The steamer Quinault recently made the run from San Francisco to Portland in 51 hours. This is the best time yet made by a steam schooner.

Night was coming on, the storm was increasing and some of the deck fittings had already been swept overboard, when the captain decided to send up a distress signal. The rocket was already lit and about to ascend when a solemn faced passenger stepped up. "Captain," said he, "I'd be the last man on earth to cast a damper on any man's patriotism, but seems to me this here's no time for celebrating and settin' off of fireworks."

A contract has been let for the towing of 20,000,000 feet of logs next summer from the Columbia to San Diego, for the Berson Lumber Company.

MALICIOUS FRUIT.

The Stings That Come With Careless Handling of Prickly Pears.

My first sad experience of the African prickly pear was gained on a visit to the market place of Algiers. The fruit was handed to us, politely peeled by the Arab dealer, and thus as we made acquaintance with its delightful coolness no suspicion of its evil qualities entered our minds.

A few days later, adding the excitement of a little trespassing to the more legitimate pleasures of a country ramble, we came upon a well laden group of prickly pear bushes and could not resist the temptation to help ourselves, to some of the fruit. The result was woeful.

Concentrated essence of stinging nettles seemed all at once to be assailing hands, lips and tongue, and our skin wherever it had come in contact with the ill natured fruit was covered with a thick crop of minute, bristly hairs, apparently growing from it and venomous and irritating to the last degree.

Our silk gloves, transformed suddenly into miniature robes of Nessus, had to be thrown away, perfectly unwearable, and the inadvertent use of our pocket handkerchiefs before we had fully realized the extent of our misfortune caused fresh agonies, in which nose as well as lips participated. For many a day did the retribution of that theft haunt us in the form of myriads of tiny stings.—"Home Life on an Ostrich Farm"
