WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

An illustration of the ever-increasing interdependence of mankind is that of the recent saving of the Prinz Joachim, as the result of a distress signal sent by wireless. Seven vessels answered and rushed to the aid of the sinking ship.

A few years ago a vessel on the high seas would have known no responsibility such as is now laid upon every ship within reach of the little snapping spark that flashes a message of appeal. It is a responsibility that is noble and human—a privilege in fact—that science has placed within the reach of humanity.

And it is pleasant to note the unifying and humanizing influence of such a discovery. With the revolution of modes of travel, the increase in rapid transit and the multiplication of mechanical contrivances which, when used thoughtlessly, seem to act as antagonizing forces between man and man, it sometimes appears as if civilization were bent upon breaking its own neck.

Wireless telegraphy illustrates the possibilities for the development of a closer bond of sympathy and helpfulness. The automobile and the curious air-craft are available for the same sort of service, and the growing demand for caution and the greater care and efficiency which time will bring to these inventions will necessitate a development of that humanitarian spirit which more intimate intercourse and allied interests make imperative.

WIFE ROBBED AT LOS ANGELES

J. T. Cone Worried Over Predicament Spouse May Be In As Result of Misfortune.

J. T. Cone, a steam fitter who came here from Portland about a month ago to aid in rebuilding the brewery is much perturbed today over his inability to get in communication with his wife who was the victim of Los Angeles pick-pockets while en route here from Tucson, Ariz.

Mrs. Cone left Tucson November 28 and reached Los Angeles the following day and while there was robbed of her pocketbook containing her through ticket to Coos Bay and all her cash, besides other articles. She wired Mr. Cone here of her misfortune and said she was writing him. She did not give any address in Los Angeles and no letter has come.

He is greatly worried over her predicament and today took the matter up with Supt. Miller of the local Southern Pacific properties with a view of possibly locating Mrs. Cone through the Southern Pacific ticket offices at Los Angeles.

TRY GARRISON NEXT TUESDAY

Frank Garrison will be placed on trial next Tuesday morning at Coquille for the murder of Roy Perkins. He was tried once, convicted and sentenced to be hanged but he was granted a new trial by the Oregon supreme court. The date of his new trial was fixed by Judge Coke this morning, it being made the first criminal trial of the regular December term of circuit court.

Judge Coke stated this morning that he had not decided whether the attorneys who are defending Garrison would be allowed any additional compensation. The three, Tom Hall, R. O. Graves and C. A. Sehlbrede, received $50 for the first trial and the appeal to the supreme court.

District Attorney Brown will assist Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Liljeqvist in prosecuting Garrison. Owing to the supreme court ruling out the confession of Garrison, it is claimed that it will be difficult to convict Garrison again.

Perkins was murdered and his body weighted down with stones thrown into the Bay. The body was found after several weeks' search near the mouth of Coos River.

CONGRESS HAS MUCH BUSINESS

most important in both houses. Many other great questions confronting the Congress, all of them to be approached vigorously, include monetary reform, ratification of arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France, and the loan treaties with Nicaragua and Honduras; Alaskan legislation, the election of senators by direct vote of the people, pension bills and the regular and permanent annual appropriations, to be under the direction this time in the House by a democratic committee.

While the legislative struggles are in progress, politics is certain not to be overshadowed. With the democrats looking ahead with sanguine hope for triumph at the polls next November, and insurgent republicans striking out in earnest to capture their party convention, if possible; every move made in either branch of Congress from now until adjournment will be thoroughly considered from political as well as legislative viewpoints. The political pot in Washington will soon begin to boil, with the republican national committee meeting here December 12, to be followed January 8 by the democratic national committee. Selection of convention cities, choosing of committee chairmen who will manage the big campaigns and plans for the approaching party conventions and the subsequent battle of the ballots will attract as much attention from the nation's legislators as will the making of the nation's laws.

To enliven the political interest in both Houses there are candidates for the Presidency casting their shadows across the horizon. Champ Clark, the speaker of the House, already considered among the democratic possibilities, may at any time make presidential pronouncement to his colleagues; and Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, the democratic floor leader, also is talked of throughout the country as presidential timber.

In the Senate, Mr. La Follette already has been proclaimed by progressive republicans as their choice to wrest the nomination from Mr. Taft.

In the House the political interest will be further complicated by the rered with Mr. Underwood and red led with Mr. Underwood and branded him as a reactionary and now criticizes Speaker Clark in what many democrats declare is an effort to cause a breach between the speaker and the majority leader of the House.

The tariff legislative program will follow the long awaited report of the tariff board which is expected to submit the result of its investigation of wool and cotton before the holidays. The Ways and Means Committee of the House, however, under the direction of Chairman Underwood, will begin at once the preparation of new tariff bills. Throughout the recess a force of clerks and experts have been at work preparing for the committee.

President Taft has given his pledge that, when the tariff board submits its report on the woolen and cotton schedules it will be his pleasure to make tariff recommendations to Congress. The subject will be treated in a special message.

Meantime, however, the Ways and Means Committee will begin preparation of revised schedules to include wool, cotton, iron and steel products, sugar and other food-stuffs. An important schedule to come up is the sugar schedule and in dealing with this the House and the Ways and Means committee will be guided somewhat by the report of the special committee of inquiry into the American Sugar Refining company, which is expected to report early in the session.

Conspicuous in the records of the Congress will be the coming vigorous trust debates. The fight to amend the Sherman anti-trust law already is on. In the House the question will be first considered by the committee on judiciary. This committee has determined also to report bills amending the injunction statutes and the contempt statutes, the latter to include provision for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt. These will be pressed for passage before adjournment.

The committee has in hand a half dozen bills providing amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law. The

HEAVY SEAS STRIKE CONDOR

Gasoline Sloop Has Narrow Escape While Attempting to Cross Out.

The gasoline sloop Condor, bound from Coos Bay to Yaquina with a cargo of coal, narrowly escaped disaster while crossing out to sea yesterday. Capt. C. A. Baker considers his escape little short of miraculous.

He started to cross out about 10:30, the bar being apparently smooth. Suddenly he encountered some heavy seas and the Condor shipped considerable water. The second sea loosened the deck load breaking in the windows of the house, and slightly injuring Capt. Baker. Seeing other heavy seas coming, he succeeded in closing the hatchways and gone too soon for the engine had almost stopped as a result of the inrush of water from the breakers. Between the fourth and fifth seas, he succeeded in turning the Condor around and put back in.

The damage to the Condor was slight and only about a ton of coal was lost. Capt. Baker's injuries are slight.

The Condor belongs to the Waldport Lumber company of Waldport, Oregon, and had been here to undergo repairs at the North Bend shipyards.

WAS NOT AGGRESSOR.

Joe Gossman denies the imputation that he was the aggressor in last Saturday's melee on Front street. The officers took Gossman to jail, claiming that he was the aggressor, but Mr. Gossman and his friends vigorously deny this claim. Mr. Gossman says that he was merely an onlooker of a clash between Geo. Flanagan and Chas. D. Lash when Flanagan struck at him and knocked his pipe out of his mouth. Then, he says, he "mixed it" because he could not do otherwise.

No charges were preferred against Gossman who was released by Marshal Carter a few minutes after his arrest. Mr. Gossman says that he will not file any charges against Mr. Flanagan.

They Prefer Drafts

"In sending off the money for my life insurance," said a man, "they asked me to send a bank draft. Why ain't my check all right?" We answer: Because they are not acquainted with you, while our bank is listed in the bank directories. They know us and know our correspondents. Another thing, they might have to pay exchange on your personal check, while our bank draft always goes at par. Then again, if your check gets lost in the mail it takes much delay and correspondence to get matters straightened out again, while if one of our drafts is lost we can issue a duplicate without delay. It is always advisable to use a bank draft when sending money away.
