"How Do Clothcraft Clothes Wear?"

IT'S hard to decide when Clothcraft Clothes are old enough to throw away.

Long after you would discard ordinary clothes because they are wrinkled, shabby and shapeless, you can still be well dressed in Clothcraft Clothes.

They hold their shape, style and good looks to their last day. They give you the kind of satisfactory wear and service that you can expect only from all-wool clothes, skillfully designed, accurately tailored and carefully inspected.

Yet we can sell you Clothcraft Clothes, guaranteed for wool, wear, shape-holding and service, at $10 to $25—your size and taste at about $15, $18 and $20.

The Clothcraft Blue Serge Special No. 4130 at $18.50 is low in price, but very high in quality and workmanship.

Sprains Ankle.—Mrs. E. S. Bargelt yesterday slipped and severely sprained her ankle while walking on the porch at her home. The injury is a very painful one and will probably confine her to her home for a few weeks.

Injured at Riverton.—High Sneddon received a message this morning stating that his brother, Will Sneddon, had been badly injured at the Gage mine there. It seems that he was working on the dump and one of the levers flew back and struck him in the face or head. The physician reported that Will would be able to be brought to his home in Marshfield in a couple of days and stated that although the injuries were painful they were not of a critical nature.

Has Blood Poison.—Mrs. Lester Smith of Coos River, who has been suffering from blood poisoning as a result of an infection from pricking her finger with a fish hook was taken to Mercy hospital yesterday. She was reported getting along nicely today.

Standard Time.—Manager Schetter of the Western Union has arranged with a number of local business houses to install a number of Western Union electric clocks. The clocks will be regulated daily by wire and it is expected that they will at last standardize the time on Coos Bay.

Another Micelli.—Coos Bay friends of Frank Micelli, secretary of the Southern Oregon district fair, have learned that it was a relative, Joseph Micelli, and not he, who was elected mayor of Roseburg last week. Local friends of Frank Micelli first informed The Times that it was he who was elected.

Is Ill.—Dr. and Mrs. J. T. McCormac yesterday received word that their son, Fred, who is attending Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis had been suddenly taken ill. He showed symptoms of diphtheria and was taken to Portland for treatment. He was getting along nicely, according to the latest advices they received.

Will Give Ball.—Manager Wilson of the Coos Bay Concert Band is arranging for a ball to be given by the band to the supporters of the organization at the Odd Fellows hall a week from Tuesday evening. It will be strictly an invitational affair, limited to contributors to the band, and the invitations will be issued this week.

Prepare For Exposition.—The Times is in receipt of an invitation from the Panama Pacific International Exposition company to attend the ground breaking ceremony at San Francisco Saturday, October 14, when President Taft will throw the first shovelful of dirt in the preparations for the big Panama Canal Exposition to be held there in 1915.

Gets Quick Results.—Friday Homer Mauzey put a want ad in The Times to sell some household furniture. He thought it would have to run several days. Friday evening, the furniture was sold Saturday morning almost before he got up there were two or three people at his home inquiring about it. It pays to advertise in The Times.

HILL TALKS OF FUTURE PLANS

Think Coos Bay Will Be Terminus of East and West For Eureka.

Jas J. Hill while in Oregon last week to attend the celebration at Bend, indicated that he had just started in extending his lines in Oregon. While he did not give details as to proposed extensions in this state, many Coos Bay men construe his statements to mean that he will have an east and west line across the state and that Coos Bay will be the western terminus of it as well as possibly being in a north and south coast line of the Hill system reaching to San Francisco.

Concerning Mr. Hill's plans, a Portland paper says: "We are stopped at Bend for only a little while. We shall quickly be pushing on. We have decided to wait here at Bend only long enough to see in what directions the setting up of the country will be fastest, to see where the people who homestead will be most permanent and successful."

This assertion of Mr. Hill has the highest significance to Central Oregon people and those interested in its development. To the east and south are the surveys into Harney county where townships have never been touched by plow, where in 10,000 square miles there are only 5,000 people.

"It will require more than one railroad to develop Central Oregon," said the railroad builder. "We are prepared to build two or three more roads very soon. We will not wait. I have confidence and faith in this Oregon country. Within five years the population of Central Oregon will be 300,000. Within ten years it should be more than 1,000,000.

Promises Harney a Railway.
"I have not seen the Harney country but I will say that it was the reports concerning the possibilities of Harney county that caused me to decide to go through the Deschutes canyon. It will only be a matter of time and a very short time at that, until we extend the railroad into Harney. One of the greatest regrets I have in connection with this visit is that storm kept me from being at Burns and attending the meeting of the development league."

Not in San Francisco by 1915.
Before he had finished the interview Mr. Hill exploded the belief of many that the Oregon Trunk line will be extended to San Francisco. "I will not say that we will not be in San Francisco in time for the exposition in 1915," he said with eyes shrewdly twinkling, "but we will not go into San Francisco over the Oregon Trunk. It would be foolish for us to choose the longest and roughest way to California."
"What is the shortest and smoothest way?" was asked quickly.

"There are several possible ways," Mr. Hill answered evasively. "but we built the Oregon Trunk into Central Oregon for the development of Central Oregon. We built the best possible track and the best possible road-bed because we believe Central Oregon development merits the best."

$85,000,000 to Back Faith.
"I will illustrate our faith in Oregon. The Great Northern and Northern Pacific have spent over $85,000,000 getting to Oregon. We have never earned a dollar on the investment. But we know we are going to. We know that the opening of Oregon opens millions and millions of acres to homes and farmers—that is where the profit will be. Now we are sending out our men to learn what are the problems and difficulties of this country so that they can help the people to be successful working the land. We are going ahead of the rest, willing to do everything possible at no matter what expense, because we believe in Central Oregon."

STATE ORGANIZER HERE.
Floyd C. Ramp Will Speak at Socialists Hall in Marshfield.
Floyd C. Ramp, state organizer in Oregon for the socialists, is on the Bay and tonight will address a mass meeting at the Marshfield Socialists hall on "Socialism." Mr. Ramp is a graduate of the University of Oregon, a clear, concise and entertaining speaker on the issues of the day. Tonight's meeting will be free and the local socialists are endeavoring to secure a large audience to welcome Mr. Ramp who will spend considerable time in this section.

CARL KAUFMAN returned yesterday from a week's outing on Coos River. Yesterday he made the champion fish catch of the season landing an eleven-pound salmon trout with a fly line and a three joint pole. W. S. Small, who was present vouches for the story because he helped to land it.
