COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT ESSENTIAL TO PROGRESS.

THERE can be no continued progress or prosperity that does not involve the development of a community in its entirety.

At the first national conference on civic and social center development, which opened at Madison, Wis., October 25, Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, strongly presented the need of community development in any comprehensive scheme for the advancement of humanity as a whole.

The life of a community is effected by a union of its elements, a fusion of its parts. It classes have a sense of separation from each other, if the several interests in a state or city are hostile.

Mutual aid cannot be brought except by sharing a common life. This is the significance of a movement like this, which seeks to make the school the civic center of the community.

The inevitable result is accommodation of interests, a softening of rivalries, a feeling for common undertakings, a removal of prejudices, an adjustment which must lie at the basis of social reconstruction and reform.

Other prominent speakers at the conference were President Charles R. Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. Josiah Strong of New York, president of the Social Center Association of America.

"The school house and the town hall are the property of the community. At every center they should be available to the largest possible number of people for the greatest number of hours.

Mr. Estabrook is now figuring with Kruse & Banks on the new vessel. She is to be of the same type and style as the Elfield, which was built at North Bend, but will be about one-third larger.

He expects to award the contract for the vessel about January 1 if his present plans are not interfered with.

REFORMS ARE NOT INDORSED

Trans - Mississippi Congress Committee Shies at Proposed New Plans.

(By Associated Press.) KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17.—The majority joint committee's resolution declaring against the parcel post was adopted today by a vote of 90 to 16.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 17.—After a strenuous session that extended into the early hours today, the resolutions committee of the Trans-Mississippi commercial Congress adopted a resolution for presentation to the congress, declaring that the Aldrich currency plan, "may be" a step in the right direction, but the committee refused to give complete endorsement to the plan.

Martin Egan, publisher of the Manila Cable News, advised the congress today of the Philippine problem.

He said the sale or abandonment of the Philippines would "be an act of barbarism to the Filipino people that would make the name of America a reproach to the world."

"There can be but one Philippine policy," continued Mr. Egan, "and that course is so clearly defined that no reasonable man can mistake or avoid it. It lies in the education and advancement of the Filipino people to that point where they shall be capable of establishing and maintaining a government reasonably certain in its internal sense and reasonably certain of external protection."

Another resolution urges the complete divorcement of railroads and steamship lines and the enactment of such laws as are needed to secure competition in steamship traffic between American ports, and urges the national congress to authorize the president to appoint a commission to make such recommendations as will result in upbuilding an American merchant marine.

GAME WILL BE HARD CONTEST

North Bend and Marshfield Football Teams Play at North Bend Tomorrow.

The final football game for the county High School championship will be played at North Bend tomorrow, between North Bend and Marshfield.

So far, the championship is in doubt, as Myrtle Point has won one championship game, and Marshfield one. Should North Bend win its game tomorrow, which is considered a possibility by some, the question of superiority will be in a bad way for settlement.

Settlement might be found in a comparison of scores, but at best this is not very satisfactory or a safe way to win championship. In that instance, Marshfield would have the advantage, as she has been able to pile up so far 51 points, to her opponents none.

The Marshfield team, realizing the position in which they are placed, have been out nevertheless and have to put up the game of their lives. The weather has not been very conducive to outdoor work, but they have been out nevertheless and have been doing excellent work in handling a wet soggy ball and getting accustomed to a damp heavy field.

There is no doubt that the game between these two rivals will be one long to be remembered, and well worth one's time to see.

Officials who will be in charge of the game will be those acquainted with the new style of play, fully competent to judge as to the legality of all formations and there will be no necessity for any argument upon the field.

The old "war horses" of the Marshfield High school will be in the line-up, and every one is eager for the contest, and anxious to smell the smoke of conflict. Captain Clark will lead his team from his position at right end, next to him will play Walters, a new man who has only been in one game so far, but is a consistent and hard worker. Carlson, who has been a faithful and earnest worker, will be at right guard and can be counted on to do his best for the protection of his quarter.

At center is Seaman, the youngest player in any of the teams but one who has done excellent work considering his age and experience.

The left wing is composed of Jensen, the midget end, but who makes up in speed and grit, for what he lacks in size and weight. Curtis at left tackle is fast and no doubt will give a good account of himself. Left guard will be filled by Kruse, who has caused a surprise among the football men and will be heard from later. Stutsman at quarter needs no introduction or comment. His stirring worth to the team has been shown on many a hard fought field.

Larson, Clark and Harrington are a set of back that any High school would be proud to claim, and both offensive and defensive have few equals. Substitutes will be found in Beverly the wirey little fellow who will fill the back field, Patterson and Flanagan line men, all ready and willing to fill wherever necessity calls.

Coach Grant's is well satisfied with the mark of the team but is never optimistic, for fear of the most dangerous opponent that a team can have, that of over-confidence. He has seen the effects in other teams and has drilled into his team the idea that a game is never won until the last whistle blows, and that to win, a team must keep fighting for every inch of ground possible to gain.
