Mother and child are doing well and the proud father says that this new leader of the band already makes the sweetest music he ever heard. With a few years practice Sousa will have to look to his laurels. "Bob" says he expects to be marching to the young band master's music in a few days. Had Big Crowd—There was a large attendance at the dance and social given by the Linnea society at the Finnish hall Saturday night and a fine time was enjoyed.

Find Elk Horn—While excavating for the Smith-Powers Logging road on Isthmus Inlet the other day, workmen unearthed one-half of the antlers of an elk. The horn was perfectly preserved and was about fifteen feet under ground. Evidently it had been shed by the monarch of the herd in a gulch and a small landslide covered it.

Testimonial of Regard—The pupils of the Eastside Sunday school presented Rev. G. LeRoy Hall of the Baptist church with a substantial sum of money yesterday afternoon as a testimonial of their esteem and regard. It came as a pleasant surprise to the pastor and also as one of those long to be remembered incidents in a minister's life when the evidence of appreciation of his efforts makes the earthpath pleasanter.

Back From Canada—Geo. W. Tribbey, city inspector, arrived home early yesterday morning via the old Coos Bay wagon road from a few months' visit at various points in Canada. Most of his time was spent in Toronto and Winnipeg. He says they are two fine cities and are growing very fast. Of Canadians as a whole, he formed a very poor impression. While in some ways he enjoyed the trip, he is more than glad to get back here as he suffered from illness and various ailments most of the time. One day it would be hot, the next day cold, the next windy or rainy and he says if the people only realized how fine it was on Coos Bay they would all come, bag and baggage. He found very few in Canada who had heard of Coos Bay and its inducement, but he spread the booster gospel far and wide and says that he expects to see many of the people he talked with here within the next year.

QUOTES SMITH'S MESSAGE.

Attitude of Head of Menasha Company on Port Litigation.

J. W. Bennett handed us the following, which he requested us to publish:
"In The Times of October 10 there appeared the following:—C. R. Smith head of the Menasha Woodware company which absorbed the local holdings of the Southern Oregon company some time ago, has stated in a letter to the Port of Coos Bay commissioners that he will dismiss all the suits started by the Southern Oregon company attacking the validity of the Port of Coos Bay if the Port Commission will pay all the court costs and attorney fees in the Hale case and the case of the Bennett Trust company and the Southern Oregon company."
"The night letter from Mr. C. R. Smith to Henry Sengstaken upon which the above was based is as follows:—Have always thought and so expressed it to representative men of Marshfield, that taxing back of Bay for improvement of the Bay was an imposition, however, I had nothing to do with suits. They were instituted by Elijah Smith. If bulk of citizens prefer carrying out this injustice think I would be willing to withdraw all suits instituted by Elijah Smith and Southern Oregon company if all expenses incurred by reason of these suits would be paid by these favoring bond issue."

CHANGES IN SURVEYS.

Settlers on National forests under the act of June 11, 1906, will no longer have to pay for a survey, as they have had to do in the past on unsurveyed lands, when the claim goes to patent. This relieves many settlers under the act, commonly known as the Forest Homestead law, from a burdensome expense. Relief from this burden has been brought about by an agreement between the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture, whereby surveys made by employees of the Forest Service will be under the supervision of the Surveyor General, so that they can be accepted by the General Land Office as final.
