KANSAS CITY, Dec. 14 .- Pale, emaciated and weak from hunger and exposure, Harry Waldron, the juror whose escape last Sunday night blocked the progress of the second trial of Dr. B. Clarke Hyde on the charge of murdering Col. Thomas Swope, returned to his home today. He was brought into court by Mrs. Waldron and after a conference with him. Thoughts of Christmas and a desire to spend it with his family drove him home. He slept in a barn father with his moustache shaven.

Waldron then went into the house and when I saw my wife, I felt better than I ever had since they put me on the jury," he declared.

Waldron himself seems to question his own sanity. He stated that when he reached this city yesterday. he bought a market basket and wandered about the market place mixing with the crowds, glad to feel the association of people in the market place within two blocks of the court house and one block from the hotel where the jurors slept. Judge Porterfield intimated that Waldron might not be punished. Judge Porterfield dismissed
