Vessel Movements The Excelsior arrived in today with freight from San Francisco. She will load at the C. A. Smith mill. The Tramp sailed today for Gold Beach and Port Orford with a full cargo of general merchandise.

Gets Pocketbook.—Through a Times found ad, Miss Jennie Jones recovered a pocketbook which she lost a few days ago. George Watkins Jr., picked it up on the street and brought it to The Times' office, a found ad was inserted, Miss Jones read it and came and secured her purse.

Now at Eugene.—F. P. Norton is at Eugene with his string of horses, taking part in the Lane county fair which is in progress this week. According to a letter John Snyder received from him, Mr. Norton is highly pleased with the showing his horses have made and he expects to land some more winnings before the circuit closes.

Pays Fine.—Robert Jensen, the longshoreman who got the worst of a one round bout with Marshal Carter on North Front street a few weeks ago and who at first announced that he was going to fight the charges against him, yesterday appeared before Recorder John Butler and plead guilty to a charge of drunkenness and paid a $15 fine.

Change Mail Schedule.—Beginning October 1, the winter mail schedule will go into effect and outgoing mail will leave here in the evening instead of in the morning, but will continue to arrive between midnight and morning. The contractors are endeavoring to have the mail leave at 6 o'clock P. M., instead of 7 o'clock as last year, desiring the additional time as a precaution against bad roads.

Joke on Hunters.—J. O. Stemmler, who was over from Myrtle Point last evening, was telling a good joke on a party of Marshfield hunters who were after big game near Myrtle Point this week. The party consisted of Harry Winkler, Harry McKeown and W. R. Haines, and they were hunting near the Joe Knight place. Mr. Knight knew them well and after they had hunted in vain for a buck, Mr. Knight got a stuffed head and slipped out and put it up near the trail where the hunters hold would be sure to see it. Sure enough they came along and saw the big buck's head sticking out of the brush. Volley after volley was fired but still the buck did not drop. Finally the hoax was discovered, according to Mr. Stemmler but whether there were any bullet holes in the stuffed head he did not say. They did get one nice buck which partly mollified their feelings.
