JUDGE NOT.

Who are you should presume to sit in judgment on the actions of your fellowmen?

Do you imagine you know sufficient about any man, or woman, to pass unbiassed opinion?

You see externals only. What do you know about motives? You say of certain act that it looks questionable. Do you know the history of the actor? The history of his father and mother, of his ancestry? Do you know his aims and purposes, his temperament? Do you know his deals, or the subtle controlling forces of his inner life?

How presumptuous ignorant as you are, to criticise a man.

"Judge not lest ye be judged."
Would you like mankind to judge you by some external act—an isolated case—some expression when your better self is for a moment off its guard?

Analyze some action of yours that you know is not in keeping with the general trend of your life. Can you trace to its place every fine shade of heredity or of environment that has colored this act? You were not as yourself. There was a power outside of yourself that pushed you. And you feel that you are entitled to some extenuation. You can not understand why or how you did this thing.

If, then, you cannot explain your own action to yourself, how can you explain the action of your fellow?

Only the God who made you can entirely understand or explain you. Only the power that fashioned your fellow can understand and explain him.

Why should you presume to take the place of the Infinite?

Do not hastily criticise or condemn your brother men. You do not know. You cannot know. Leave him to the Great Judge, who knows him and who will judge him justly.

FIVE DANGERS.

If our government is destined to be enduring it must do away with the following obstacles:

Divorce, which strikes at the root of the family and society.

The imperfect and vicious system of education which undermines the religion of our youth.

The desecration of the Christian Sabbath, which tends to obliterate in our adult population the salutary fear of God and the homage that we owe him.

The gross and systematic election frauds.

Lastly, the unreasonable delay in carrying into effect the sentences of our criminal courts and the numerous subterfuges by which criminals evade the execution of the laws.

To one of the five obstacles or vices I have just enumerated may be traced our insatiable greed for gain, the coexistence of colossal wealth with abject poverty, the extravagance of the rich, the discontent of the poor, our eager and impetuous rushing through life and every other moral and social delinquency.—Cardinal Gibbons.

We refuse sympathy and intimacy with people as if we waited for some better sympathy and intimacy to come. But whence and where? Tomorrow will be like today. Life wastes itself while we are preparing to live.—Emerson.

OLD FAVORITES.

ROSABELLE.
O H, listen, listen, ladies gay!
No naughty feat of arms I tell
Soft is the note and sad the lay
That mourns the lovely Rosabelle.

"Moor, moor the barge, ye gallant crew,
And, gentle lady, deign to stay!
Rest thee in Castle Ravensheuch,
Nor tempt the stormy firth today."

"The blackening wave is edged with white,
To inch and rock the sea mews fly,
The fishers have heard the water sprites,
Whose screams forebode that wreck is nigh."

"Last night the gifted seer did view
A wet shroud swathed round lady gay.
Then stay thee, fair, in Ravensheuch,
Why cross the gloomy firth today?"

"Tis not because Lord Lindsey's heir
Tonight at Roslin leads the ball,
But that my lady mother there
Sits lonely in her castle hall."

"Tis not because the ring they ride
And Lindsey at the ring rides well,
But that my sire the wine will chide
If 'tis not filled by Rosabelle."

O'er Roslin all that dreary night
A wondrous blaze was seen to gleam.
'Twas broader than the watch fire's light
And redder than the bright moonbeam.

It glared on Roslin's castled rock,
It ruddied all the cope wood glen,
'Twas seen from Dryden's groves of oak
And seen from caverned Hawthornden.

Seemed all on fire that chapel proud
Where Roslin's chiefs unconfined lie,
Each baron for a sable shroud
Sheathed in his iron panoply.

Blazed battlement and pinnet high,
Blazed every rose carved buttress fair,
So still they blaze when fate is nigh
The lordly line of high St. Clair.

There are twenty of Roslin's barons bold
Lie buried within that proud chapel.
Each one the holy vault doth hold,
But the sea holds lovely Rosabelle.

And each St. Clair was buried there
With candle, with book and with knell,
But the sea caves rung, and the wild
winds sung
The dirge of lovely Rosabelle. —Scott.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Sometimes your best friend comes blithely up to you and roughly claps a pair of dark blue glasses on your eyes.

A surgical operation might take money from a stupid man's pocket, but it could hardly put brains in his head.

There are people who can't stand anything but praise.

When we flatter ourselves we are apt to have it done to our liking.

We aren't all equal, but some of us don't know it.

There are people who can't sing and know it and others who can't sing, but do.

Some women talk for the same reason that some men drink.

Don't say die until you have to, and then don't—just die.

The people who are rich, but honest, probably inherited the money, but where did they get the integrity?

The things we can't help are those that hurt the worst.

HYMN TO THE SUN.

THOU who dost kiss away the dew that lies
Like hidden tears on each small grassy blade,
Who with ethereal colors canst disguise
Into a host of golden butterflies
The almond blossoms fluttering as they fade;

O gracious sun, to whom each darling flower
Doth owe the ripened honey of its cup,
Who findst the way to every peasant's bower,
Dividing in a trillion parts the dower
That still in one great sphere is treasured up;

Glory to thee, O sun, upon the lawn,
On portal and on meadow and on vine,
In eye of lizard and on wing of swan,
O thou who hast with magic pencil drawn
Each fine detail and every sweeping line!

To deck the air with roses, make us see
Flames in the springs, in every bush a Lar,
To apotheosize a gnarled tree—
Is thine, O sun, without whose alchemy
Things would indeed be only what they are!

—From "Chanteclair."

EPHEMERAL.

The interviews with men of state
In which dark things are hinted
Fill us with apprehension great
When they at first are printed,
But sunshine sends the clouds away.
The world has scarcely read 'em
Before the great man speaks next day
And says he never said 'em.

For economics let's adopt
A scheme of optimism,
Nor let our joyfulness be stopped
By guesswork or statistics.
Though sad the words of mighty men,
There is no cause to dread 'em.
A few hours hence they'll speak again
And say they never said 'em.
—Washington Star.

Charles Durham, Lovington, Ill., has succeeded in finding a positive cure for bed wetting. "My little boy wet the bed every night clear thro' on the floor. I tried several kinds of kidney medicine and I was in the drug store looking for something different to help him when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills. After he had taken them two days we could see a change and when he had taken two thirds of a bottle he was cured. That is about six weeks ago and he has not wet in bed since." RED CROSS DRUG COMPANY.

Home Permanency vs. Home Monotony
This is a vital question for present day homebuilders—whether to have a house which in appearance must always remain the same or a house that will permit of a little refreshing occasionally. Neighborhoods change as do individual tastes—a frame house easily be made to harmonize with its surroundings—a fresh coat of paint often will make it as good as your neighbor's new house—the same as a new suit makes you feel like a new man. At any rate a frame house is susceptible to most any change you might desire and while it is permanent it does not necessarily need become an eyesore or a monotony. There are lots of things we've observed about houses and lumber that you should know before building—come in and we'll give you our views.
