WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—The Cabinet met today for the first time in three months with President Taft, and Secretary Stimson was the member absent.

It is understood the President's advisers pointed out that the work of the coming congress would center on two main issues, tariff and trusts, with the democratic leaders declaring for a readjustment of the Sherman law and republican insurgents declaring for affirmative legislation to point the paths for the legal conduct of big business.

TO ASK FOUR YEARS LONGER

Rumor That Water Company Will Seek Slight Extension—Change Rates.

According to a report current today, an application may be made by Messrs. Nolan and Jackson for a four or eight year extension of the present water franchise on the ground that they need the additional time in order to float bonds to improve the plant.

A four-year extension would make the present franchise run twenty-one years yet, and it is said would permit the issuance of twenty-year bonds but that a twenty-five year franchise would enable the sale of the twenty-year bonds to a better advantage.

The offer is said to be considered as a means of adjusting the differences between the company and the council. Judging by the expressions of the councilmen at the last meeting, such an application would not be considered.

It is claimed that such an extension would make the present franchise practically a new one and would eliminate the present restriction as to charges for water. The present franchise holds the rate down to $1 for residences or $1.50 for residences with toilet and bath. It is stated that the change would permit the company to revise the rates yearly and raise them, probably.

Messrs. Jackson and Nolan went to Bandon to look over that section and returned last evening and expected to leave tomorrow morning for the east. When they will take over the water company's property or as to their future plans, no announcement has been made.

TOUST TRUST IN MISSOURI

International Harvester Company Also Fined $50,000 by Supreme Court There.

(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 14.—The Supreme Court of Missouri granted today the writ of ouster asked by the state against the International Harvester company and fined the company fifty thousand dollars. It was stipulated that if the company pays the fine, separates itself from the International Harvester company of New Jersey, files statements of its business and shows to the court that it will obey the laws in the future, it can be permitted to do business in the state. It has sixty days to comply with the order.

The court gave the Harvester company until January 1, 1912, to pay the fine and until March 1, 1912, to withdraw from the New Jersey company and to show the court it will comply with the Missouri law.

Falling in this, they will be liable to the ouster order by the court immediately after the first of March.

New York Banker's Ill-Gotten Gains May Be Secured.

(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Acting on information from St. Louis, the district attorney's office here has begun the quest of $422,000 stolen by the late David Rothchild, wrecker of the Federal Bank in 1904.

This sum is said to have been deposited in the name of Levy in two safety deposit vaults where the money has remained since. Rothchild was convicted May 20, 1904, and died November 18, 1908. Rothchild always refused to give information as to the hidden treasure which was supposed to total only $270,000, and the fact that the sum stolen amounted to $422,000 was revealed in a confession of Rothchild's wife at St. Louis, where she is living, having married again. The former Mrs. Rothchild declares she cannot remember the name of the safety deposit company.

WASHINGTON AND ALL ABOARD SAVED

Vessel Threatened With Destruction In Columbia River Saved by Bar Tug—Jay Doyle Aboard.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times)

ASTORIA, Wash., Nov. 14.—The survivors of the accident to the steamer Washington whose rescue was accomplished late yesterday afternoon by the tug Tatoosh, just as she was being swept in on the rocks near North Bend, were in excellent spirits today. The passengers were almost extravagant in praise of Captain Charles T. Bailey and the crew of the Tatoosh and Captain Winkel and the crew of the Washington. On the other hand, Captain Winkel says a braver complement of passengers never sailed the ocean. Some of the passengers have gone to Portland, others will remain in here pending arrangements for their transportation to San Francisco. The damage to the Washington has not yet been determined. She is said to be taking water, indicating open seams.

Was Jay Doyle.

Practical confirmation of the item in yesterday's Times that the J. Doyle of Alaska, who was on the stranded steamer Washington, was probably Jay Doyle, formerly of Marshfield, was contained in a letter received by Mr. Salling of North Front street. Salling was in Alaska with Jay Doyle and in a letter just received from the letter at Hood River, Jay stated he was going to Portland and thence by boat to San Francisco and then coming to Coos Bay.

BANDON MAN IS NOT ONE WANTED

Arrest of L. J. Wheeler For Jackson County Murder Was Case of Mistaken Identity

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times)

BANDON, Ore., Nov. 14.—The Recorder says: "A telegram from the sheriff of Jackson county states that L. J. Wheeler, who was arrested here last Monday and taken to Jackson county in connection with the murder of Nathan Rogaway whose body was found buried by the roadside last summer, is the wrong man, and that Wheeler had no connection with the case whatever, and that he was not even the man who took Rogaway and two other men out in the automobile the day Rogaway was killed. Wheeler's car was out of commission at that time."

It was a case of mistaken identity entirely, and there should be a law whereby Mr. Wheeler could recover in this case, but under the law he has no redress whatever."

SIXTH VENIRE CALLED TODAY

Impossibilities as Jurors In McNamara Case Are Weeded Out.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 14.—When the counsel and court in the McNamara murder trial went to work today, a sixth venire had been summoned in the case. Today, much progress was made in weeding out impossibilities.

Taft is planning to take up the cost of living in a special message to congress when he transmits the report of the tariff board's investigation of the wool and cotton schedules, and he also will vigorously renew his recommendations for a parcel post. The tariff board's findings will show, it is declared, that the increased cost of living is due to the middleman rather than to the tariff. William J. Andre, a carpenter, was examined critically but was passed for cause by both sides. He became the tenth man in the jury box.

AGED WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Peter Robertson Succumbs Suddenly at Home at Millington Monday.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times)

While reclining in an easy chair in front of the fire, Mrs. Peter Robertson, an aged Coos county pioneer, yesterday suddenly succumbed to an attack of heart trouble at their home in Millington. She had been very rugged for some time after dinner yesterday, Mr. Robertson made her comfortable near the fire and started out to pump out his boat. When he returned a few minutes later, he found that she had passed away without a struggle.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson came to Coos county in 1872, settling first on a ranch at Ten Mile. Later, they moved to Glasgow and finally to Millington. Katherine Morrison was born in Glasgow, Scotland, April 7, 1842, and left with her parents for America eight years later, the family settling at Hawesville, Ky., where she and Mr. Robertson were married April 9, 1857. At that place, she became a member of the Baptist church of which she remained an active member. She and Mr. Robertson moved to Nebraska and in 1872 left there for Oregon.

Besides her husband, she is survived by seven children, five other children having preceded her in death. Those surviving are Edward Robertson, Robert Robertson, Walter Robertson, George Robertson, Mrs. K. Frelund, Mrs. Alice Laxson and Mrs. Maggie McDougald. The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the Marshfield Baptist church, the Rev. J. T. M. Knox of the Presbyterian church officiating in the absence of the Rev. G. LeRoy Hall.
