LOCAL NOTES

THE BOOSTER!

The booster boosts.
You bet your life!
His town comes first
And then his wife.
He booms and boosts
With words and cheer
And words of praise
He starts things here.

The booster boosts.
He makes things grow!
The working man
Now has a show;
The hammer sings
And business hums.
The booster boosts
And success comes.

The booster boosts.
List to his song!
As on life's way
He sprints along.
His open hand,
His faith and smile
Add much to make
This world worth while.
IDA CLEORA BALL.

VOTING LIGHT IN NORTH BEND

Think Winsor Will Be Elected Treasurer. Charter Amendments in Doubt.

The annual city election in North Bend is passing off rather quietly today. Only a small vote is being polled. At 3 o'clock this afternoon, it was estimated that the total vote would not exceed 350.

The race between C. S. Winsor and J. H. Greves for treasurer is likely to be pretty close. Parties in close touch with the voting this afternoon stated that it looked as though Winsor would win.

Last night, it was generally predicted in North Bend that the charter amendments which would permit the council there to grant a franchise to the Terminal Railway would be badly defeated. This afternoon, however, some of those in close touch with the matter stated that there was a strong likelihood of the charter amendments carrying.

NO TRACK OF EVANS

Friends Unable to Secure any Clue to Missing Man's Whereabouts.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, friends of Jan. Evans, who disappeared Sunday night leaving a note intimating that he might commit suicide, had not secured any trace of him or any further clue as to his whereabouts.

Today but little credence is placed in the suicide theory. While Evans was in a rather bad financial predicament, some of his closest associates think that he has merely dropped out of sight.

Mr. Cavanaugh a partner of the missing man, stated yesterday that Evans had attempted to depart on Saturday's stage but was stopped by someone. Mr. Cavanaugh is unable to ascertain where Evans secured the $75 cash that he left. It is possible that he passed checks for the amount.

The Turkish government has granted a concession to a syndicate of European capitalists who plan to exploit the mineral resources of the Dard Sea basin.

To keep the base lines of ball grounds dry when it rains a Pennsylvania has patented a canvas cover, which can be rolled easily when it is to be moved.

To transport aeroplanes several English railroads have built special cars, with double doors at the ends, opening to the full width and height of the cars.

Short circuiting and the consequent blowing out of fuses is obviated by a new incandescent lamp socket which has separate inlets for its leading in wires.

THE DAYS OF MAKE BELIEVE

I wish I were just a kid,
With all a kid's belief
In everything old Santa did,
Without a care or grief.
All tucked up in my little cot,
With both my eyes closed tight,
And blood just running cold and hot,
Awaiting morning's light.

I'll bet you I'd be happy then,
And awful, AWFUL glad,
That Christmas day had come again
Instead of being sad;
I guess the only thing to do,
To woo back those dear days,
Is find a little kid or two,
And take 'em home to raise.

Or, maybe, somehow, somewhere,
Dear,

These little lines you'll read;
And groping, find me waiting here,
For YOU—that's all I need;
For having you, perhaps who knows
The fairy tales we'd weave
Might lead us back again to those
Dear days of Make Believe!
