Young People Meet.—The Young People of the Christian church meet at the church parlors this evening to string pop corn for the annual Christmas tree.

Trout Fishing.—T. V. Johnson reports that he succeeded in catching a big mess of fine trout up South Coos River yesterday. He says it is the first time he has caught trout in December.

Elkton Youth Arrested.—Earl Baird, aged 18 years, of Elkton, is in the county jail in Roseburg awaiting investigation by the grand jury on the charge of forging an order for $11 on D. O. Weatherly, of Elkton. He was brought here by S. P. Feney.—Roseburg Review.

Will Wed.—Friends of Jas. Cowan, Jr., and Miss Cora Bowron have been apprised that they will wed on or about December 27. They are among the best known young people in Marshfield and a host of friends will unite in extending congratulations even in advance of the happy event.

Trouble Over Ranch.—Sheriff W. W. Gage went to Beaver Hill this morning with James Merchant and Mr. Madden to eject Chas. Bausch from a ranch there. Merchant & Madden have for some time been contesting Bausch's claim to this ranch and the courts have sustained their claim.

Not Sold.—It was reported around town that the Nasburg estate had sold its Ferndale holdings but the report was denied by representatives of the estate. The report probably grew out of the report of J. W. Bennett securing prices on property there. Just what Mr. Bennett's plans are is not known but it is stated that he is not representing Mr. Taggart of San Francisco, the latter being here on an entirely different mission.

Elks' Session.—The Marshfield Lodge of Elks held their regular weekly session last evening. Early adjournment was taken in order to take in the Raymond Teal company's show and later the lodge entertained some of the members of the company who are Elks at a social session. During the Teal company's performance, the Elks added an unexpected feature to the entertainment. A number of the members of the lodge were attending the show with their wives or lady friends. These were called away from their seat by some excuse or another and then another member of the lodge would take their place and leave them to remain with the "other members of the herd" during the rest of the evening.

More Witnesses.—Sheriff Gage left this morning for Coquille after having served subpoenas, it is said, on a number of additional witnesses to appear before the Coos county grand jury in the Marshfield city election probe.

Murder Trial On.—A large number of Coos Bay people have gone to Coquille to testify in the case of Frank Garrison who was placed on trial there today on the charge of murdering Roy Perkins a year ago last summer. It is expected that it will take two or three days to secure a jury.

Sprinkle Streets.—For some time many merchants have been protesting against the sweeping of the streets early in the evening on dry days without sprinkling the streets. The present contract does not provide for sprinkling during the supposed rainy season without extra compensation. Street Commissioner Lawhorne has tried to get Contractor Nelme to wait until later in the evening to clean the streets but Nelme refuses to do so. His contract will expire in a few weeks. Under the new contract which will be let by the city council at its next meeting, the contractor will, under the resolution by Councilman Cottle providing for it, be required to sprinkle the streets whenever Street Commissioner Lawhorne notifies him to do so and to clean them at the hours Mr. Lawhorne directs.
