool Clothes

OF all the clothes you have seen advertised as all-wool it is not hard to remember Clothcraft, when you know it is the only line guaranteed all-wool at medium prices.

If you once wear them you will never forget the pleasing distinctive style, the graceful comfortable fit, the lasting shape, the close-fitting collar, the smooth-lying lapel, the perfectly poised sleeves, the thin edges, the carefully worked button-holes and all the other quality marks of satisfaction that you never expect to find in any but high-priced clothes.

How you can get them all in Clothcraft Clothes at $10 to $25 is explained by Clothcraft Scientific Tailoring methods, which save time and cost without sacrificing quality. See the results of these methods in the clothes themselves, consider the guaranty—then figure for yourself the advantages Clothcraft Clothes give you in quality and price.

We have the Clothcraft Blue Serge Special No. 4130 at $18.50 advertised in The Saturday Evening Post.

Prisoners Here.—Sheriff Gage and Deputy McDonald arrived here from Coquille today with Alvin Pierce and Louis Whitney whom they will take to Salem tomorrow to begin serving their terms in the state penitentiary.

Boys Tract.—A. M. Ross today purchased five acres of the Potter ranch from E. W. Wright of Portland. Mr. Wright recently bought the forty acres which is known as the Potter ranch. Mr. Ross bought the tract for a home.

Cost of Property.—M. P. Gulovson informs The Times that the cost of the corner at Central and Broadway was more than was given the other day. He and his brother, G. R. Gulovson, purchased the lot together for $2,500. Later, M. P. Gulovson paid G. R. Gulovson $5,500 for the latter's half interest, making the Straw Better.—Mayor E. E. Straw was reported rapidly improving today. He is now able to sleep and rest well and the delirium which caused some alarm is no longer evident.

Pastors Named.—At the annual conference of the Methodist church, South, in Roseburg, Rev. C. H. Cleaves was assigned to the Coquille charge and W. B. Smith and W. M. Lyons to the Myrtle Point pastorate.

Electric Clocks.—Manager Otto Schetter of the Western Union is endeavoring to install a number of electric clocks in Marshfield. The time-pieces to be regulated every day by wire. Their installation will probably eliminate the discrepancy in time on Coos Bay.

Pioneer Hurt.—B. F. Ross, the well-known Catching Inlet pioneer, slipped and fell yesterday, severely bruising his side. The injury is very painful but not of a serious character. That he will quickly recover is the ardent wish of the venerable man's many friends on the Bay.

Enforce Ruling.—Deputy Game Warden St. Noah announced today that the new ruling of the State Game Warden Finley that receipts for money paid for licenses would no longer be considered a legal permit for hunting or fishing, as printed in The Times yesterday, will be rigidly enforced by him in the near future. He wishes everyone who is now hunting or fishing on receipts to take steps immediately to get their regular licenses.

Surveyors Busy.—The surveyors making their headquarters at North Bend are busy out on North Inlet. Their operations are somewhat delayed by the absence of L. J. Simpson of the Simpson Lumber Company whose property it is understood they desire to cross. Mr. Simpson was expected home on the Redondo but did not come, having decided to make the trip overland. Capt. Edgar Simpson returned on the Redondo.

Joke on Lund.—O. O. Lund yesterday thought that he was getting off a great joke on August Olson, his shoemaker who had been visiting in Wisconsin. Mr. Lund heard that Olson was coming in on the Nann Smith so he thought he would have some fun by starting a report that Olson was married while away, not dreaming that such was actually the case. When Mr. Olson and his bride, for he was married in Wisconsin a few weeks ago unbeknownst to his friends on the Bay, arrived here last evening, Lund almost fell dead, according to August Frizeen.

Wed Last Night.—A quiet wedding took place last evening at Bunker Hill at which time Malcolm J. Anderson was married to Ethel D. Richardson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Richardson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. LeRoy Hall, pastor of the local Baptist church in the presence of a few near friends and the immediate family of the bride. The young husband and wife are domiciled in their own new home, which had already been built by Mr. Anderson and in which the wedding took place. The congratulations of many friends have already been received by Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

Messrs. Hetherington and Loughheed of Marshfield this week purchased the steamer Rita from Russell Brothers of North Bend and are now running it.

The Nann Smith which arrived in yesterday afternoon from Bay Point, sailed at 12:40 today, having crossed in, gone to the mill, taken on her cargo and crossed out to sea again in twenty-four hours.

Vessel In Trouble.—M. Martin, who drove over last night in an auto from Bandon, reports that three-masted schooner nearly met with a serious accident there yesterday afternoon. She attempted to sail in and was suddenly blown over near the jetty where she struck. The tide was rising at the time and they expected to get her off without being badly damaged.

FRED LISTER BURNED.

Workmen Scorched In Threatened Fire This Afternoon.

Fred Lister of North Bend, an employe of the gas company, was pretty badly scorched this afternoon by a blaze that threatened to start a fire in the O'Connell building on North Front street. There was a gas leak under the building and Lister and others attempted to find it. Through a mistake, they shut off the water supply instead of the gas supply. Lister crawled underneath and thinking the gas shut off, lit a match. Instantly a flame shot up from the uncapped gas-pipe. Lister was in close quarters under the floor. He was scorched around the head, face and hands but not seriously burned. The side of the room was merely blackened before the fire was extinguished.
