COOS BAY FOREST FIRES

(From the Portland Journal)
THE loss by forest fires this year in the forests of Coos county and parts of Curry and Douglas counties, patrolled by the Coos County Fire Patrol association, is reported to be that only 599 acres were burned over, with a total timber loss not exceeding 200,000 feet.

The association is said to have spent about $10,000. The cost of the fire protection work averaged one and one half cents per acre. The timber tributary to Coos Bay was estimated a few years ago at not less than 14,000,000 feet.

The association is allied with the state organization but its work is its own and by results justifies itself.

First of all, its money is spent in cutting trails through the untraversable forests to make all outlying and secluded districts accessible to the rangers. Then it extends telephone lines far and near, that incipient fires may be reported before they become dangerous. And, by giving the farmers whose lands are crossed by the wires the free use of them conditioned on their reporting fires, the association enlists the individual interest for the common benefit.

No longer watching hopelessly the advance of the smoke clouds, high in air, the isolated family calls for expert and efficient help, and the fire fighters are quickly summoned to their aid.

If it be true that the loss by fire in the district covered by this association was less than in any similar district in the state it is a loud call to similar action in every other timbered region, for the means are simple and the cost insignificant indeed in proportion to the service rendered. Hundreds of years of growth are shown in the rings exposed when one of our forest giants has been felled. Did you ever count them and figure how slow this one crop has been in ripening for use? To recklessly expose it to its one danger—fire—or to waste its value in unskilled logging is worse than foolish, it is a crime.

October's Tapestry.

By the mountain stands October,
Like a weaver brown and old;
For his warp he uses sunbeams—
Threads of palpitating gold;
And the loom spread out before him
Is the forest dim and green,
While his shuttle, playing swiftly,
Is the wind of autumn keen.

For his woof he chooses colors—
Amethyst and purple lost
In the blue of smoke and shadows,
In the gray of early frost;
Vivid carmine, saffron, amber;
Faded tints the summer left;
Mauve and lilac softly blended—
All these form October's weft.

All day long I hear the music
Of his shuttle and his loom;
All day long I watch him weaving
Till the stars begin to bloom.
And the figures on his fabric,
As each day they brighter grow,
Seem the forms and flow'r-like faces
Of the Junos I used to know.

BORN.

LAFON—To Mr. and Mrs. John Lafon, Jr., at the home of Mrs. Lafon's parents in Harrodsburg, Ky., a daughter, Wed., Oct. 18. News of the arrival of the little Miss has just been received here and will be most gratifying to the many friends of the estimable parents. Mr. Lafon left here about a week ago and should reach Harrodsburg today. He will probably remain there until his wife and daughter can return with him to Marshfield.

FISH—To Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Fish, October 20, a son. Mother and child are doing nicely. They reside near the Smith-Powers Logging camp, No. 2.

Sails Today—The Nann Smith sailed this forenoon with another big cargo of lumber from the Smith mill for Bay Point.

Struck by Auto—Phoebe Burroughs, a young daughter of Dr. A. C. Burroughs, was struck by a delivery auto yesterday while she was playing on the street. She was not injured.

Get Homesteads—Chester Bear and Jay Grimes yesterday appeared before United States Land Commissioner Arthur K. Peck and made final proof on their homesteads which are located near North Inlet.

Leave Today—Floyd C. Ramp, the Socialist lecturer who has been assisting the Coos county Socialists in their campaign for new members, left today for Portland. Last evening, the Socialists' hall was crowded to hear him. His address was devoted to an explanation of true socialism.

Plan For Fight—Arrangements are being made for a twenty-round bout between Danny O'Brien of Portland and Earl Henderson, to be pulled off here about November 11. O'Brien has been here a couple of times and is a clever boxer. A couple of preliminaries will also be arranged, probably.

No meeting called—No meeting has yet been called to consider Engineer Richardson's report on the Coos Bay waterworks situation. The Clear Lake property recommended as a source of supply is owned by Dr. E. Mings, J. Albert Matson, L. J. Simpson and W. S. Chandler and others.

Must Repair Road—T. W. Rennie of North Bend who has the contract for carrying the mail between North Bend and Gardiner, states that the postoffice inspector has notified him that unless the road supervisors along the route repair the road and cut out the brush, the service may be discontinued. The brush is so dense that it is impossible to keep the mail dry during the rainy weather.

Bound Over—Jess Day, former pugilist, is confined in the Coos county jail pending the action of the grand jury on charges against him in connection with a "rough house" in a resort there. He is unable to furnish $500 bail required by Justice Holden. Marjorie Dean and Miss Brack were required to furnish $100 bonds each for appearance as witnesses against Day.

Opposes Discharge—Wm. Dawson of Ada county, Idaho, has entered objection to the discharge of J. Virgil Pugh in the bankruptcy courts. As one of the grounds for opposing Mr. Pugh's discharge was of liability for various debts, Mr. Dawson sets out that just prior to filing his petition in bankruptcy, Mr. Pugh transferred fifteen shares of stock in the Coos Bay Tide Land company to Abraham Van Zile of North Bend for $225 when the stock was reasonably worth $3.00.

Line Nearly Done—Jas Watt, who returned today from a trip to Coquille, reports that Contractor Condon has practically completed the grading for the changing of the local railway's tracts at Coquille City. The fine weather has enabled them to make rapid progress on the work, much to the gratification of Supt. Miller. Mr. Watt says it is very gratifying to see some actual railroad building after hearing all the talk about construction during the last few years.

Port Election—Parties from Curry county report that intense interest is being taken in the approaching Port Orford port election which is to be held Friday, October 30. Many of the big timber owners in the district are fighting it and it is also said that many of the ranchers are against it. A large amount of literature has been circulated against it. On the other hand, the business men of Port Orford are holding mass meetings throughout that section to urge the voters to support the proposition.
