WHEN TO SPRAY

WE CARRY A COMPLETE LINE AND SOLICIT YOUR PATRONAGE

The proper time to spray fruit trees can be determined only by watching the fruit-buds and weather. The first application should be made before the first rain after the blossom-buds have been exposed, but before they have opened; the second, after two-thirds of the petals have fallen, being sure to get the mixture on ahead of the point and the third about two weeks later.

VICTOR DIMMICK arrived here today from Washington and California points to visit relatives on the Bay and at Coquille.

DR. and MRS. E. MINGUS arrived home today from Portland where they visited friends and where Dr. Mingus attended a meeting of the officials of the Oregon Naval Militia.

E. W. WRIGHT of Portland, who made large investments during the past season arrived here from Portland today to look after his interests. He says that he has not heard any particularly new railroad news but thinks that developments are very favorable to Coos Bay.

PETER LOGGIE of North Bend was a Marshfield business visitor yesterday. He says that nothing new has developed in the railroad situation there. The Southern Pacific surveyors, who have been working down North Inlet from Ten Mile are now arranging to move their headquarters to North Bend.

W. F. HARMON returned today from The Dalles, Oregon, where he spent Christmas with his wife and baby who are visiting relatives there. He had intended to go to Chicago on business but owing to the blizzards and blockades, he decided not to attempt it. He reports that the snow covers the fence tops at The Dalles. Mrs. Harmon and baby remained at The Dalles for a longer visit.

TAX CASE TO BE TRIED SOON

Southern Oregon Company Tries to Prevent Collections on Local Holdings.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Jan. 18.—Douglas and Coos counties will be drawn into the suit instituted by the Federal Government against the Southern Oregon company, if Judge Wolverton grants the petition filed by the defendant asking that the two counties and their tax collectors—the sheriffs—be made co-defendants. Attorneys George M. Brown and B. L. Eddy, representing the two counties, have filed a demurrer to the defendant's petition, and the matter will be argued before Judge Wolverton in the Federal Court at Portland on the 23rd of this month.

The government seeks to compel the Southern Oregon company to forfeit its holdings in Douglas and Coos counties on the same ground that it is suing the Oregon & California Railroad company, namely, that the congressional grant by which the land was obtained has been violated by the refusal of the company to sell the land to settlers at $2.50 an acre and by disposing of some of the holdings in larger quantities than 160 acres to an individual.

With the title to its property endangered by the suit, the Southern Oregon company has refused to pay taxes on the land in either Douglas or Coos county for the years 1909 and 1910, not being guaranteed reimbursement in the event of the government being victorious in the litigation. The amount of taxes due from the company is about $50,000. Under the law relating to delinquency of tax, the sheriffs of both counties have advertised the company's holdings for sale. To enjoin such sale and to make the counties parties to the suit is the purpose of the petition, filed by the Southern Oregon company in the Federal court. The demurrer filed by Edd and Brown contends, in the concrete, that the counties have no place as participants in a suit involving the issues raised by the government.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT.

The Redondo is due in late Friday night or early Saturday from San Francisco, sailing from there today.

United States Steamboat Inspectors Edwards and Fuller arrived here today from Portland to inspect The Rustler and some other crafts in this vicinity.

The steam schooner Marshfield, Captain Ahlin, which had sailed for Hardy Creek returned to San Francisco on account of a broken winch, without which it was impossible to load lumber. Repairs will be completed in a few days, after which the vessel will go back on her run.
