BAND DANCE, MONDAY, December 25—Eagles' Hall. Be there.

My Christmas Boy by Leonard H. Robbins.

I HIS baby heart is richly blessed with gentleness and joy.
A happy little fellow is my Merry Christmas boy.
His face is like a morning lake before the storms arise
To mar the mirrored heaven blue of clear and beaming skies;
His eyes are springs of sweetest love from some eternal source
That streams to him untouched by taint along its earthward course.
In soul, my Christmas boy, thou art
Of the great, living God a part.

I READ the Saviour's story o'er and in its message see
That ev'n as he was God's own Son so every man may be.
Then for my Christmas boy I pray that good may always reign
Within his breast, victorious through the temptings and the pain,
That his pure soul, so white today, as stainless may ascend
Unto the Soul of Every Good, still perfect, at the end,
Nor could an end like Calvary
Imbitter that great joy for me.

II THERE lived a lad in Galilee a many years ago,
His little face with just such grace and gladsome love aglow,
And oftentimes I like to think that when his eyes would shine
They were no purer than the eyes of this dear boy of mine
And that the God who dwelt within His heart of holy clay
Abideth in the bosom of my Christmas boy today,
Filled with the selfsame breath divine,
Christ and this Christmas boy of mine.

IV HE is a thoughtful boy at times, my little Christmas boy.
Perhaps the angels whisper him of wonderful employ,
Of mighty tasks, long waiting for a fearless heart and stout,
Of business of the Heavenly King that he must be about.
Perhaps to lead a people is his portion in the Plan,
Perhaps to bear misfortune's yoke and live and die a man,
To lose and triumph in his loss
With his Big Brother of the Cross.

FOR EMERGENCY GIFT

Advice to Avoid Last Minute
Over "Another Name."

For the last moment gift should always have at hand boxes of candy and perhaps very fine flowers. One, for last night rather have a single orchid all the carnations in the shop, a gardenia is the most admired blossom by the average young
Either of these exotic gifts tied up in a little box and decorated with a spray of fern or holly, it will look attractive.

For the big-hearted woman who wars at the last moment with a name or two to her Christmas what could be better than a perfume? These she may buy and on hand in assorted sizes, and a name perfume into her memory needs to do is to tie up the perfume in a pretty box and they are ready to send on their way. A few such auxiliary gifts in house saves the busy woman disappointment.
