Several members of the church objected to what they called his "undignified" conduct, and he immediately resigned his pastorate.

"The Master I have been serving for 20 years as a pastor was a carpenter," he said. "It did not lower his dignity to do manual labor, and I do not think he would object to my being an express messenger so I could pay my honest debts."

RAILWAYS IN HOT CONTEST

Sumner Road Files Condemnation Suit Against Shine's Interest in Sand Point.

The Pacific Coast line yesterday instituted condemnation proceedings against R. E. Shine to acquire his one-fourth interest in the Sand Point property, the other three-fourths of which was recently purchased by the Southern Pacific from the Bank of Oregon, L. J. Simpson and F. B. Walte.

Yesterday's suit was in a measure a race between the Southern Pacific and the Sumner line to secure first claim on Shine's interest in the property. The Southern Pacific has been negotiating with him for some time and is understood to have been considering the condemnation proceedings only as a last resort.

Where Is Johnson Porter.

Many rumors have been afloat today that Johnson Porter will visit Coos Bay, coming down over the survey from the Siuslaw here. Whether the Homer is one of the new company's boats is not known.

BIG TRACT OF LAND INVOLVED

Mrs. Ojeda of San Francisco Begins Suit to Recover Coaledo Property.

The title to about 1,400 acres of valuable land at Coaledo is involved in a suit begun by Mrs. Ojeda of San Francisco against the Chambers estate et al. The case will come up for hearing before Judge John S. Coke in chambers here, November 7, by stipulation between the attorneys. The Standish-Hickey company, which own a sawmill at North Bend, are understood to be interested in the suit to a certain extent. It is understood that they had practically closed negotiations for the purchase of the property when Mrs. Ojeda instituted suit.

Her suit is begun in behalf of a son for whom she has the power of attorney. She contends that the son has a half interest in one section of the land in question and that when the tract was sold by the administrator of the estate of Mrs. Ojeda's husband about thirteen years ago, it was illegally conveyed.

The Ojeda's formerly had extensive holdings in Coos county and belong to the oldest Spanish families in California.

WORK ON SURVEY.

Coos Bay and Eastern Crews Busy Near Roseburg.

The Roseburg Review says: "Edson Carpenter came in from Coos county Tuesday, where he has been looking after coal mining interests for several months past. He says the surveyors on the Coos Bay and Eastern Electric are steadily at work along the middle fork of the Coquille, between Camas Valley and Myrtle Point. Most of their line so far is on the opposite side of the canyon from the Haines survey. While their grade is a little heavier in places they seem to be following a more direct route. Like the other surveying parties working under the direction of Engineer Taggart Aston, they do not disclose who are backing this enterprise. They assert that construction work is to follow at an early date."

Assistant General Manager Campbell will be over here from Seattle to take charge of his new duties within the next two or three days. TO ELECT POSTMASTERS.

Kansas Towns First to Try New System in Making Choice.

EMPORIA, Kan., Nov. 3.—The first trial of the often-suggested plan in Kansas of choosing postmasters at a primary participated in only by persons served from the office to be filled, is to be made in Chase and Coffey counties this month. The postmaster ships at Burdick, in Chase county, and Leroy, in Coffey county, both in the 11th congressional district, are to be elected by Congressman Fred Jackson, and because he did not care to choose between applicants he has recommended the primary plan. Incidentally, the congressman loses no friends, and everybody is satisfied. Jackson is now having the ballots and the rules for the primary printed, but he has not yet decided the date. Under his plan, each Republican voter, who is served at the post-office, will be given a ballot upon which he will write the name of his candidate for the office. Ample time will be given to get a full vote and disinterested persons will have charge of the ballots and the counting of them. The candidate who gets a majority or a plurality will be endorsed for the place.

Hereafter all other postmaster-ships will be filled in the same manner. Under the old system a few politicians usually decided who would be postmaster.

LOSES ON MOVING PICTURE.

Pendleton Indian Loses Four Times on Same Film.

PENDLETON, Ore., Nov. 3.—Here is a story with a climax. During the "round up" at Pendleton recently, No Shirt Sunfish, an Indian brave, was one of the contestants in the buckaroo contests. Much money was wagered on him by other bucks. Sunfish, to show the judges just what he could do, spurred his horse. Up went the animal. On went Sunfish. And the moving picture machine caught it all.

When the first films were shown here a tall, sad brave attended four performances. Finally Mausee Clark said: "You seem to like the pictures; I notice that you have been here all day."

"Umph!" exclaimed the Indian, "lose much when Sunfish bucked off I bet he ride 'em today, and I lose four more times."
