URGES ABANDONMENT OF DENOMINATIONAL DISTINCTIONS

THE Outlook's editor-in-chief outlines what he considers the church for today.

It is based on abandonment of denominational distinctions in towns of small population where one evangelical church is all that is needed for the Protestant population.

The message of this church would be as simple as the Christ's sermon on the mount, or Peter's sermon at Pentecost. The congregations would consist of the speakers of several languages and have English speaking, German, Italian, Polish or Scandinavian pastors.

The recommendations are courageous to the point of radicalism. They call for reconstruction that conservatives consider revolution. But the solution of the problem of the unchurched in unchurched communities lies along some such road.

ABIGAIL SCOTT DUNIWAY IS 77 YEARS OLD.

Oregon "Grand Old Woman Expects to See Suffrage in State, for She Has Long Fought."

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—On October 23—"Oregon's Grand Old Woman," Abigail Scott Duniway, celebrated the 77th anniversary of her birth.

Although Mrs. Duniway has worked tirelessly for the cause of suffrage for four decades, she has never received a cent of money for her labors, but she declares she would rather have the love and respect that is accorded to her than a king's ransom. Now, in evening of her days, she is cheered, she says, by the knowledge that the spirit of the work to which she has devoted her life "is afloat in the Oregon air."

Mrs. Duniway has little patience with the persons who howl for the old-fashioned woman. As an indication of her attitude toward equal rights, an amusing anecdote is told of the recent meeting of the State Federation of Women's clubs at Roseburg. State Superintendent of Public Instruction Alderman, at the close of an address, declared that he hoped the time would come when every girl would be required to make her own graduating dress. He was hardly seated before Mrs. Duniway was upon her feet and burst forth with:

"There is no more reason for a girl's being required to make her own graduating dress than for a boy to make his own graduating trousers!" and she sat down amidst the laughter and applause of the audience.

CULLINGS OF COQUILLE.

Coos County Seat News as Told by The Sentinel.

Claude Waters of Lee brought in some potatoes this week of the White Star variety that are wonders for size and beauty. He raised about fifty sacks of these potatoes on about a quarter of an acre of ground.

Articles of Incorporation were filed with the county clerk this week by the following firms: Coos and Curry Land, with offices at Bandon; Bandon Clay Products company for the manufacture of brick and tile.

Fred Barker ran his hand in the feed roller of the planer at the Coquille Mill and Mercantile company's mill Tuesday afternoon. His fingers were cut and bruised. Elton Tyrrell, who took his place at the machine ran his hand in the machine in the same manner.

WITH THE TOAST AND TEA

GOOD EVENING. Never a minute shall you despoise, Use it in some strong way. Doing your best through each hour that flies, Gives life a noble day.

HALLOWE'EN

When the autumn winds are sighing, And the trees and flowers dying, Clothe the earth in mournful gray; When the chestnuts all are turning, From the fading sun's last burning, And the squirrels hoard each day;

Then it is that sprites are hiding, Future fates for young deciding For a great romantic eve. Most uncanny pranks are plotted, Work to each imp is allotted, So we all love to believe.

When the longed-for night is reigning Hearts are beating, ears are straining For a supernatural sign; Maiden fills the bowl with water; (Just to find out who's to court her) Glides through rooms unrav'ling twine;

Holds the candle fore the mirror; Breathlessly she looks for fear her Future husband won't be seen. So it was, and always will be Superstition, charm and myst'ry With the thought of hallowe'en.

Most rat holes will bear looking into.

Isn't the lover who braves the storm a rain-beau?

It doesn't require an axe to cut an acquaintance.

Corn on the cob is more acceptable than corn on the foot.

CONNECTICUT TURKEY FOR PRES. TAFT

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 1.—Connecticut hopes to supply President Taft's table with a Thanksgiving turkey. A local farmer has an especially attractive and supposedly toothsome gobbler which already weighs nearly 30 pounds, and which will take on added weight under the special training of the weeks to come. It is being fed on a diet of blended cereals mixed with nuts, wild rice and celery steeped in sweet wines. This diet is expected to produce a plump taste, something like a combination of Scotch quail and American woodcock.

JACKRABBIT ON MAIN STREET OF SALEM

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 31.—A big jackrabbit visited Salem the other day. L. H. McMahan spied him hopping down State street near the Ladd and Bush bank at 12:30 o'clock noon and gave chase. Two hundred boys and dogs joined. The rabbit made a dive for Paterson's saloon but finding that closed to all under 21 years, he turned and circled two blocks and ran into the city jail where he escaped his pursuers. He is now in possession of the fire boys.

GOV. WEST NOT ELIGIBLE.

Oregon Executive Born in Canada and Can't be Vice-President.

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 1.—The booming of United States Senator Gore of Oklahoma for Governor Oswald West of Oregon whom Gore is quoted as saying he would like to see as the Democratic candidate for the vice presidency as a running mate of Woodrow Wilson, must come to naught, according to politicians here. The constitution says that the president of the United States must be native born. West was born in Canada and was naturalized about a decade ago. This would act as an effective bar to his candidacy, even if the road to the nomination was beset by no other obstacles.

COUGHING AT NIGHT.

Means loss of sleep, which is hard on everyone. Mrs. A. Pelzer, 25 W. Jefferson St., Omaha, Neb., says: "I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as a sure cure for coughs and colds. It cured my daughter of a bad cold, and my neighbor, Mrs. Benson, cured her whole family with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Everyone in our neighborhood speaks most highly of it." For dryness and tickling in the throat, hoarseness, and all coughs and colds, take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Keep always in the house. Contains no opiates. The genuine in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes.—Red Cross Drug Store.

CHARGES AGAINST HUSBAND.

Mrs. Lester Phillips Unable to Get Anyone to Substantiate Her Claims

The novel sight of a woman attempting to get someone to prefer charges against her husband to have him sent to the State hospital for the insane, has been witnessed by the Marshfield officers and a number of others the past few days. The woman in question is Mrs. Lester Phillips of Bunker Hill. Up to date, she has been unable to secure any one to prefer the charges against him. Judge Hall and Justice Pennock refuse to have anything to do with the case until she gets someone besides herself to make the complaint. She stated to them that she wanted to leave Saturday for her old home in Maine and did not want to take her husband with her or leave him alone here. He has been employed in the blacksmith shop at the mill. Friends of Mr. Phillips declare that there is absolutely no foundation of the charges his wife is making against him and that the whole thing is due to a family row. Phillips and his wife are middle-aged.

Due Tomorrow.—The Breakwater is due in early tomorrow from Portland. The Nann Smith is also due in early tomorrow from Bay Point. Arno Meehan, who has been spending sometime in California, is expected here on her.

BRIEFS OF BANDON.

News of City-by-the-Sea as Told In The Recorder.

C. E. Bowman will soon commence the construction of the basement for a palatial new residence to be built on his lot on the plank road next spring.

Chas E. and Jas Lowrie of Port Orford, old time miners and prospectors, are guests at Hotel Gallier. The gentlemen are going to San Francisco with samples of a metal they have discovered and cannot classify.

Tuesday, A. A. Miller was unfortunate enough to badly crush his right ankle while felling timber. His foot was caught between the fallen tree and a stump, and it required the assistance of two men before he could be relieved. We understand no bones were broken, but he will necessarily be on the retired list for some time.

E. C. Drew, business manager of the Coos Bay Home Telephone Co., is in the city superintending the removal of the office of the company from the Rosa building across the street into the Thrift building. Two new switch boards will be installed—one for long distance and one for local use, which will do away with the exasperating waits when the "line is busy." Mr. Drew informs us that Bandon will have about 350 subscribers by January 1st, and possibly 400, which will then make this place a second class office.

Work is progressing rapidly on the preparation of the new charter for the city of Bandon, and the charter will be ready in about two weeks. It will then probably be put up to the people for discussion at a mass meeting, and any changes or amendments can be suggested before it is finally put to vote for adoption or rejection.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM

The Times will be pleased to publish letters from its readers on all questions of public interest. Each letter must be signed by the writer, and so far as possible be limited to 200 words. In publishing these letters it must be understood that The Times does not indorse the views expressed therein; it is simply affording a means for the voicing of different opinions on all questions affecting the public welfare.

THAT GYMNASIUM.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Nov. 1, '11. Editor Times: In last night's issue I noticed an article entitled "Plan to Get New Gymnasium."

It seems strange the amount of nerve one must have to be continually trying to unload an elephant onto the public. Only a short time ago there was a movement on foot to purchase the badly dilapidated tabernacle for a Y. M. C. A., that having failed to arouse sufficient favor it is now being advocated to unload it on the city schools. If the schools require a gymnasium there is plenty of room available in the basements to install whatever is necessary. Can it be that this project was engineered in the office of the C. A. Smith Lumber company to bleed the city for slow private accounts? I. e. that $600 yet due. If so I have an amendment to offer to their motion, that is the city assume all slow private accounts regardless of whom they are owed, to be used as a basis for material in the bookkeeping department of our schools for the real accounts would be much more practical, don't you know. (E. Don McCrary) —CITIZEN.

PLAN ROAD TO PORT ORFORD

Southern Railroad Company Incorporated in Washington For That Purpose.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 1.—With headquarters at Seattle and $2,000,000 capital, the Oregon Southern Railroad company has been organized by J. Arnold Doyle of Spokane; H. M. Farren of Boise, and Charles Radebough of Corning, Cal. According to the articles filed with the Secretary of State here, the purpose is to construct a railroad from Ashland, Ore., to Medford, to Jacksonville, to Grants Pass, to Eugene, and to Port Orford, with branches into California and in Oregon.

The three incorporators, with George Godfrey and George E. Boos, compose the first board of trustees. A Medford paper says concerning the above:

The filing of the important papers foretells the construction of the last medium in the prosperity of the Rogue River valley. When Messrs. Doyle and Farran were in this city two weeks ago they gave out the announcement that if all was satisfactory to other representatives they would start actual construction on the new interurban system by February 1. The successful outcome of the mission insures this step. It is now expected that the representatives of the company will apply for a franchise to operate in the streets of Medford from the city council between now and the first of the year. Right of way agents are expected to be in the valley by January 1. It is hinted in Portland railroad circles that the line is a link in the proposed entrance of the Hill system into San Francisco.

BANDON OIL PROSPECTS.

Oil prospects at the Miocene Oil & Gas Co.'s well on Bear Creek were never brighter than at the present moment, and work is being pushed both day and night. Mr. Kenworthy of the McKetrick oil fields of California, an expert driller, will have charge of one crew and work in conjunction with C. A. Smith, head driller. The well is now down 1450 feet, and the formation now being worked in is an exact duplicate of the capping of the reservoirs in our sister states.—Bandon Recorder.
