BORN. RICHARDS—To Mr. and Mrs. Geo Richards of Isthmus Inlet, a daughter. Mother and child are doing nicely.

Fine New Home.—Mrs. J. J. Kendall is having a fine new residence erected on her property at Bunker Hill.

Plan Smoker.—The Marshfield Elks lodge will enjoy a social at the conclusion of tonight's meeting when it is expected that a couple of candidates will be initiated.

Barley Higher.—F. S. Dow today received word of an advance of $3 per ton in the price of rolled barley. He attributes it to heavy purchases by the brewers. It is now $6 per ton higher at wholesale than he ever knew it to be.

Bulkhead Breaks.—The bulkhead around the Burke saloon on North Front street gave way this morning and as a result, it was flooded with water and mud and the Oregon had to stop pumping there until the break could be repaired.

North Bend News

MARKET AVE. WORK ORDERED

not pump high enough to bring the streets to grade. On Market, between Sixth and Seventh, about 11,000 yards would have to be excavated but as this improvement would not be even beneficial to the abutting property owners now, he advised against it. He estimated the cost of this one block would be, without paving, about $5,500. Councilman Albrecht and D. L. Rood stated that contractors had offered to move this dirt at thirty cents per yard, but Mr. Gidley explained that while they might be able to move it at this price, they could not put it in the street and roll it solid, as would be required, for this amount.

Besides this improvement, Street Commissioner Lawhorne was instructed to go over the sewer system in the district to be filled and rebuild or repair it so that the heavy fill would not break it. The abutting property owners will be required to pay for it.

Property Owners Favor It.

There was a big turnout of property owners and with the exception of Councilman Albrecht all were in favor of the improvement from the start. Dr. McCormac spoke in favor of it and pointed out how it would not only be beneficial to the abutting property but to the whole city. He said that if the dredge fill, which was the practical way of handling the project, should damage Mr. Albrecht's property the latter should be paid the damages and that he was willing to personally be one of the required number to sign a bond guaranteeing that Mr. Albrecht should be reimbursed for any damage that the fill might do.

I. R. Tower in behalf of Mrs. Minnie Tower urged the dredge fill. So did D. L. Rood in behalf of the Baptist church. So did Rev. Browning in behalf of the Episcopal church. So did R. H. Olson Levi Smith, Peter Johnson, E. G. Flanagan, Henry Sengstacken, Arthur McKeown and others.

Finally Carl Albrecht explained why he was opposed to the dredge fill and explained how the two previous dredge fills had converted his residence property into a pond and destroyed the trees and shrubbery. He intimated that a single protest filed with the War Department would prevent the Oregon pumping in on the property. Mayor Straw informed him that he was mistaken as Engineer Leefer had agreed to go ahead with the fill if he (the mayor) would simply tell him to do so, providing satisfactory bulkheads were built. Finally Mr. Albrecht said that if the improvement was not stopped at Fourth street but would reach back to Seventh street, he would withdraw his opposition.

"That's where we have got your goat," replied Mayor Straw and the specifications were called for showing that it went to Sixth street with a temporary improvement between Sixth and Seventh.

A. H. Stutsman did not want the street opened the full width between Sixth and Seventh as it would leave his property about thirty feet above the street but he said that he was willing to pay his share towards any satisfactory improvement of it that could be made. Finally R. K. Booth and Dr. McCormac pointed out that the improvement of Sixth and Seventh streets south from Knob Hill across the flat would require all the dirt from the hill in the future and that it could be left to advantage for this purpose.

Other Business Up.

The new grade on North Front street was adopted. The majority of the property owners are now said to be desirous of having the street grade there higher than was originally proposed.

An ordinance regulating the stringing of telephone, telegraph and electric wires to buildings, also providing that guy wires must be encased in wooden boxes, was read. In order to give the companies affected an opportunity to be heard on it, action was deferred until next meeting.

Contractor Perham was ordered to be paid $82.37 on his Elrod avenue street improvement contract and $160 was ordered to be paid the storm sewer contractor.

A letter from Jas. C. Spencer urging that the future name of Marshfield should be either Coos or Coog City or Empire was read but no action was taken on it.

The present day fashions in women's clothes, says Thomas A. Edison, hurt the eyes. Perhaps he can invent something that will help men to keep their eyes focused on less harmful sights.

The Chicago man who had his pockets filled of $400 while in church must have recklessly "fished his roll" while trying to find a nickel for the contribution box.

LIVE FOR GOLD; DIE BANKRUPT

Says Dr. Knox at Revival Last Night—Religious Census Is Being Taken.

(By Rev. G. LeRoy Hall) "If a man's life consists for a certainty in the things of this world, he is the same as lost." —Knox.

The sermon last night was delivered by the pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city and was a strong appeal to men to make Jesus Christ the center of their living. Dr. Knox spoke on the text "For me to live is Christ; to die is gain," and said in part:

"These words come from a great heart of love, a compassion so great as to exclude all other considerations. Notice that the words of the text, which are the words of the great Apostle Paul, were not spoken in the beginning of his ministry, but after long years of experience, such experience as ship wreck, scourging, persecutions and treatment. For Paul to live in the midst of these experiences meant then Christ. The old Paul, the persecutor, was now dead and the new life in Jesus was now manifesting itself. Christ was in his life or he could never have made such statements.

"This text brings us to consider the personal question, 'What do I live for? What is life?' The celebrated French philosopher Descartes said, 'I know wherefore I am.' People exist for certain things. Some for one thing, some for another. The man who lives for money has no Lord's day. He works right on seven days in the week manifesting what his life consists in. Some live for social distinction. They actually live in the realm of pink teas, parties, balls, the high-priced seats in the theater or the expensive pews in the costly church. But if a man lives for certainty in the things of this world he is as good as lost.

"What is the center of your life? Is it Jesus Christ or the getting of money? I mean by the center that, which if it were taken away, would leave you the same as dead. That was what Paul meant when he said that Christ was his life. Jesus may be yours if you will move the center from self and money to Him.

A religious census is now being taken by a large committee who travel from house to house gathering statistics relative to the religious standing of the family. The committee is meeting with few rebukes and is generally kindly received and the answers are quickly tabulated. Should they come to your home, you may realize that these workers are unpaid and are doing it for the good of the cause of Christ in Marshfield. Meeting tonight at 7:30.

CORPORATIONS HAVE NO RIGHT TO PRIVACY

Governor Wilson, in his Indianapolis address, made most emphatically the point that the corporations have none of the rights of private individuals and must be treated solely as the public welfare demands;

"A modern joint stock corporation cannot in any proper sense be said to base its rights and powers upon the principles of private property. Its powers are wholly derived from legislation. It possesses them for the convenience of business at the sufferance of the public. Its stock is widely owned, passes from hand to hand, brings multitudes of men into its shifting partnerships and connects it with the interests and the investments of whole communities. It is a segment of the public; bears no analogy to a partnership or to the processes by which private property is safeguarded and managed, and should not be suffered to afford any covert whatever to those who are managing it. Its management is of public and general concern, is in a very proper sense everybody's business."—(From "Success Magazine.")

FATAL LEAP BY RALPH DIMMICK

Jumped From Window While Delirious From Injuries In Football Game.

A Portland paper gives the following account of the tragic death of Ralph Dimmick, who has a number of relatives in this section, and whose brother, Hardy E. Dimmick, was summoned from here Sunday:

"In delirium caused by pneumonia growing out of an injury received in a football game a week ago, Ralph Dimmick, lawyer, athlete with a national reputation and a member of a prominent pioneer family of Marion county, leaped from his room on the second floor of St. Vincent's hospital shortly before daylight, ran about four blocks and was carried back into the hospital in an unconscious condition. He died 20 minutes later, receiving in his last minutes from the hands of a sister, the rites of the Catholic church, of which he was a recent convert."
